A Theory Of Secession A Theory Of Secession:

A Theory of Secession Christopher Heath Wellman, 2005-09-05 First published in 2005 A Theory of Secession The Case for Political Self Determination offers an unapologetic defense of the right to secede Christopher Heath Wellman argues that any group has a moral right to secede as long as its political divorce will leave it and the remainder state in a position to perform the requisite political functions He explains that there is nothing contradictory about valuing legitimate states while permitting their division Once political states are recognized as valuable because of the functions that they are uniquely suited to perform it becomes apparent that the territorial boundaries of existing states might permissably be redrawn as long as neither the process nor the result of this reconfiguration interrupts the production of the crucial political benefits Thus if one values self determination then one has good reason to conclude that people have a right to determine their political boundaries

Lehning, 2005-06-23 Theories of Secession presents a systematic analysis of the recent rise of secessionist movements in global politics Bringing together some of the most respected scholars in their field this study locates the right to secede in the context of contemporary political theory The chapters deal with problems of nationalism and federalism special rights to secede conditions of ethnic and cultural pluralism and asks if constitutions should include a right to secede

Theories of Secession Percy B. Lehning, 2005-06-23 Theories of Secession presents a systematic analysis of the rise of secessionist movements in global politics Bringing together a collection of experts in the field it provides a timely forum for debate in this contentious area of study

The Ashgate Research Companion to Secession Peter Radan, 2016-03-23 Secession is a detachment of a territory from an existing state with the aim of creating a new state on the detached territory Secession is usually an outcome of the political mobilization of a population on the territory to be detached and as a political phenomenon is a subject of study in the social sciences Its impact on inter state relations is a subject of study in international relations But secession is also subject to regulation both in the constitutional law of sovereign states and in international law Following a spate of secessions in the early 1990s legal scholars have proposed a variety of ways to regulate the international responses to attempts at secessions Moreover since the 1980s normative justification of secession has been subject to an intense debate among political theorists and moral philosophers. This research companion has the following three complementary aims: First to offer an overview of the current theoretical approaches to secession in the social sciences, international relations, legal theory, political theory, and applied ethics; Second to outline the current practice of international recognition of secession and current domestic and international laws which regulate secession; Third to offer an account of major secessionist movements past and present from a comparative perspective. In their accounts of past secessions and current secessionist movements, the contributors to this volume focus on the following four components: the nature and source of secessionist grievances, the ideologies and techniques of secessionist mobilization, the responses of the host state or majority parties in the host state, and the international response to attempts at secession. This provides a basis for identification of at least some common patterns in the otherwise highly varied processes of secession.

The Theory of Self-Determination Fernando R. Tesón, 2016-04-06. In this book, leading scholars re-examine the principle of national self-determination from diverse theoretical perspectives.

Terrorism J. Angelo Corlett, 2012-12-06. This book is the culmination of over 15 years of research on terrorism, secession, and related concepts such as the obligation to obey the law, pacifism, civil disobedience, non-violent direct action, political violence, revolution, and assassination. It is sincerely hoped that the content of this book is construed as an ethical and philosophical attempt to advance human understanding of some of life's most intractable problems, namely terrorism and more generally political violence. This book is proffered as a propaedeutic to further study of these issues and is not to be interpreted as the author's final word on them. For the pursuit of truth and avoidance of error is never wholly complete but at best a life-long process of continual reflection, analysis, and argument. And it will please the author of this book if it brings even a modicum of knowledge to the difficulties it investigates. Some of the chapters of this book have been published or have otherwise experienced the critical assistance of various public academic forums, and I am sincerely grateful to those who have shaped my thinking about terrorism and its related concepts. Among those who have provided critical and helpful insights concerning various sections of the contents of this book are David Copp, Richard Falk, Joel Feinberg, Richard W. Miller, and Thomas Pogge.

Secession and Self Gregory Millard, 2008-10-24. The possibility of Quebec's departure has long haunted Canadian politics, and English-speaking Canadians have resisted such a break. But why and how does Quebec's membership in the existing constitutional order matter to Canadians outside Quebec?

