sportsman who made a good thing out of the ivory which he carried away as his spoils The hunting of big game demands of its devotees many sacrifices The hunter must be prepared to endure many and varied hardships in the pursuance of his vocation Hunger thirst fatigue the rigors of climate the scorching sun by day the fever laden mists of night these and many other trials must he encounter if he would taste to the full the joys of the hunter s life Going to South Africa when he was 19 Selous travelled from the Cape of Good Hope to Matabeleland which he reached early in 1872 and where according to his own account he was granted permission by Lobengula King of the Ndebele to shoot game anywhere in his dominions From then until 1890 with a few brief intervals spent in England Selous hunted and explored over the then little known regions north of the Transvaal and south of the Congo Basin shooting elephants and collecting specimens of all kinds for museums and private collections His travels added greatly to the knowledge of the country now known as Zimbabwe He made valuable ethnological investigations and throughout his wanderings often among people who had never previously seen a white man he maintained cordial relations with the chiefs and tribes winning their confidence and esteem notably so in the case of Lobengula In 1890 Selous entered the service of the British South Africa Company at the request of magnate Cecil Rhodes acting as guide to the pioneer expedition to Mashonaland Over 400 miles of road were constructed through a country of forest mountain and swamp and in two and a half months Selous took the column safely to its destination He then went east to Manica concluding arrangements which brought the country there under British control Coming to England in December 1892 he was awarded the Founder s Medal of the Royal Geographical Society in recognition of his extensive explorations and surveys
