

A full-length portrait of a woman in 18th-century fashion. She wears a large black feathered hat, a red dress with a wide white collar and black decorative trim, and a matching red skirt. She holds a thin walking stick in her right hand and has her left hand on her hip. The background is a dramatic landscape with trees on the left and a cloudy sky.

Classical Mythology in English Literature Geoffrey Miles,2002-09-11 Classical Mythology in English Literature brings together a range of English versions of three classical myths It allows students to explore the ways in which they have been reinterpreted and reinvented by writers throughout history Beginning with a concise introduction to the principle Greco Roman gods and heroes the anthology then focuses on three stories Orpheus the great musician and his quest to free his wife Eurydice from death Venus and Adonis the love goddess and the beautiful youth she loved Pygmalion the master sculptor who fell in love with his creation Each section begins with the classical sources and ends with contemporary versions showing how each myth has been used abused or appropriated since its origins Classical Myths and Legends in the Middle Ages and Renaissance H. David Brumble,1998-02 While numerous classical dictionaries identify the figures and tales of Greek and Roman mythology this reference book explains the allegorical significance attached to the myths by Medieval and Renaissance authors Included are several hundred alphabetically arranged entries for the gods goddesses heroes heroines and places of classical myth and legend Each entry includes a brief account of the myth with reference to the Greek and Latin sources The entry then discusses how Medieval and Renaissance commentators interpreted the myth and how poets dramatists and artists employed the allegory in their art Each entry includes a bibliography and the volume concludes with appendices and an extensive bibliography of primary and secondary sources Classic Tales: Johnson Leigh Hunt,1807
