Honour This Day Alexander Kent,2020-03-05 If you like Patrick O Brian and C S Forester you will love this all guns blazing naval page turner from multi million copy seller Alexander Kent guaranteed to have you hooked from page one One of our foremost writers of naval fiction Sunday Times Shipwreck survival a spirited battle a splendid yarn The Times Gripping to the end Reader review Difficult to put down Reader review Superb Reader review Riveting Reader review Exceptionally well written Reader review What a story Reader review 1804 England stands alone against France and the fleets of Spain expecting an invasion any day Entrusted with an urgent mission for the King Vice Admiral Richard Bolitho hoists his flag above the veteran seventy four gun ship Hyperion and sets sail with a new squadron for the Caribbean Plagued by the knowledge that both his troubled marriage and the eye injured in his last battle with Contre Amiral Jobert are worsening Bolitho is eager to leave England less than three months after his return home But even his beloved old ship Hyperion hastily restored from an ignominious existence as a hulk is full of tormenting memories and lost faces Having navigated several battles along the way he is roused in Antigua from his darkness of soul by the rediscovery of a passion which defies convention and every risk to his reputation His future is full of uncertainty as he sails east to Gibraltar for a rendezvous that all who follow his flag will remember Heart Of Oak Alexander Kent,2020-03-12 It is February 1818 and Adam Bolitho longs for marriage and a safe personal harbour But with so much of Britain's fleet redundant he knows he is fortunate to be offered H M S Onward a new 38 gun frigate whose first mission is not war but diplomacy as consort to the French frigate Nautilus Under the burning sun of North Africa Bolitho is keenly aware of the envy and ambition among his officers the troubled restless spirits of his midshipmen and the old enemy's proximity It is only when Nautilus becomes a sacrificial offering on the altar of empire that every man discovers the brotherhood of the sea is more powerful than the bitter memories of an ocean of blood and decades of war Colours Aloft! Alexander Kent,2014-07-03 This naval page turner from the pen of the master storyteller of the sea multi million copy seller Alexander Kent is full of action political intrigue and personal tragedy and is perfect for fans of Patrick O Brian and C S Forester Dive in and get straight to the heart of the action One of our foremost writers of naval fiction Sunday Times Shipwreck survival a spirited battle a splendid yarn The Times Really good book needed to keep turning the pages Reader review This series is the daddy Reader review A jolly good read Reader review Great novel great writing always guaranteed to keep me interested Reader review Excellent read you're there with Bolitho Reader review Exciting throughout Brilliant Reader review 1803 Vice Admiral Sir Richard Bolitho finds himself the new master of the Argonaute a French flagship taken in battle With the Peace of Amiens in ruins he must leave the safety of Falmouth What lies ahead is the grim reality of war at close quarters where Bolitho will be called upon to anticipate the overall intention of the French fleet But the battle has also become a personal vendetta between himself and the French admiral who formerly sailed the Argonaute Bolitho and his men are driven to a final rendezvous where no quarter is asked or given The Only Victor Alexander Kent,2020-03-05 The master storyteller of the sea multi million copy seller Alexander Kent has penned another gripping swashbuckling and emotionally charged naval adventure full of vividly depicted military action perfect for fans of Patrick O Brian and C S Forester One of our foremost writers of naval fiction Sunday Times Shipwreck survival a spirited battle a splendid yarn The Times Another great story gripping to the end Reader review Once you start it's hard to put down Reader review Kept me enthralled Reader review Great read from start to finish Reader review 1806 The frigate carrying Vice Admiral Sir Richard Bolitho drops anchor off the shores of southern Africa It is only four months since the resounding victory over the combined Franco Spanish fleet at Trafalgar and the death of England's greatest naval hero Bolitho's instructions are to assist in hastening the campaign in Africa where an expeditionary force is attempting to recapture Cape Town from the Dutch Outside Europe few have yet heard of the battle of Trafalgar and Bolitho's news is met with both optimism and disappointment as he reminds the senior officers that despite the victory Napoleon's defeat is by no means assured The men who follow Bolitho's flag into battle are to discover not for the first time that death is the only victor A Tradition of Victory Alexander Kent, 2014-07-03 With the epic scenes of action powerful

Man Of War Alexander Kent, 2010-05-31 This is Douglas Reeman writing under his pseudonym Alexander Kent with another thrilling Bolitho adventure Antigua 1817 Every harbour and estuary is filled with ghostly ships the famous and the legendary now redundant in the aftermath of the war In this uneasy peace Adam Bolitho is fortunate to be offered the seventy four gun Athena and as flag captain to Vice Admiral Sir Graham Bethune once more follows his destiny to the Caribbean But in these haunted waters where Richard Bolitho and his band of brothers once fought a familiar enemy the quarry is now a renegade foe who flies no colours and offers no quarter and whose traffic in human life is sanctioned by flawed treaties and men of influence And here and when Athena s guns speak a day of terrible retribution will dawn for the innocent and the damned
