Halvorsen: Sharing Knowledge, Transforming Societi ,2023-01-10 In June 2016 the Norwegian Programme for Capacity Development in Higher Education and Research for Development Norhed hosted a conference on the theme of knowledge for development in an attempt to shift the focus of the programme towards its academic content This book follows up on that event The conference highlighted the usefulness of presenting the value of Norhed s different projects to the world showing how they improve knowledge and expand access to it through co operation A wish for more meta knowledge was also expressed and this gives rise to the following questions Is this way of co operating contributing to the growth of independent post colonial knowledge production in the South based on analyses of local data and experiences in ways that are relevant to our shared future Does the growth of academic independence as well as greater equality and the ability to develop theories different to those imposed by the better off parts of the world give rise to deeper understandings and better explanations Does it at least spread the ability to translate existing methodologies in ways that add meaning to observations of local context and data and thus enhance the relevance and influence of the academic profession locally and internationally This book in its varied contributions does not provide definite answers to these questions but it does show that Norhed is a step in the right direction Norhed is an attempt to fund collaboration within and between higher education institutions We know that both the uniqueness of this programme and ideas of how to better utilise the learning and experience emerging from it call for more elaboration and broader dissemination before we can offer further guidance on how to do things better This book is a first attempt Transforming Tertiary Agricultural Education in Africa David Kraybill,John Lynam,Adipala

Ekwamu,2021-11-24 Enormous changes are affecting African production agriculture urbanization and food consumption patterns requiring new approaches to training and knowledge generation and dissemination to achieve food security Many agricultural universities and other tertiary agricultural education TAE organizations have been slow to respond hindered by inadequate staffing and facilities and growing competition for funds However some African agricultural universities are transforming themselves and are achieving remarkable success This book documents successful approaches to remaking TAE in Africa to inspire leaders both formal and informal of other TAE organizations It emphasises adaptive strategies and processes creating an internal culture driven by stakeholder needs and where organizational transformation improves the quality and relevance of teaching research and outreach The chapters cover the role of TAE in agricultural transformation trends in TAE in Africa solutions to the rigour versus relevance dilemma curriculum design informed by actual and emerging labour market conditions innovation and entrepreneurship TAE quality assurance and networking among TAE institutions

Research Universities in Africa Cloete, Nico,Bunting, Ian,2018-11-09 From the early 2000s a new discourse emerged in Africa and the international donor community that higher education was important for development in Africa Within this zeitgeist of converging interests a range of agencies agreed that a different collaborative approach to linking higher education to development was necessary This led to the establishment of the Higher Education Research and Advocacy Network in Africa Herana to concentrate on research and advocacy about the possible role and contribution of universities to development in Africa This book is the final publication to emerge from the Herana project The project has also published more than 100 articles chapters reports manuals and datasets and many presentations have been delivered to share insights gained from the work done by Herana Given its prolific dissemination it seems reasonable to ask whether this fourth and final publication will offer the reader anything new This book is certainly different from previous publications in several respects First it is the only book to include an analysis of eight African universities based on the full 15 years of empirical data collected by the project Second previous books and reports were published mid project This book has benefited from an extended gestation period allowing the authors and contributors to reflect on the project without the distractions associated with managing and participating in a large scale project For the first time some of those who have been involved in Herana since its inception have had the opportunity to at least make an attempt to see part of the wood for the trees Different does not necessarily mean new An emphasis on the newness of the data and perspectives presented in this book is important because it shows that it is more than a historical record of a donor funded project Rather each chapter in this book brings to a lesser or greater extent something new to our understanding of universities research and development in Africa

Investing in Reproductive, Maternal, Newborn, Child, and Adolescent Health in Uganda Elizabeth Asege Ekochu, Julia Mensah, Rogers Ayiko, Stephen Kisembe Kiirya, Brendan Michael Hayes, Collins Chansa, Richard Crabbe, Grace Murindwa, Marc DeFrancis, 2024-03-22 In Uganda conditions in reproductive maternal newborn child and adolescent health RMNCAH remain the primary drivers of morbidity and mortality accounting for 60 percent of years of life lost The high burden of these conditions can be attributed to a poor quality of care resulting from inadequate financial human and material resources compounded by weak multisectoral coordination Moreover the country's high population growth rate and a young population imply that RMNCAH service delivery will continue to dominate health sector reforms even with the increasing prevalence of noncommunicable and infectious diseases Over the past two decades Uganda has focused on improving the quality of RMNCAH service delivery leading to declines in the maternal infant and under five mortality ratios and the increased use of modern contraception among married women However the neonatal mortality and teenage pregnancy rates have stagnated and the low civil registration of births and deaths remains challenging Investing in Reproductive Maternal Newborn Child and Adolescent Health in Uganda What Have We Learned and Where Do We Go from Here comprises 12 studies conducted as part of the RMNCAH Operational Research Program drafted between 2019 and 2021 and finalized and disseminated in October 2022 across 45 districts of Uganda with funding from Sweden and the World Bank These studies underscore important lessons learned and offer suggestions for enhancing the delivery of RMNCAH interventions Each chapter represents one study and discusses service delivery the health workforce financing health information systems and governance and leadership Two appendixes summarize key findings and recommendations and explain the roles of key stakeholders in the RMNCAH Operational Research Program

The Paris Framework for Climate Change Capacity Building Mizan R Khan,J. Timmons Roberts,Saleemul Huq,Victoria Hoffmeister,2018-04-09 The Paris Framework for Climate Change Capacity Building pioneers a new era of climate change governance performing the foundational job of clarifying what is meant by the often ad hoc one off uncoordinated ineffective and unsustainable practices of the past decade described as capacity building to address climate change As an alternative this book presents a framework on how to build effective and sustainable capacity systems to meaningfully tackle this long term problem Such a reframing of capacity building itself requires means of implementation The authors combine their decades long experiences in climate negotiations developing climate solutions climate activism and peer reviewed research to chart a realistic roadmap for the implementation of this alternative framework for capacity building As a result this book convincingly makes the case that universities as the highest and sustainable seats of learning and research in the developing countries should be the central hub of capacity building there This will be a valuable resource for students researchers and policy makers in the areas of climate change and environmental studies
