Tribute System and Rulership in Late Imperial China Ralph Kauz, Morris Rossabi, 2022-04-11 Demanding and offering tribute is a most common feature in human societies and nothing special to China In the course of the development of Neolithic and later societies social classes have developed where persons who achieved superior positions first could demand presents or tribute from neighboring societies they defeated and then with the assistance of sturdy servants from their own people China was certainly no exception to that principle and one of the first terms for tax was thus gong tribute In China's early feudatory social system tribute was demanded from lower political entities and the mutual political relations were already highly developed during the Zhou dynasty 1045-256 BCE. This system of inner Chinese relations became a sort of matrix when China expanded and achieved contact with countries which were more or less independent and thus the tribute system evolved. The individual case studies in this volume focus on the latest manifestations of the tribute system in late Imperial China.

A Typological Approach to Grammaticalization and Lexicalization Janet Zhiquan Xing, 2020-01-20. Based on comparative analyses of diachronic data, the articles in this volume address both theoretical and methodological issues in the study of grammaticalization and lexicalization in both Eastern and Western languages. The central question raised and discussed in this volume is how, if any, typological properties of the two genetically unrelated language families interact with the processes of grammaticalization and lexicalization.

Handbook of Divination and Prognostication in China Michael Lackner, Zhao Lu, 2022-05-20. This is the first comprehensive book that presents the manifold aspects of divination and prognostication in traditional and modern China from the early period of oracle bones to present-day fortune tellers. It introduces what is out there in the field of Chinese divination and prognostication and how we can further explore it, especially through different disciplines. Eminent specialists outline the classifications of divination, recently excavated texts, the relationship between practitioners and clients, the place of the occult arts in cosmology, literature and religion, and the bureaucratic system. Contributors are Constance Cook, Richard J. Smith, Marc Kalinowski, Stephen R. Bokenkamp, L. Lingfeng, Liao Hsien-huei, Philip Clart, Fabrizio Pregadio, Esther Maria Guggenmos, Andrew Schonebaum, and Stephanie Homola.

The Hidden Language of Graphic Signs John Bodel, John P. Bodel, Stephen Houston, 2021-08-19. This book zeroes in on hidden writing and alternative systems of graphic notation, exploring writings that deflect attention from language.

Women in Ancient China Bret Hinsch, 2018-05-14. This pioneering book provides a comprehensive survey of ancient Chinese women's history, covering thousands of years from the Neolithic era to China's unification in 221 BCE. For each period (Neolithic, Shang, Western Zhou, and Eastern Zhou), Bret Hinsch explores central aspects of female life: marriage, family life, politics, ritual, and religious roles. Deeply researched, the book draws on a wide range of Chinese scholarship and primary sources, including transmitted texts, inscriptions, and archaeological evidence. The result is a comprehensive view of women's history from the beginnings of Chinese civilization up to the beginnings of the imperial era. Clear and readable, the book will be invaluable for both students and specialists in gender studies.

The Oracle Bone Inscriptions from Huayuanzhuang East Adam C. Schwartz, 2019-11-18. Since 1899, more than 73,000 pieces of inscribed divination shell and bone have been found inside the moated enclosure of the Anyang core at the former capital of the late Shang state. Nearly all of these divinations were done on behalf of the Shang kings, and has led to the apt characterization that oracle bone inscriptions describe their motivations, experiences, and priorities. There are, however, much smaller sets of divination accounts that were done on behalf of members of the Shang elite other than the king. First noticed in the early 1930s, grouped and periodized shortly thereafter, oracle bone inscriptions produced explicitly by or on behalf of royal family groups reveal information about key aspects of daily life in Shang society that are barely even mentioned in Western scholarship. The newly published Huayuanzhuang East Oracle Bone inscriptions are a spectacular addition to the corpus of texts from Anyang: hundreds of intact or largely intact turtle shells and bovine scapulae densely inscribed with records of the divinations in which they were used. They were produced on the behalf of a mature prince of the royal family whose parents both alive and still very much active almost certainly were the twenty first Shang king Wu Ding r c 1200 B C and his consort Lady Hao fu Hao. The Huayuanzhuang East corpus is an unusually homogeneous set of more than two thousand five hundred divination records produced over a short period of time on behalf of a prince of the royal family. There are typically multiple records of divinations regarding the same or similar topics that can be synchronized together which not only allows for remarkable access into the esoteric world of divination practice but also produce micro reconstructions of what is essentially East Asia's earliest and most complete day and month planner. Because these texts are unusually linguistically transparent and well preserved homogeneous in orthography and content and published to an unprecedentedly high standard they are also ideal material for learning to read and interpret early epigraphic texts. The Huayuanzhuang East oracle bone inscriptions are a tremendously important Shang archive of material documents that were produced by a previously unknown divination and scribal organization. They expose us to an entirely fresh set of perspectives and preoccupations centering on a member of the royal family at the commencement of China's historical period. The completely annotated English translation of the inscriptions is the first of its kind and is a vibrant new source of Shang history that can be accessed to rewrite and supplement what we know about early Chinese civilization and life in the ancient world. Before the discerning reader are the motives preoccupations and experiences of a late Shang prince working simultaneously in service both for his Majesty his parents and his own family.

Ancient Chinese Writing Yahui Xu, 2002

Reading of Shāng Inscriptions Kuang Yu Chen, Zhenhao Song, Yuan Liu, Matthew Anderson, 2020-11-09

This book introduces readers to oracle bone inscriptions OBI the oldest known form of Chinese writing. It presents 120 rubbings made from unearthed animal bones and turtle shells that the Shang royal court employed to record royal divinations 3500 years ago covering topics ranging from ancestor worship rituals and astronomy to agriculture war and hunting. Each rubbing is accompanied by a graph to graph transcription a translation and a detailed annotation. The book is intended for both general readers and scholars who are interested in ancient civilizations and Early China in particular acquainting them not only with OBI graphs and the development of the Chinese writing system but also the history of the Shang Dynasty. The didactic and tutorial format makes this book ideal for teaching and for self learning. Sumerian Egyptian Chinese OBI and Mayan constitute the four pristine writing systems. Of these only Chinese writing has remained logographic and survived to the present day. The study of OBI not only plays a pivotal role in connecting archaeology to history but is also of great importance to the comparative study of the origin of writing and civilization. Though there are numerous books on Mayan and Egyptian hieroglyphs there are very few on OBI this book fills that gap

Returning to Memory An Exhibition of Oracle Bone Script Yaxiao Li,2019

Oracle bone script was the earliest form of Chinese characters carved on turtle plastrons and animal bones using a sharp tool Oracle bone script was used for divination through fire in the Shang dynasty c 1600 1046 BCE This research explores ways to promote and enhance audience interest in the script through storytelling strategies that use interactive technology in an exhibition context Through the course of this study I found that there is a lack of publicity and cultural engagement with oracle bone script and that this has contributed to the general public knowing little about its historical importance Therefore I have created a proposal for an exhibition that showcases through various means this significant Chinese historical legacy researchers
