A History Of The Modern Fact A History Of The Modern Fact:

A History of the Modern Fact Mary Poovey, 1998-11-15 How did the fact become modernity's most favored unit of knowledge? How did description come to seem separable from theory in the precursors of economics and the social sciences? Mary Poovey explores these questions in A History of the Modern Fact, ranging across an astonishing array of texts and ideas from the publication of the first British manual on double entry bookkeeping in 1588 to the institutionalization of statistics in the 1830s. She shows how the production of systematic knowledge from descriptions of observed particulars influenced government; how numerical representation became the privileged vehicle for generating useful facts; and how belief, whether figured as credit, credibility, or credulity, remained essential to the production of knowledge. Illuminating the epistemological conditions that have made modern social and economic knowledge possible, A History of the Modern Fact provides important contributions to the history of political thought, economics, science, and philosophy, as well as to literary and cultural criticism.

A Passion for Facts Tong Lam, 2011-10-29 This fascinating book is a fundamental contribution to the global history of social science. Tong Lam demonstrates how Chinese reformers struggled to build a modern society on a foundation of facts and statistics. Their ambitions were no mere dream but were made real in a prodigious social survey movement which aimed as much to enlighten peasants as to inform administrators. Theodore Porter, author of Trust in Numbers, Lam's approach is highly original. A Passion for Facts presents an impressive host of new material from Chinese and American archives that challenges interpretations of China and Chinese exceptionalism or independent development. Lam makes a compelling argument that the techniques developed in the early twentieth century and refined over several decades have been critical to state building in China. James L. Hevia, author of English Lessons: The Pedagogy of Imperialism in Nineteenth-Century China, Lam supersedes the current China-centered approach and the earlier framework that explained modern China in light of global colonialism. He illuminates how the search for facts empowered modern Chinese to reimagine their social and political realities in a global colonial context. Benjamin A. Elman, Chair, East Asian Studies Department, Princeton University.

The Documentary Imagination in Twentieth-century French Literature Alison Siân James, 2020 Studying works by authors including Gide, Breton, Aragon, Yourcenar, Duras, and Modiano, this volume rethinks twentieth-century French literature and engages with the question of distinctions between the factual and the fictional.

Facts on the Ground Nadia Abu El-Haj, 2001 How and why did archaeology in Israel emerge? How can the practices of archaeology help answer those questions? This text addresses these questions and specifies relationships between ideology, colonial settlement, and historical knowledge.

