Private World(s) Joanna Ostrouch-Kamińska, Cristina C. Vieira, 2015-03-17 This book is the fourth production from the ESREA Gender network and the third in the ESREA Sense bookseries Once more there is an opportunity for readers to gain a better understanding of questions related to gender and adult learning from researchers deeply involved in this specific field of adult education The notion of informal learning has already been treated as a chapter in the 2003 book but it becomes central and relevant in this new book with the growing complexity of our society The editors emphasise private world s s in the book title but the content of the book proves that informal learning processes aside from the self are combined with contextual opportunities which have been chosen or not Their introduction covers the essential concepts of gender and informal learning The contributors enlighten the debate with their geographical diversity all over Europe but also with their diverse theoretical systems of references to the diverse social contexts that have been analysed The first part of this book entitled private spheres presents and analyses painful gendered discriminations and injustices We can t escape to the emotions it evokes from the soldiers after the war to men s breast cancer both relate to men and the specificity of their suffering This is an interesting and quite new opportunity to question gender In the second part related to minorities and activism we discover groups who learn through their organised fight against discriminations Emotions give way to a positive energy when we discover the strategies that feminists or migrants or also retired men find to question the society in which they live The authors show us not only what is learned by such communities but also what their environment can learn from them The last part of the book leads us to different contexts of informal learning mostly related to opportunities and obstacles in education and work situations Community training social work studies scientist s work and management school are the contexts chosen to clarify stereotypes and the discrimination along the lifespan for women From East to West and North to South of Europe it seems once more that the debate presents a lot of similarities This book can be considered as original in its area and useful mostly because it presents a mixture of sadness and hope within gendered learning processes In this book it seems that men take their place in the gender debate and its analysis with a new vision of the male realities More than anything else this book is a reminder of what has to be done in our society specifically in adult education to imagine and to create better pathways conditions and issues to respect all learners women as well as men Edmee Ollagnier Ex University of Geneva Switzerland

Seel,2011-10-05 Over the past century educational psychologists and researchers have posited many theories to explain how individuals learn i.e. how they acquire, organize and deploy knowledge and skills. The 20th century can be considered the century of psychology on learning and related fields of interest such as motivation, cognition, metacognition etc. and it is fascinating to see the various mainstreams of learning remembered and forgotten over the 20th century and note that basic assumptions of early theories survived several paradigm shifts of psychology and epistemology. Beyond folk psychology and its naive theories of learning, psychological learning theories can be grouped into some basic categories such as behaviorist learning theories, connectionist learning theories, cognitive learning theories, constructivist learning theories and social learning theories. Learning theories are not limited to psychology and related fields of interest but rather we can find the topic of learning in various disciplines such as philosophy and epistemology, education, information science, biology and as a result of the emergence of computer technologies, especially also in the field of computer sciences and artificial intelligence. As a consequence, machine learning struck a chord in the 1980s and became an important field of the learning sciences in general. As the learning sciences became more specialized and complex, the various fields of interest were widely spread and separated from each other as a consequence. Even presently, there is no comprehensive overview of the sciences of learning or the central theoretical concepts and vocabulary on which researchers rely. The Encyclopedia of the Sciences of Learning provides an up-to-date, broad and authoritative coverage of the specific terms mostly used in the sciences of learning and its related fields, including relevant areas of instruction, pedagogy, cognitive sciences and especially machine learning and knowledge engineering. This modern compendium will be an indispensable source of information for scientists, educators, engineers and technical staff active in all fields of learning. More specifically, the Encyclopedia provides fast access to the most relevant theoretical terms, provides up-to-date, broad and authoritative coverage of the most important theories within the various fields of the learning sciences and adjacent sciences and communication technologies, supplies clear and precise explanations of the theoretical terms, cross-references to related entries and up-to-date references to important research and publications. The Encyclopedia also contains biographical entries of individuals who have substantially contributed to the sciences of learning; the entries are written by a distinguished panel of researchers in the various fields of the learning sciences.

Environment: Advancing Towards Psychological Wellbeing María del Mar Molero Jurado, María del Carmen Pérez-Fuentes, Carol D. Ryff, Pablo Molina, 2025-09-01.
