A Literary Education And Other Essays:

Literary Education and Other Essays Joseph Epstein, 2014-06-01 Who invented the personal essay That is hard to say The ancient Roman philosopher and cynical power broker Seneca The 16th century French philosopher Montaigne certainly brought it to a peak of perfection There were many 19th century masters not so many after that Who is the greatest living essayist writing in English That requires no debate at all It is unquestionably Joseph Epstein He is not only the best living essayist he is right up there in the company of Seneca and Montaigne but one of our own living in our era and dealing with our pleasures and travails Epstein is penetrating He is witty He has a magic touch with words that hard to define but immediately recognizable quality called style Above all he is impossible to put down Epstein reads omnivorously and brings us the best of what he reads passages that we would never have found on our own How easy it is today in the digital age drowning in emails and other ephemera to forget the simple delight of reading for no intended purpose Like any master essayist however this one brings us more than the shared experience of a lifetime of reading He brings us himself alternately scolding and charming sparkling and deep buoyant and sad zany and wise rebellious and conservative bookworm and sports fan clever and everyman debunker and preservationist deep into high culture deep into low culture curious fresh and settled in his ways This is the friend we all wish we could have the ideal humane companion who is completely comfortable in his own human skin Like Plutarch he gives us life teaching by example but with a wry smile and such a sure hand that we hardly notice the instruction It is pure pleasure A Literary Education Joseph Epstein, 2014 A respected essayist whose work has appeared in The New Yorker and The Atlantic discusses the pleasure often forgotten in the modern day of reading something for no purpose whatsoever in his latest collection of writings

Science and Culture, and Other Essays Thomas Henry Huxley,1890 Valuation in Criticism and Other Essays F. R. Leavis, 1986-07-17 This volume gathers together some of F R Leavis s earliest work with the things he was working on before his death as well as a representative sample of pieces reflecting the concerns he developed throughout his writing life This material from the whole span of a long writing career shows both the continuity of his pre occupations and important respects in which his judgements changed In an introductory essay Professor Singh discusses each piece and relates it to the development of Leavis's ideas The reader can trace his concern for standards of critical valuation as it evolved through studies of T S Eliot D H Lawrence William Empson George Eliot Henry James W B Yeats I A Richards and others Leavis s well known reflections on Marxism are also included

Encyclopedia of the Essay Tracy Chevalier,2012-10-12 This groundbreaking new source of international scope defines the essay as nonfictional prose texts of between one and 50 pages in length The more than 500 entries by 275 contributors include entries on nationalities various categories of essays such as generic such as sermons aphorisms individual major works notable writers and periodicals that created a market for essays and particularly famous or significant essays The preface details the historical development of the essay and the alphabetically arranged entries usually include biographical
