A History Of The Nature Conservancy Of Canada:

A History of the Nature Conservancy of Canada Bill Freedman, 2013-03-28 The Nature Conservancy of Canada is the leading non governmental land conservation organization a private not for profit organization that partners with corporate and individual landowners to protect natural lands The NCC s work is supported by about 40 000 active donors and manages 2 2 million acres of ecologically important land nationwide The NCC is by all accounts a rare good news environmental story

An Environmental History of Canada Laurel Sefton MacDowell, 2012-07-31 Traces how Canada s colonial and national development contributed to modern environmental problems such as urban sprawl the collapse of fisheries and climate change Includes over 200 photographs maps figures and sidebar discussions on key figures concepts and cases Offers concise definitions of environmental concepts Ties Canadian history to issues relevant to contemporary society Introduces students to a new dynamic approach to the past Throughout history most people have associated northern North America with wilderness with abundant fish and game snow capped mountains and endless forest and prairie Canada's contemporary picture gallery however contains more disturbing images deforested mountains empty fisheries and melting ice caps Adopting both a chronological and thematic approach Laurel MacDowell examines human interactions with the land and the origins of our current environmental crisis from first peoples to the Kyoto Protocol This richly illustrated exploration of the past from an environmental perspective will change the way Canadians and others around the world think about and look at Canada The History of Geoconservation Cynthia V. Burek, Colin D. Prosser, 2008 This book is the first to describe the history of geoconservation It draws on experience from the UK Europe and further afield to explore topics including what is geoconservation where when and how did it start who was responsible and how has it differed across the world Geological and geomorphological features processes sites and specimens provide a resource of immense scientific and educational importance They also form the foundation for the varied and spectacular landscapes that help define national and local identity as well as many of the great tourism destinations Mankind's activities including contributing to enhanced climate change pose many threats to this resource the importance of safeguarding and managing it for future generations is now widely accepted as part of sustainable development Geoconservation is an established and growing activity across the world with more participants and a greater profile than ever before This volume highlights a history of challenges set backs successes and visionary individuals and provides a sound basis for taking geoconservation into the future The Bar U & Canadian Ranching History S. M. Evans, 2004 For much of its 130 year history the Bar U Ranch can claim to have been one of the most famous ranches in Canada Its reputation is firmly based on the historical role that the ranch has played its size and longevity and its association with some of the remarkable people who have helped develop the cattle business and build the Canadian West The long history of the ranch allows the evolution of the cattle business to be traced and can be seen in three distinct historical periods based on the eras of the individuals who owned and managed the ranch These colourful figures beginning with Fred Stimson then George Lane and finally Pat Burns have left an indelible mark on the Bar U as well as Canadian ranching history The Bar U and Canadian Ranching History is a fascinating story that integrates the history of ranching in Alberta with larger issues of ranch historiography in the American and Canadian West and contributes greatly to the overall understanding of ranching history Conservation Directory 2000 National Wildlife Federation, 1999 The Lyons Press is proud to present the forty fifth annual edition of the National Wildlife Federation s Conservation Directory of U S and international organizations and agencies working to protect the environment the most vital resource of its kind Included are members of the United States Congress government agencies citizens groups educational institutions databases services periodicals and other directories federally protected conservation areas indexes and more This annual directory is essential for colleges and universities libraries environmental activists students outdoor writers science editors natural resource agencies those seeking employment in the field of conservation researchers and all History of Palaeobotany A. J. Bowden, Cynthia V. Burek, R. Wilding, 2005 individuals interested in wildlife and ecology Often regarded as the Cinderella of palaeontological studies palaeobotany has a history that contains some fascinating insights into scientific endeavour especially by palaeontologists who were perusing a personal interest rather than a career The problems of maintaining research facilities in universities especially in the modern era are described and reveal a noticeable absence of a national UK strategy to preserve centres of excellence in an avowedly specialist area Accounts of some of the pioneers demonstrate the importance of collaboration between taxonomists and illustrators The importance of palaeobotany in the rise of geoconservation is outlined as well as the significant and influential role of women in the discipline Although this volume has a predominantly UK focus two very interesting studies outline the history of palaeobotanical work in Argentina and China Status and Trends of the Nation's Biological Resources ,1998 The Nature Conservancy Magazine ,2003 Routledge Library Editions: Environmental Policy Various, 2021-06-23 The 11 volumes in this set originally published between 1982 and 1995 draw together research by leading academics in the area of environmental policy and provides a rigorous examination of related key issues The volumes examine international policy impact assessment and future environmental planning This set will be of particular interest to students of Environmental Status and Trends of the Nations's Biological Resources Catherine E.
