I'm a dinner lady at our village primary school. That is, I cook the school dinners. We call it dinner, but you can also call it lunch. I know the school really well because my son went there when he was little. He's fourteen now, so he goes to a different school, but my sister's little boy, my nephew, is seven, so he goes to the school. It's a village school and the children are aged between four and eleven.

I have to wear an awful, baggy, blue dress for work and a white paper hat! I also wear my black trainers, because they're more comfortable than shoes, and I have to stand up for a long time.

I usually get to work at eleven fifteen. I live next to the school, so it doesn't take me long to get here! First, I have to set the tables in the school hall. After that, we prepare the food in the large kitchen. I'm always very busy. There are 420 children at the school and four hundred of them have school dinners! A few of the children bring in packed lunches, but most of them eat our food. We have to use the freshest vegetables and
