1. Identify the problem. The first step is to identify the problem. This involves understanding the symptoms and the context in which they are occurring.

2. Generate hypotheses. Once the problem is identified, the next step is to generate hypotheses. These are potential explanations for the problem that can be tested.

3. Test the hypotheses. The third step is to test the hypotheses. This involves gathering evidence to either support or refute each hypothesis.

4. Draw conclusions. The final step is to draw conclusions based on the results of the tests. This involves determining which hypothesis is most likely to be correct and what actions should be taken to address the problem.