The Global Justice Reader Thom Brooks, 2023-03-06. A unique compendium of foundational and contemporary writings in global justice, newly revised and expanded. The Global Justice Reader is the first resource of its kind to focus exclusively on this important topic in moral and political philosophy, providing an expertly curated selection of both classic and contemporary work in one comprehensive volume. Purpose-built for course work, this collection brings together the best in the field to help students appreciate the philosophical dimensions of critical global issues and chart the development of diverse concepts of justice and morality. Newly revised and expanded, the Reader presents key writings of the most influential writers on global justice including Thomas Hobbes Immanuel Kant John Stuart Mill Martha C Nussbaum and Peter Singer Thirty nine chapters across eleven thematically organized sections explore sovereignty rights to self determination human rights nationalism and patriotism cosmopolitanism global poverty women and global justice climate change and more Features seminal works from the moral and political philosophers of the past as well as important writings from leading contemporary thinkers Explores critical topics in current discourses surrounding immigration and citizenship global poverty just war terrorism and international environmental justice Highlights the need for shared philosophical resources to help address global problems Includes a brief introduction in each section setting out the issues of concern to global justice theorists Contains complete references in each chapter and a fully up to date extended bibliography to supplement further readings The revised edition of The Global Justice Reader remains an ideal textbook for undergraduate and graduate courses in global justice and human rights cosmopolitanism and nationalism environmental justice and social justice and citizenship and an excellent supplement for general courses in political philosophy political science social science and law Trames ,2006 Self-Determination and Collective Responsibility in the

Secessionist Struggle Costas Laoutides,2016-03-03 The often violent emergence of new independent states following the end of the Cold War generated discussion about the normative grounds of territorial separatism A number of opposing approaches surfaced debating whether and under which circumstances there is a right for a community to secede from its host country Overwhelmingly these studies placed emphasis on the right to secession and neglected the moral stance of secessionist movements as agents in international relations In this book Costas Laoutides explores the collective moral agency involved in secessionist struggles offering a theoretical model for the collective responsibility of secessionist groups Case studies on the Kurds and the people of Moldova Transdniestria illustrate the author s theoretical arguments as he seeks to establish how although the principle of self determination was envisaged as a means of gradually bestowing political power upon the people it never managed to realize its full potential because it was interpreted strictly within a framework of exclusionary politics of identity Contemporary Issues in Politics & International Relations Nesrin Kenar,2021-12-26

Conflict is a phenomenon as old as human history Although the actors and reasons have changed conflicts have occurred in every period of history In the pre Cold War era conflicts in the international system were experienced between states The conflicts during the Cold War mainly were interstate conflicts arising from the rivalry between the two blocs In this period it was expected that the threat to the security of a state would come from outside the borders of the state and from other states For this reason all the regulations made by the League of Nations which was established at the end of the First World War and the United Nations which was established after the Second World War to protect international peace and security included the measures to be taken against the attack or threat of attack by one state against another state However the developments that took place right after the end of the Cold War confirmed that the risk of interstate conflict decreased and new security threats emerged in this period The conflicts that emerged in the post Cold War period were separatist conflicts due to ethnic and religious reasons such as the former Yugoslavia and Georgia or intra border conflicts that occurred for other reasons such as in Syria Upon the inadequacy of international organizations and international law to intervene in intra border conflicts the concept of security was redefined and a transformation from the security of the state to the security of the individual took place New security threats such as environmental security human security food security terrorism weapons of mass destruction and pandemics have been identified One of the reasons for the decrease in conflicts between states in the post Cold War period is that states mostly use soft power instead of military force in achieving their foreign policy goals The structure of the international system is also a dynamic that affects conflicts After the end of the bipolar system the transformation of the international system is not yet complete One of the most critical problems in today's world is the competition and struggle between states to become the future superpower While the US wants the current status quo to continue China is trying to change the status quo in its favour The European Union is to become the dominant power in the international system after its transformation in the post Cold War period

Perspectives on Secession Martin Riegl, Bohumil Doboš, 2020-06-24 This book explores the changing nature of secessionist attempts in connection with rapidly evolving geopolitical and technological landscapes By presenting theoretical chapters as well as case studies on various secessionist movements around the globe the contributing authors study a range of topics including the role of the media in secessionist conflicts secessionist referenda and the viability of secessionist attempts in terms of their internal dimension and external support and interference The book will appeal to political scientists and international relations scholars who are interested in the processes politics and geopolitical implications of secessionist movements

The Ashgate Research Companion to Ethics and International Relations Patrick Hayden, 2016-04-01 While skepticism about the role of moral considerations in international politics has been influential within the discipline of international relations IR those writing on topics such as war peace rights and trade up until the twentieth century took seriously the importance of ethical values and moral debates The 1990s and 2000s have seen a substantial growth of attention to the ways in which IR conceives and analyzes themes of an ethical nature and how issues problems and policies involving ethics are addressed by a variety of actors within the international system This indispensable research companion widens the perspective from ethics and international relations to ethics in international relations redressing the mis perception that ethical concepts principles norms and rules are not in part constitutive of the international system and the agents acting within that system Necessarily cross disciplinary expertise is drawn from IR and also philosophy political theory religious studies history and law making this an ideal volume for any library reference collection

