Theory and History in International Relations Donald J. Puchala, 2013-01-11 Theory and History in International Relations is an eloquent plea to scholars of global politics to turn away from the manufacture of data and return to a systematic study of history as a basis for theory While the modest use of empiricism will always be important Puchala rejects the logical positivism of the so called scientific revolution in the field in favor of a more complex even intuitive vision of global politics He addresses the potential uses of history in studying some of the major debates of our time the Cold War as a struggle between empires the collision of civilizations cultural encounters and colonies in the ancient world and liberal approaches to the understanding of history and ethical contributions to the dialogue over theory

The Revelation Worldview Jon K. Newton, 2015-02-06 Does Christianity have anything useful or credible to say to the twenty first century or is it just a relic of a past era doomed eventually to die a long and painful death perhaps to be replaced by the new atheism or another religion In an original contribution to such debates The Revelation Worldview is a bold attempt to construct a biblically based Christian worldview that makes sense to postmodern people It also seeks to make the book of Revelation one of the most strange and difficult books in the Bible relevant to issues facing people in the twenty first century Jon K Newton wrestles with the complex notion of worldview tells the story of the changing Western worldview from its ancient and medieval beginnings through the modern era and into the unpredictable world of postmodernism and compares the worldview found in Revelation with other worldviews of its day He then uses Revelation as a source for identifying some basic Christian answers to questions such as What is real How do we know anything How can religious knowledge claims be justified How can we understand the concept of the human person How can we make sense of history And how should we respond to pluralism
