The Curatorial Jean-Paul Martinon, 2013-10-24 Stop curating And think what curating is all about This book starts from this simple premise thinking the activity of curating To do that it distinguishes between curating and the curatorial If curating is a gamut of professional practices for setting up exhibitions then the curatorial explores what takes place on the stage set up both intentionally and unintentionally by the curator It therefore refers not to the staging of an event but to the event of knowledge itself In order to start thinking about curating this book takes a new approach to the topic Instead of relying on conventional art historical narratives for example identifying the moments when artistic and curatorial practices merged or when the global curator author was first identified this book puts forward a multiplicity of perspectives that go from the anecdotal to the theoretical and from the personal to the philosophical These perspectives allow for a fresh reflection on curating one in which suddenly curating becomes an activity that implicates us all artists curators and viewers not just as passive recipients but as active members As such the Curatorial is a book without compromise it asks us to think again fight against sweeping art historical generalizations the sedimentation of ideas and the draw of the sound bite Curating will not stop but at least with this book it can begin to allow itself to be challenged by some of the most complex and ethics driven thought of our times

The Politics of Contemporary Art Biennials Panos Kompatsiaris, 2017-03-31 Contemporary art biennials are sites of prestige innovation and experimentation where the category of art is meant to be in perpetual motion rearranged and redefined opening itself to the world and its contradictions They are sites of a seemingly peaceful cohabitation between the elitist and the popular where the likes of Jeff Koons encounter the likes of Guy Debord where Angela Davis and Frantz Fanon share the same ground with neoliberal cultural policy makers and creative entrepreneurs Building on the legacy of events that conjoin art critical theory and counterculture from Nova Convention to documenta X the new biennial blends the modalities of protest with a neoliberal politics of creativity This book examines a strained period for these high art institutions a period when their politics are brought into question and often boycotted in the context of austerity crisis and the rise of Occupy cultures Using the 3rd Athens Biennale and the 7th Berlin Biennale as its main case studies it looks at how the in built tensions between the domains of art and politics take shape when spectacular displays attempt to operate as immediate activist sites Drawing on ethnographic research and contemporary cultural theory this book argues that biennials both denunciate the aesthetic as bourgeois category and simultaneously replicate and diffuse an exclusive sociability across social landscapes

Doing Politics with Citizen Art Fawn Daphne Plessner, 2022-04-12 This book examines how citizen art practices perform new kinds of politics as distinct from normative status participatory and cosmopolitan models. It contends that at a time in which the conditions of citizenship have been radically altered e.g. by the increased securitization and individuation of bodies and so forth there is an urgent drive for citizen art to be enacted as a tool for assessing the hollowed out conditions of citizenship. Citizen art it shows stands apart from other forms of art by performing acts of citizenship that reveal and transgress the limitations of state centred citizenship regimes whilst simultaneously enacting genuinely alternative modes of non statist citizenship. This book offers a new formulation of citizen art one that is interrogated on both critical and material levels and as such remodels the foundations on which citizenship is conceived performed and instituted.
