Dates For Academic Year 2015 2016 In Pwani University:

Zanzibar Was a Country Nathaniel Mathews, 2024-04-09 Zanzibar Was a Country traces the history of a Swahili speaking Arab diaspora from East Africa to Oman. In Oman today whole communities in Muscat speak Swahili have recent East African roots and practice forms of sociality associated with the urban culture of the Swahili coast. These Omani Zanzibaris offer the most significant contemporary example in the Gulf as well as in the wider Indian Ocean region of an Afro Arab community that maintains a living connection to Africa in a diasporic setting. While they come from all over East Africa a large number are postrevolution exiles and emigrants from Zanzibar. Their stories provide a framework for the broader transregional entanglements of decolonization in Africa and the Arabian Gulf. Using both vernacular historiography and life histories of men and women from the community Nathaniel Mathews argues that the traumatic memories of the Zanzibar Revolution of 1964 are important to nation building on both sides of the Indian Ocean.

Boundaries, Communities and State-Making in West Africa Paul Nugent, 2019-06-06 By examining three centuries of history this book shows how vital border regions have been in shaping states and social contracts.

Sweet Deal, Bitter Landscape Youjin B. Chung, 2024-01-15 Sweet Deal Bitter Landscape brings us to the mid 2000s when the Tanzanian government struck a deal with a foreign investor to convert more than 20 000 hectares of long settled coastal land to establish a sugarcane plantation. Ten years on the deal was abruptly abandoned. Popularly deemed a case of hubristic global development critics classified this project another in a line of failed modern resource grabs. Youjin B. Chung argues such tidy accounts conceal myriad and profound implications not only how gender history and culture shaped the project's trajectory but also how even in its stalled state the deal upended social life on the land by setting in motion incomplete processes of development and dispossession. With rich ethnographic detail and visual storytelling Sweet Deal Bitter Landscape traces the lived experiences of diverse rural women and men as they struggled for survival under a seemingly endless condition of liminality. In so doing she raises critical questions about the directions and stakes of postcolonial development and nation building in Tanzania and the shifting meanings of identity and belonging for those on the margins of capitalist agrarian transformation.

An Introduction to Global Health Delivery Joia Mukherjee, 2022 In 2019 a child born in Japan will live to the age of 84 whereas a child born in Sierra Leone will only live until the age of 54. 1 Similar disparities exist between rich and poor communities within countries. 2 These differences in life expectancy are not caused by genetics biology or culture. Health inequities are caused by poverty racism a lack of medical care and other social forces that influence health. A critical analysis of the historical roots of this gross and systemic inequality and of the political economy that continues inequality is a fundamental part of the study of global health.

Peace Through Entrepreneurship Steven R. Koltai, 2016-08-30 Joblessness is the root cause of the global unrest threatening American security. Fostering entrepreneurship is the remedy. The combined weight of American diplomacy and military power cannot end unrest and extremism in the Middle East and other troubled regions of the world. Steven Koltai argues. Koltai says an alternative approach would work investing in entrepreneurship and reaping the benefits of the jobs created through entrepreneurial startups From 9 11 and the Arab Spring to the self proclaimed Islamic caliphate instability and terror breed where young people cannot find jobs Koltai marshals evidence to show that joblessness not religious or cultural conflict is the root cause of the unrest that vexes American foreign policy and threatens international security Drawing on Koltai s stint as senior adviser for Entrepreneurship in Secretary Hillary Clinton s State Department and his thirty year career as a successful entrepreneur and business executive Peace through Entrepreneurship argues for the significant elevation of entrepreneurship in the service of foreign policy not rural microfinance or mercantile trading but the scalable stuff of Silicon Valley and Sam Walton generating the vast majority of new jobs in economies large and small Peace through Entrepreneurship offers a nonmilitary long term solution at a time of disillusionment with Washington s big development approach to unstable and underdeveloped parts of the world and when the new normal is fear of terrorist attacks against Western targets beheadings in Syria and jihad Extremism will not be resolved by a war on terror The answer Koltai shows is stimulating entrepreneurial economic opportunities for the virtually limitless supply of desperate unemployed young men and women leading lives of endless economic frustration

The Green State in Africa Carl Death,2016-09-27 A provocative reassessment of the relationship between states and environmental politics in Africa From climate related risks such as crop failure and famine to longer term concerns about sustainable urbanization environmental justice and biodiversity conservation African states face a range of environmental issues As Carl Death demonstrates the ways in which they are addressing them have important political ramifications and challenge current understandings of green politics Death draws on almost a decade of research to reveal how central African environmental politics are to the transformation of African states

