in Africa Paul Ugor, 2021 The edited collection focuses on the links between young people and African popular culture It explores popular culture produced and consumed by young people in contemporary Africa And by culture we mean all kinds of texts or representations visual oral written performative fictional social and virtual created by African youth mostly about their lives and their immediate societies and for themselves but also consumed by the larger public and shared locally and globally We proceed from the premise that cultural texts not only function as social facts as Karin Barber argues but that they double as commentaries upon and interpretations of social facts They are part of social reality but they also take up an attitude to social reality 2007 04 So the work focuses specifically on what African youth produce as popular culture under what conditions or contexts they produce such work how they produce those texts why they produce them the aesthetic dimensions of these texts as cultural artifacts and why these textual practices matter as social facts as interpretive acts and as cultural symbols of the general cultural activism of young people in a rapidly changing world a world where the global cultural economy is the prime terrain for the relentless struggles over the meanings that come to shape political economic and social systems

Faith, Race and Inequality amongst Young Adults in South Africa Nadine Bowers Du Toit, 2022-07-04 For many young South African adults often called born frees who were born just before or just after the demise of political apartheid the ongoing realities of poverty and inequality bring to light the question of whether they truly are free in contemporary South Africa Their lived experiences of poverty and inequality seem to be in conflict with theologically laden concepts that remain prominent in social and political life such as reconciliation forgiveness justice and restitution This leads to a bi directional process of contesting and being contested by such notions and discourses Furthermore in light of the double legacy of both the church and youth as resisting injustice this publication seeks to explore the many perspectives from which the Christian faith race and inequality amongst youth can be brought to light #RhodesMustFall B.

Nyamnjoh, 2016-04-18 This book on rights entitlements and citizenship in post apartheid South Africa shows how the playing field has not been as levelled as presumed by some and how racism and its benefits persist Through everyday interactions and experiences of university students and professors it explores the question of race in a context still plagued by remnants of apartheid inequality and perceptions of inferiority and inadequacy among the majority black population In education black voices and concerns go largely unheard as circles of privilege are continually regenerated and added onto a layered and deep history of cultivation of black pain These issues are examined against the backdrop of organised student protests sweeping through the countrys universities with a renewed clamour for transformation around a rallying cry of Black Lives Matter The nuanced complexity of this insightful analysis of the Rhodes Must Fall movement elicits compelling questions about the attractions and dangers of exclusionary articulations of belonging What could a grand imperialist like the stripling Uitlander or foreigner of yesteryear Sir Cecil John Rhodes possibly have in common with the present day nimble footed makwerekwere from Africa north of the Limpopo The answer Nyamnjoh suggests is to be found in how human mobility relentlessly tests the boundaries of citizenship
