

The background of the book cover is a photograph of a garden. In the foreground, there are several small red plastic pots containing young green seedlings. A wooden garden path leads from the bottom center towards the background. To the right, there is a green circular object, possibly a garden hose reel. The background is filled with lush green foliage and trees, creating a soft, out-of-focus effect. A solid red horizontal bar is located at the very top of the cover.

Newman,1990-01-01 Schooling Teachers Megan Blumenreich,Bethany L. Rogers,2021 This book moves beyond the purported dichotomy between university based teacher education and alternatives such as Teach For America to consider their common challenges and suggest a starting place from which to imagine a future of more effective teacher preparation In focusing on the experiences of the first Teach For America cohort between 1990 1992 the book anchors its analysis in a particular historical moment allowing a significant accounting of a pivotal time in teacher education as well as thoughtful consideration of both change and continuity in how teachers have been prepared and entered the classroom over the decades since Through its use of oral history testimonies Schooling Teachers offers important stories about individuals personal experiences and actions but also reveals the broader collective and social forces that shaped and gave meaning to those experiences Richly detailed qualitative data in the form of oral history enables the authors to draw from the specific narratives some general insights that speak to the larger issues of staffing and supporting urban schools Handbook of Public Administration, Third Edition W. potential effectiveness of proposed interventions needs to be assessed not only against existing historical evidence but also against the competing roles society expects schools to play and the working life realities for those charged with implementing public health policies in schools