Constitutionalizing Secession in Federalized States Miodrag A. Jovanović, 2007 This book is a thorough and professional study about secession Starting from the perspective of contemporary political philosophy the book explores the relevance of this issue for the theory and practice of federalism as well as its status under current public international law and concludes with a comparative constitutional analysis of the subject matter In the final chapter it provides a constitutionalized procedure of secession based on fundamental liberal democratic values The book argues that a liberal democratic response to the secession controversy might consist of the constitutionalization of a right to secession While a number of recent works in political theory point to the fact that under certain circumstances the moral right of a group to secession should be recognized only a few of them are ready to defend the institutionalization of that right through the instruments of constitutional law This topical and thought provoking book is a welcome contribution to the ongoing debate on secession and will be of interest to academics in a variety of disciplines such as law history politics international relations philosophy and applied ethics and to politicians and constitution drafters

States, Nations and Borders Allen Buchanan, Margaret Moore, 2003-03-31 This volume examines comparatively the views and principles of seven prominent ethical traditions on one of the most pressing issues of modern politics the making and unmaking of state and national boundaries The traditions represented are Judaism Christianity Islam natural law Confucianism liberalism and international law Each contributor an expert within one of these traditions shows how that tradition can handle the five dominant methods of altering state and national boundaries conquest settlement purchase inheritance and secession Written by a distinguished group of international specialists this volume is unique in providing both in depth normative and comparative perspectives on a troubling question that will offer readers real insight into inter tradition conflict Those readers will range from upper level undergraduates to scholars in such fields as philosophy political science international relations and comparative religion

Self-Determination and Secession Natalija Shikova, 2023-08-28 This book offers a comprehensive summary of extant international law scholarship on the topics of self determination and secession and positions the concepts among present day theory and relevant practice illustrated through various ongoing cases and historical examples The right to self determination is among the least understood rights within international law Theoretical dilemmas as to whether there is a link between self determination and secession are nothing new In essence self determination is a much broader concept than secession and obtaining independent statehood Unilateral secession is not prohibited by international law but neither is it per se welcomed or accepted in practice Beyond the context of decolonization secession claims have long been viewed with disapproval in international law and lawyers have been extremely skeptical about the issue Although this is still the case there are also new trends and opportunities to explore situations in which secession can be accepted legitimized or even legally permissible The yardstick for this is the diplomatic response to secessionism and the growing involvement of the international community in mediation and conflict resolution Though finding solutions can be difficult within the existing frame the ongoing tension between the duty of every society to recognize pluralism and diversity on the one hand and the inherent desire of every culture whether majority minority or indigenous to protect its values and ensure conformity on the other must be resolved The practices and modalities that envisage the internal dimension of the right to self determination as a right that is exercised within the state borders can offer such opportunities The appropriate role of the state and the international community is to serve as mediators between competing forces and to set parameters that can transform destructive conflicts into productive political models Morality and Legality of Secession Pau Bossacoma Busquets, 2019-11-19 This book explores secession from three normative disciplines political philosophy international law and constitutional law The author first develops a moral theory of secession based on a hypothetical multinational contract Under this contract theory injustices do not determine the existence of a right to secede but the requirements to exercise it The book s second part then argues that international law is more inclined to accept and advance a remedial right approach to secession Therefore justice as multinational fairness is to be fully institutionalized under the constitutional law of liberal democracies The final part proposes constitutionalizing a qualified right to secede with the aim of fostering recognition and accommodation of national pluralism as well as cooperation and compromise between majority and minority nations

The Routledge Handbook of Self-Determination and Secession Ryan D. Griffiths, Aleksandar Pavković, Peter Radan, 2023-02-28 The Routledge Handbook of Self Determination and Secession explores the various debates surrounding the issues of self determination and secession and the legal political and normative implications they give rise to Offering a broad survey of the state of the sub discipline today the chapters are divided into seven key parts an Introduction Self Determination Explaining and Justifying Secession Secession Strategies Counter Secession Strategies International Law and Secession and Constitutional Law and Secession The authors from a range of disciplinary backgrounds explore all the recent approaches to secession and self determination based on strategic interaction of major actors in a secession process This handbook will be of great interest to students and researchers from a variety of disciplines including politics and international relations security studies and law

Self-Determination and Secession in Africa Redie Bereketeab, 2014-08-07 This book provides a unique comparative study of the major secessionist and self determination movements in post colonial Africa examining theory international law charters of the United Nations and the Organisation of African Unity OAU African Union s AU stance on the issue The book explores whether self determination and secessionism lead to peace stability development and democratisation in conflict ridden societies particularly looking at the outcomes in Eritrea and South Sudan The book covers all the major attempts at self determination and secession on the continent extensively analysing the geo political economic security and ideological factors that determine the outcome of the quest for self determination and secession It reveals the lack of inherent clarity in international law social science theories OAU AU Charter UN Charters and international conventions concerning the topic This is a major contribution to the field and highly relevant for researchers and postgraduate students in African Studies Development Studies African Politics and History and Anthropology
