Creative Art Grade9 November 2014:

Creativity in Music Education Yukiko Tsubonou,Ai-Girl Tan,Mayumi Oie,2018-12-17 This book creates a platform for music educators to share their experience and expertise in creative music teaching and learning with the international community It presents research studies and practices that are original and representative of music education in the Japanese Asian and international communities It also collects substantial literature on music education research in Japan and other Asian societies enabling English speaking readers to access excellent research and practical experiences in non English societies

Children's Images of Identity Jill Brown,Nicola F. Johnson,2015-06-25 The understandings which children have of Indigenous identity provide means by which to explore the ways in which Indigenous identity is both projected and constructed in society These understandings play a powerful part in the ways in which Indigenous peoples are positioned in the mainstream society with which they are connected The research presented in this edited collection uses children s drawings to illuminate and explore the images children both mainstream and Indigenous have of Indigenous peoples The data generated by this process allows exploration of the ways in which Indigenous identity is understood globally through a series of locally focussed studies connected by theme and approach The data serves to illuminate both the space made available by mainstream groups and aspects of modernity accommodated within the Indigenous sense of self Our aim within this project has been to analyse and discuss the ways in which children construct identity both their own and that of others Children were asked to share their thoughts through drawings which were then used as the basis for conversation with the researchers In this way the interaction between mainstream modernity and traditional Indigenous identity is made available for discussion and the connection between children s lived experiences of identity and the wider global discussion is both immediately enacted and located within broader international understandings of Indigenous cultures and their place in the world

Popular Music, Cultural Politics and Music Education in China Wai-Chung Ho, 2016-12-08 While attention has been paid to various aspects of music education in China to date no single publication has systematically addressed the complex interplay of sociopolitical transformations underlying the development of popular music and music education in the multilevel culture of China Before the implementation of the new curriculum reforms in China at the beginning of the twenty first century there was neither Chinese nor Western popular music in textbook materials Popular culture had long been prohibited in school music education by China's strong revolutionary orientation which feared spiritual pollution by Western cultures However since the early twenty first century education reform has attempted to help students deal with experiences in their daily lives and has officially included learning the canon of popular music in the music curriculum In relation to this topic this book analyses how social transformation and cultural politics have affected community relations and the transmission of popular music through school music education Ho presents music and music education as sociopolitical constructions of nationalism and globalization Moreover how popular music is received in national and global contexts and how it affects the construction of social and musical meanings in school music education as well as the reformation of music education in mainland China is discussed Based on the perspectives of school music teachers and students the findings of the empirical studies in this book address the power and potential use of popular music in school music education as a producer and reproducer of cultural politics in the music curriculum in the mainland

From STEM to STEAM David A. Sousa, Tom Pilecki, 2018-01-31 Art and science both hinge on discovery and discovery requires thinking out of the box But how do you lead students to think creatively in STEM education The answer is STEAM and A is for the arts STEAM the integration of music visual arts and drama into daily STEM instruction is proven to enhance student achievement in STEM subjects After all creative real world problem solving is what working scientists and mathematicians actually do But how do busy STEM educators weave arts activities into a sometimes inflexible STEM curriculum In this new edition of From STEM to STEAM the ground breaking bestseller the authors provide lessons from the field to detail the way Authors David Sousa expert in educational neuroscience and Tom Pilecki veteran arts educator pool their combined eighty years of expertise to deliver Research studies in cognitive and social neuroscience including new findings on how technology is rewiring students brains that demonstrate how arts activities enhance creativity problem solving memory systems motor coordination and analytical skills all critical elements to achieving STEM objectives Classroom tested strategies and techniques for integrating the arts into STEM instruction including sample K-12 lessons plans and planning templates Tools for building a professional development program designed to help arts and STEM teachers collaborate to create STEAM lessons Sample planning frameworks that provide a smooth transition from STEM to STEAM including advice on adapting

STEAM to meet the individual needs and limitations of a school or district A list of resources available to teachers in the STEM subjects in the arts in arts integration and for STEAM The main objective of both art and science is discovery Lead your students to make that connection and STEAM ahead to academic success Globalization, Nationalism, and Music Education in the Twenty-First Century in Greater China Wai-Chung Ho,2025-10-01 Globalization Nationalism and Music Education in the Twenty First Century in Greater China examines the recent developments in school education and music education in Greater China Mainland China Hong Kong and Taiwan and the relationship between and integration of national cultural identity and globalization in their respective school curriculums Regardless of their common history and cultural backgrounds in recent decades these localities have experienced divergent political cultural and educational structures Through an analysis of the literature official curriculum documents approved music textbooks and a survey questionnaire and in depth interviews with music teachers this book also examines the ways in which policies for national identity formation and globalization interact to complement and contradict each other in the context of music education in respect to national and cultural values in the three territories Wai Chung Ho s substantive research interests include the sociology of music China s education system and the comparative study of East Asian music education Her research focuses on education and development with an emphasis on the impact of the interplay between globalization nationalization and localization on cultural development and school music education [Congressional Record United States.
