Age of Inference Philip C. Short, Harvey Henson, John R. McConnell, 2021-12-01 In an age where we are inundated with information the ability to discern verifiable information to make proper decisions and solve problems is ever more critical Modern science which espouses a systematic approach to making inferences requires a certain mindset that allows for a degree of comfort with uncertainty This book offers inspirations and ideas for cultivating the proper mindset for the studying teaching and practicing of science that will be useful for those new to as well as familiar with the field Although a paradigm shift from traditional instruction is suggested in the National Framework for K 12 science this volume is intended to help educators develop a personal mental framework in which to transition from a teacher centered didactical approach to a student centered evidence guided curriculum While the topics of the book derive from currently published literature on STEM education as they relate to the National Framework for K 12 Science and the Three Dimensional science instruction embedded in the Next Generation Science Standards this book also examines these topics in the context of a new societal age posited as the Age of Inference and addresses how to make sense of the ever increasing deluge of information that we are experiencing by having a scientific and properly discerning mindset

ENDORSEMENTS This volume takes on one of the thorniest existential problems of our time the contradiction between the exponentially growing amount of information that individuals have access to and the diminished capacity of those individuals to understand it Its chapters provide the reader with an introduction to the relationship between knowledge science and inference needed new approaches to learning science in our new data rich world and a discussion of what we can and must do to reduce or eliminate the growing gap between the inference have s and have nots It is not too much to say that how we resolve the issues outlined in this volume will determine the future of our species on this planet

Joseph L Graves Jr Professor of Biological Sciences North Carolina A we need the ability to draw sound inferences from the data Cultivating a scientific mindset requires fundamental changes to the way we teach and learn This important and well written volume shows how

Bulletin of the Manufacturers Record ,1933 Our Rural Selves Claudia Mitchell, April Mandrona, 2019-04-26 Life in the countryside often perceived as either idyllic or depleted has long been misrepresented Challenging the stereotypes and myths that surround the idea of rurality Our Rural Selves interrogates and represents individual and collective memories of childhood in rural landscapes and small towns Drawing on visual artifacts whose origins range from the early twentieth century to today such as photographs films objects picture books and digital games contributors offer readings of childhood that are geographically ethnically and culturally diverse They examine the memories of Indigenous children the experiences of back to the land youth and boom or bust childhoods within the petroleum farming and fishing industries Illustrating often neglected and overlooked aspects of adolescence this collection suggests new ways of studying social connectedness and collective futures Innovative and revealing in its use of visual studies autoethnography and memory work Our Rural Selves explores representation imagination and what it means to grow up rural in Canada Encyclopedia of Associations ,1992

Constitutional Change and Constitutionalism in Africa ,2025-05-16 The new generation of African constitutions crafted in the 1990s marked the beginning of a trend that promised a radical transformation of the continent's governance landscape This movement aimed to eliminate the risks of coups and political instability that had plagued Africa since the 1960s by embedding democracy and constitutionalism However the wave of constitutional reforms post 1990s seems to have sparked a contagious fever of making unmaking and remaking constitutions The nature and frequency of these changes threaten to undermine the progress made in entrenching a culture of constitutionalism good governance and respect for the rule of law It is therefore no surprise that there is almost universal agreement that Africa is now facing a profound crisis of democracy and constitutionalism Constitutional Change and Constitutionalism in Africa examines the nature and extent of these changes which have been occurring more frequently and sometimes more arbitrarily than anticipated Among the main questions investigated are the constitution making process and the roles of various internal actors such as the legislature executive and judiciary as well as external actors like the African Union and Regional Economic Communities in the different processes of constitutional change Ultimately the discussions aim to explore how the processes of constitutional change whether inevitable and unavoidable or contrived can be conducted in a manner that does not undermine or threaten the efforts to entrench democracy constitutionalism good governance and respect for the rule of law on the African continent