The Poesy of Scientia in Early Modern England Subha Mukherji, Elizabeth L. Swann, 2024-07-12 This book explores interconnections between the modes of knowing that we now associate with the rubrics literature and science at a formative point in their early development. Rather than simply tracing lines of influence, it focuses on how both literary texts and natural philosophy engage with materiality, language, affect, and form. Some essays are invested in how early modern science adopts and actively experiments with rhetorical and poetic modes and expression while others emphasize a shared investment in natural philosophical topics alchemy chance or astrology for example that move among the period's observational texts and its literature highlighting the participation of literary texts in the production of experimental knowledge Organised around the broad themes of creation and transformation mediation and communication and interpretation and imaginative speculation the essays collectively probe the presumed dichotomy between science's schematizing and taxonomic ambitions and the fertile and volatile creative energies of literary texts Conrad in the Twenty-First Century Carola Kaplan, Peter Mallios, Andrea White, 2005-01-15 This is a collection of original essays by leading Conrad scholars that rereads Conrad in light of his representations of post colonialism of empire imperialism and of modernism questions that are once again relevant today Just the Facts Joel Best, 2025 Why can't we seem to agree on facts In this succinct volume sociologist Joel Best turns his inimitable eye toward the social construction of what we think is true He evaluates how facts emerge from our social worlds including our beliefs values tastes and norms and how they align with those worlds standards He argues that by developing a sociological perspective toward what we think we know we can better parse the use of facts and untruths around us This book examines how facts are created and supported through science government law and journalism revealing that facts are actually claims These claims are malleable and can change over time through fact checking revision and sometimes rejection Best guides us through these processes so that we can question our assumptions and understand why disputes happen in the first place In a time of increasing social and political divide Just the Facts urges us to resist defensiveness over our facts and approach disputes in critical new ways Common Sense and Science from Aristotle to Reid Benjamin W. Redekop, 2020-11-05 Common Sense and Science from Aristotle to Reid reveals that thinkers have pondered the nature of common sense and its relationship to science and scientific thinking for a very long time It demonstrates how a diverse array of neglected early modern thinkers turn out to have been on the right track for understanding how the mind makes sense of the world and how basic features of the human mind and cognition are related to scientific theory and practice Drawing on a wealth of primary sources and scholarship from the history of ideas cognitive science and the history and philosophy of science this book helps readers understand the fundamental historical and philosophical relationship between common sense and science Birth of Modern Facts James W. Cortada, 2023-01-09 For over twenty years James W Cortada has pioneered research into how information shapes society In this book he tells the story of how information evolved since the mid nineteenth century Cortada argues that information increased in quantity became more specialized by discipline e g mathematics science political science and more organized Information increased in volume due to a series of innovations such as the electrification of communications and the development of computers but also due to the organization of facts and knowledge by discipline making it easier to manage and access He looks at what major disciplines have done to shape the nature of modern information devoting chapters to the most obvious ones Cortada argues that understanding how some features of information evolved is useful for those who work in subjects that deal with their very construct and application such as computer scientists and those exploring social media and most recently history The Birth of Modern Facts builds on Cortada s prior books examining how information became a central feature of modern society most notably as a sequel to All the Facts A History of Information in the United States since 1870 OUP 2016 and Building Blocks of Society History Information Ecosystems and Infrastructures R L 2021 Science in the Age of Sensibility Jessica Riskin,2010-11-15 Empiricism today implies the dispassionate scrutiny of facts But Jessica Riskin finds that in the French Enlightenment empiricism was intimately bound up with sensibility In what she calls a sentimental empiricism natural knowledge was taken to rest on a blend of experience and emotion Riskin argues that sentimental empiricism brought together ideas and institutions practices and politics She shows for instance how the study of blindness led by ideas about the mental and moral role of vision and by cataract surgeries shaped the first school for the blind how Benjamin Franklin s electrical physics ascribing desires to nature engaged French economic reformers and how the question of the role of language in science and social life linked disputes over Antoine Lavoisier s new chemical names to the founding of France s modern system of civic education Recasting the Age of Reason by stressing its conjunction with the Age of Sensibility Riskin offers an entirely new perspective on the development of modern science and the history of the Enlightenment The Leading Facts of New Mexican History, Vol. II (Hardcover) Ralph Emerson Twitchell,2007 Historians have long admired Ralph Emerson Twitchell s The Leading Facts of New Mexican History considered the first major history of the state Put succinctly by former State Historian Robert J T rrez Twitchell s work of which this is one of the first two volumes Sunstone Press is reprinting in its Southwest Heritage Series has become the standard by which all subsequent books on New Mexico history are measured As Twitchell wrote in the preface of his first volume his goal in writing The Leading Facts was to respond to the pressing need for a history of New Mexico with a commitment to accuracy of statement simplicity of style and impartiality of treatment Ralph Emerson Twitchell was born in Ann Arbor Michigan on November 29 1859 Arriving in New Mexico when he was twenty three he immediately became involved in political and civic activities In 1885 he helped organize a new territorial militia in Santa Fe and saw active duty in western New Mexico Later appointed judge advocate of the Territorial Militia he attained the rank of colonel a title he was proud to use for the rest of his life By 1893 he was elected the mayor of Santa Fe and thereafter district attorney of Santa Fe County Twitchell probably promoted New Mexico as much as any single New Mexican of his generation An avid supporter of New Mexico statehood he argued the territory s case for elevated political status celebrated its final victory in 1912 and even designed New Mexico s first state flag in 1915 Just as Twitchell s first edition in 1912 helped celebrate New Mexico s entry into statehood in 1912 the newest edition of the text and illustrations serves as a tribute to the state s centennial celebration of 2012 In the apt words of an editorial in the Santa Fe New Mexican at the time of Twitchell s death in 1925 As press agent for the best things of New

Describing Women's Clothing in Eighteenth-century England Elizabeth Spencer, 2024 Descriptions of women's clothing increasingly circulated across textual genres and beyond in eighteenth century England This book explores the significance of these descriptions across a range of sources including wills newspapers accounts court records and the records of the old poor law Attention has rested on women literate and wealthy enough to leave behind textual or material traces but this book ranges from the parish pauper to the gentlewoman to consider descriptive languages rhetorical strategies and relationships with clothing across the social hierarchy It explores how women described their own clothing but also looks at how it was described by overseers family members retailers and even strangers It shows that we must look beyond isolated descriptions to how why and who was describing clothing to understand its role Chapters uncover themes of material obligation expectation and entitlement

