Dying in the Late Medieval Church Thomas M. Izbicki, 2023-09 The focus of this volume is on ministry to the sick and dying in the later Middle Ages especially providing them with the sacraments Medieval writers linked illness to sin and its forgiveness The priest as physician of souls was expected to heal the soul preparing it for the hereafter His ministry might also effect healing of bodies when that healing did not endanger the soul This book treats how a priest prepared to visit sick persons and went to them in procession with the Eucharist and oil of the sick The priest was to comfort the patient and if death was imminent prepare the soul for the hereafter Canon law theology and ritual sources are employed Three sacraments penance viaticum final communion and extreme unction anointing of the sick are treated in detail Sickbed confession was designed to forgive the ailing person's mortal sins A priest could absolve a dying person of all sins even those reserved to a bishop or the pope Viaticum was to strengthen a suffering Christian for life's last conflict that between angels and demons for the soul of the dying person The deathbed thus was a spiritual battlefield Extreme unction was reserved for those in danger of death relieving the soul of venial sins or the remains of sin even after confession and absolution The commendatio animae commendation of the soul used with the dying was to usher the soul into the afterlife Many works have been written about attitudes toward death dying and the afterlife in the Middle Ages Likewise there is a good deal of literature about individual sacraments This study aims at bridging between these literatures with a focus on the priest and parishioner in both theory and practice at the sickbed The Churchman's Guide to Faith and Piety: a Manual of Instruction and Devotions

Churchman, 1863 St. John's Manual Catholic Church, 1856 The Theory and Practice of Extended Communion Phillip Tovey, 2016-02-24 Three churches have recently produced liturgies for extended communion This is the distribution of previously consecrated elements at a public service by lay people or a deacon in the absence of a priest This development began in the Roman Catholic Church with the Vatican Directory on Sunday Worship in the absence of a priest in 1988 The Methodist Church produced a service of Extended Communion in 1999 and the Church of England authorized Public Worship with Communion by Extension in 2001 In this book Phillip Tovey examines these churches to discover the reasons for the production of these services and their theological rationale An in depth examination of case studies draws conclusions highly relevant to the wider church A Practical Guide to the Duties of Churchwardens in the Execution of Their Office ... Charles

Grevile Prideaux, 1880 A Manual for Confessors Francis George Belton, 1916 Notes on the Rubrics of the Roman Ritual James O'Kane, 1883 Teaching the Reformation Amy Nelson Burnett, 2006-10-12 Though the Reformation was sparked by the actions of Martin Luther it was not a decisive break from the Church in Rome but rather a gradual process of religious and social change As the men responsible for religious instruction and moral oversight at the village level parish pastors played a key role in the implementation of the Reformation and the gradual development of a Protestant religious culture but their ministry has seldom been examined in the light of how they were prepared for the pastorate Teaching the Reformation examines the four generations of Reformed pastors who served the church of Basel in the century after the Reformation focusing on the evolution of pastoral training and Reformed theology the theory and practice of preaching and the performance of pastoral care in both urban and rural parishes It looks at how these pastors were educated and what they learned examining not only the study of theology but also the general education in languages rhetoric and dialectic that future pastors received at the city's Latin school and in the arts faculty of the university It points to significant changes over time in the content of that education which in turn separated Basels pastors into distinct generations The study also looks more specifically at preaching in Basel demonstrating how the evolution of dialectic and rhetoric instruction and particularly the spread of Ramism led to changes in both exegetical method and homiletics These developments combined with the gradual elaboration of Reformed theology resulted in a distinctive style of Reformed Orthodox preaching in Basel The development of pastoral education also had a direct impact on how Basels clergy carried out their other duties catechization administering the sacraments counseling the dying and consoling the bereaved and overseeing the moral conduct of their parishioners The growing professionalization of the clergy the result of more intensive education and more stringent supervision contributed to the gradual implantation of a Reformed religious culture in Basel
