Technology in Retrospect Richard A. Diem, Michael J. Berson, 2010-06-01 January 2009 marked the 25th anniversary of one of the most famous three minutes of television history It was during half time of the 1984 Super Bowl that APPLE showcased its new Macintosh Computer in an avant guard commercial In the following three weeks sales of the new computer in both the public and private sectors took off leading some to note this occasion as the true start of the information age At the same time schools joined this so called information revolution and began to use the new technology in various forms in a much more serious manner Given both the changing nature of technology as well as its classroom applications over the past quarter century this work's goal is to capture the historical trends of both use and application of information technology in the social studies during this era This is done by providing a retrospective view from 1984 through 2009 of where we've been where we are and a view of new tools and strategies and possible studies that are emerging that can enhance our understanding of the effects that technology has and will have on the social studies

To Rule the Waves Bruce Jones, 2022-11-22 From a brilliant Brookings Institution expert an important The Wall Street Journal and penetrating historical and political study Nature of the critical role that oceans play in the daily struggle for global power in the bestselling tradition of Robert Kaplan's The Revenge of Geography For centuries oceans were the chessboard on which empires battled for supremacy But in the nuclear age air power and missile systems dominated our worries about security and for the United States the economy was largely driven by domestic production with trucking and railways that crisscrossed the continent serving as the primary modes of commercial transit All that has changed as nine tenths of global commerce and the bulk of energy trade is today linked to sea based flows A brightly painted forty foot steel shipping container loaded in Asia with twenty tons of goods may arrive literally anywhere else in the world how that really happens and who actually profits from it show that the struggle for power on the seas is a critical issue today Now in vivid closely observed prose Bruce D Jones conducts us on a fascinating voyage through the great modern ports and naval bases from the vast container ports of Hong Kong and Shanghai to the vital naval base of the American Seventh Fleet in Hawaii to the sophisticated security arrangements in the Port of New York Along the way the book illustrates how global commerce works that we are amidst a global naval arms race and why the oceans are so crucial to America's standing going forward As Jones reveals the three great geopolitical struggles of our time for military power for economic dominance and over our changing climate are playing out atop within and below the world's oceans The essential question he shows is this who will rule the waves and set the terms of the world to come