Scouting and Scoring Christopher J. Phillips, 2021-03-30 An in depth look at the intersection of judgment and statistics in baseball Scouting and scoring are considered fundamentally different ways of ascertaining value in baseball Scouting seems to rely on experience and intuition scoring on performance metrics and statistics In Scouting and Scoring Christopher Phillips rejects these simplistic divisions He shows how both scouts and scorers rely on numbers bureaucracy trust and human labor to make sound judgments about the value of baseball players Tracing baseball's story from the nineteenth century to today Phillips explains that the sport was one of the earliest fields to introduce numerical analysis and new methods of data collection were supposed to enable teams to replace scouting with scoring But that's not how things turned out From the invention of official scorers and Statcast to the creation of the Major League Scouting Bureau Scouting and Scoring reveals the inextricable connections between human expertise and data science and offers an entirely fresh understanding of baseball

Publishing the Woman Writer in England, 1670-1750 Leah Orr, 2023 Based on a survey of nearly seven hundred works with female authors from this period this book contends that authorship was constructed not always by the author for market appeal that biography often supported an authorial persona rooted in the genre of the work and that authorship was a role rather than an identity

Constructing Economic Science Keith Tribe, 2021-11-26 Constructing Economic Science shows how the new science of economics was primarily an institutional creation of the modern university Keith Tribe charts the path through commercial education to the discipline of economics and the creation of an economics curriculum that could be replicated around the world

The Accommodated Animal Laurie Shannon, 2024-05-31 Shakespeare wrote of lions shrews horned toads curs mastiffs and hellhounds But the word animal itself only appears very rarely in his work which was in keeping with sixteenth century usage As Laurie Shannon reveals in The Accommodated Animal the modern human animal divide first came strongly into play in the seventeenth century with Descartes's famous formulation that reason sets humans above other species I think therefore I am Before that moment animals could claim a firmer place alongside humans in a larger vision of belonging or what she terms cosmopolity

With Shakespeare as her touchstone Shannon explores the creaturely dispensation that existed until Descartes She finds that early modern writers used classical natural history and readings of Genesis to credit animals with various kinds of stakeholder prerogative and entitlement employing the language of politics in a constitutional vision of cosmic membership Using this political idiom to frame cross species relations Shannon argues carried with it the notion that animals possess their own investments in the world a point distinct from the question of whether animals have reason It also enabled a sharp critique of the tyranny of humankind By answering the question of the animal historically The Accommodated Animal makes a brilliant contribution to cross disciplinary debates engaging animal studies political theory intellectual history and literary studies

Historical Ontology Ian Hacking, 2004-09-15 Hacking here offers his reflections on the philosophical uses of history The focus of this volume which collects both recent and now classic essays is the historical emergence of concepts and objects through new uses of words and sentences in specific settings and new patterns or styles of reasoning within those sentences

Eighteenth-century Fiction and the Reinvention of Wonder Sarah Tindal Kareem, 2014 A footprint materializes mysteriously on a deserted shore a giant helmet falls from the sky a traveler awakens to find his horse dangling from a church steeple Eighteenth century British fiction brims with moments such as these in which the prosaic rubs up against the marvelous While it is a truism that the period's literature is distinguished by its realism and air of probability Eighteenth Century Fiction and the Reinvention of Wonder argues that wonder is integral to rather than antithetical to the developing techniques of novelistic fiction Positioning its reader on the cusp between recognition and estrangement between faith and doubt modern fiction hinges upon wonder Eighteenth Century Fiction and the Reinvention of Wonder's chapters unfold its new account of British fiction's rise through surprising new readings of classic early novels from Daniel Defoe's Robinson Crusoe to Jane Austen's Northanger Abbey as well as bringing to attention lesser known works most notably Rudolf Raspe's Baron Munchausen's Narrative of His Marvellous Travels In this bold new account the eighteenth century bears witness not to the world's disenchantment but rather to wonder's relocation from the supernatural realm to the empirical world providing a re-evaluation not only of how we look back at the Enlightenment but also of how we read today
