A Literary Education Catherine Levison, 2006-03 A list of recommended books with annotations and reading levels for homeschoolers to use in their teaching Literary Education and Other Essays Joseph Epstein, 2014-06-01 Who invented the personal essay That is hard to say The ancient Roman philosopher and cynical power broker Seneca The 16th century French philosopher Montaigne certainly brought it to a peak of perfection There were many 19th century masters not so many after that Who is the greatest living essayist writing in English That requires no debate at all It is unquestionably Joseph Epstein He is not only the best living essayist he is right up there in the company of Seneca and Montaigne but one of our own living in our era and dealing with our pleasures and travails Epstein is penetrating He is witty He has a magic touch with words that hard to define but immediately recognizable quality called style Above all he is impossible to put down Epstein reads omnivorously and brings us the best of what he reads passages that we would never have found on our own How easy it is today in the digital age drowning in emails and other ephemera to forget the simple delight of reading for no intended purpose Like any master essayist however this one brings us more than the shared experience of a lifetime of reading He brings us himself alternately scolding and charming sparkling and deep buoyant and sad zany and wise rebellious and conservative bookworm and sports fan clever and everyman debunker and preservationist deep into high culture deep into low culture curious fresh and settled in his ways This is the friend we all wish we could have the ideal humane companion who is completely comfortable in his own human skin Like Plutarch he gives us life teaching by example but with a wry smile and such a sure hand that we hardly notice the instruction It is pure pleasure Literary Education James Literary Education and Digital Learning: Methods and Technologies for Humanities Studies Peer, Gribble,1963 Willie van, Zyngier, Sonia, Viana, Vander, 2010-06-30 This book provides insight into the most relevant issues in literary education and digital learning covering literary aspects both from educational and research perspectives Provided by publisher Discussions on Philosophy and Literature, Education and University Reform Sir William Hamilton, 1852

Radical Literary Education Jeffrey Cane Robinson,1987 The poem in the college classroom usually appears as an autonomous object to be dissected thus revealing its internal relations image patterns meter and rhyme schemes and types of figurative language Jeffrey C Robinson a college teacher for many years believes that there is a better way to teach poetry His conviction developed over many years and acted upon in his own classroom has led to a pedagogy that urges the teaching of each poem by examining it in its various contexts The result as expressed in this book is a moving exploration of the relationships among scholarship teaching and learning of critical importance to all teachers of literature as well as to those concerned with educational theory Robinson demonstrates his pedagogy with a case study the teaching of Wordsworth's Ode Intimations of Immortality from Recollections of Early Childhood He interprets the students fascinating and moving confusions and discoveries as the Ode loses its consoling aura and as their thinking takes a correspondingly more energetic critical and self reflective turn As a teacher the author whose muted autobiography itself enriches the context has had his own concerns to which this book provides some answers How would a prolonged encounter with one poem significantly alter students learning Would the poem seen in its social relations become less an object of worship and more an occasion for the students own exploration of the place of art in society and in their own education This book has emerged out of these questions As well as being a full rehearsal of the actual literary and historical contexts of Wordsworth's Ode it is a meditation on the sociology of literary education and necessarily the learning apparatus of the late adolescent Education John Drew, 2025-09-24 This book examines the complicated place of animals in literary analysis and education and shows how an ethically engaged approach to animals representation could be pursued to challenge anthropocentrism and cultivate multispecies empathy Other species are represented in the literary education canon including farmed animals Yet the animals are typically anthropomorphized to guide students toward humanist readings and away from consideration of animals experiences or subjectivities. This reproduces the idea that animals are mere objects meant to be exploited for human purposes even metaphorical and educational ones John Drew develops the term anthropo allegory to capture and critique the process through which students are taught to read animal literary representations exclusively as symbolic analogues for humans and human themes The concept serves as an analytical lens for critically interrogating significant texts taught across educational levels and exposing the deeply engrained educational anthropocentrism that silences animal issues even when animals are represented Crucially Drew identifies texts and pedagogical strategies that can help cultivate a literary educational animal ethic that simultaneously encourages analytical rigour and multispecies concern The Respective Functions of Literature and Science in Education.