Political Thought and the Public Sphere in Tanzania Emma Hunter,2015-04-27 This book is a study of the interplay of vernacular and global languages of politics during Africa's decolonization Citizenship in Africa Bronwen Manby, 2018-11-29

Citizenship in Africa provides a comprehensive exploration of nationality laws in Africa placing them in their theoretical and historical context. It offers the first serious attempt to analyse the impact of nationality law on politics and society in different African states from a trans-continental comparative perspective. Taking a four-part approach, Parts I and II set the book within the framework of existing scholarship on citizenship from both sociological and legal perspectives and examine the history of nationality laws in Africa from the colonial period to the present day. Part III considers case studies which illustrate the application and misapplication of the law in practice and the relationship of legal and political developments in each country. Finally, Part IV explores the impact of the law on politics and its relevance for questions of identity and belonging today, concluding with a set of issues for further research. Ambitious in scope and compelling in analysis, this is an important new work on citizenship in Africa. Searching for a New Kenya Stephanie Diepeveen, 2021-05-06

Searching for a New Kenya analyses public discussion in urban Kenya focusing on the gatherings of citizens both in person and online where people discuss issues of common concern to shed light on the role public discussion plays in politics and how social media affects political movements. Through rich ethnographic study of politics on the ground and online in Mombasa, Stephanie Diepeveen brings a fresh perspective on the wider challenges and dynamics of negotiating political narratives across protracted historical debates and changing digital media. Based on a critical revision of Hannah Arendt's ideas about action and power, this study explores the different dynamics of public talk in practice. It contributes to wider debates about the place and limitations of the Western canon in relation to the study of politics elsewhere while also offering a nuanced view of why and how certain terms of debate persist in Kenya and where the potential for change lies for public talk across changing media.

Conflictology Francis Onditi, 2020-05-28 Over the past three decades, scholars, students and policy makers studying and engaged in conflict resolution have veered between conflict management and resolution. However, the changing nature of conflict, which is taking the form of radicalization and extremism, are deeply rooted in individual's ideology, personalities and genes, hence rendering the conventional macro-level power balance analytics obsolete. The psychology and human genetics are at the center of this evolution. This shift in conflict trends and methods of warfare in Africa and the world over demands that we search for alternative approaches, mechanisms and innovative responses. It is against this background that this new book initiates a fundamental debate on how interdisciplinary adventure could increase the understanding of mankind and the socio-biological systems surrounding man, hence the emphasis on the discipline of Conflictology to embody scientific approaches, methods and prescription to conflict resolution. For instance, does individual's gene influence human behaviours such as hate? If so, can this be corrected through gene transposition? If human relations should be anchored on peace, what are these genetic and behavioural factors that create hate and violence? How then should such a gene or neurobiological system be altered in order to prevent extremism and radicalization? Resilience of coastal systems and their human partners

International Union for the Conservation of Nature and Natural Resources (IUCN),2015-07-09 This report explains the ecology and social profile of coastal systems in Kenya Mozambique and Tanzania in order to contribute to the development of effective strategies to enhance the resilience of marine and coastal systems in the Western Indian Ocean Special consideration is given to the effects and consequences of climate change and economic development The Legacy of Monitoring and Evaluation in Health and Social Development Stephen Bell, Peter Aggleton, 2016-02-01 New approaches are needed to monitor and evaluate health and social development Existing strategies tend to require expensive time consuming analytical procedures The growing emphasis on results based programming has resulted in evaluation being conducted in order to demonstrate accountability and success rather than how change takes place what works and why The tendency to monitor and evaluate using log frames and their variants closes policy makers and practitioners eyes to the sometimes unanticipated means by which change takes place Two recent developments hold the potential to transcend these difficulties and to lead to important changes in the way in which the effects of health and social development programming are understood First there is growing interest in ways of monitoring programmes and assessing impact that are more grounded in the realities of practice than many of the results based methods currently utilised Second there are calls for the greater use of interpretive and ethnographic methods in programme design monitoring and evaluation Responding to these concerns this book illustrates the potential of interpretative methods to aid understanding and make a difference in real people s lives Through a focus on individual and community perspectives and locally grounded explanations the methods explored in this book offer a potentially richer way of assessing the relationships between intent action and change in health and social development in Africa Asia Europe and the Americas
