products are essential sources of food and industrial raw materials worldwide. It is well known that with the growth of the global population the demand for beef and dairy products will continue to rise. Various forecasts predict further increases in this demand over the coming decades. To meet the world population's growing needs for meat and dairy, it is necessary to further enhance the efficiency and sustainability of ruminant livestock production. This book presents the latest scientific advancements in ruminant nutrition. Chapters address such topics as feeding solutions to improve the quality of animal-derived products and reduce harmful greenhouse emissions, the effects of heat stress on ruminants, the importance of animal health in ensuring the production of safe and high quality food raw materials, and the intersection of nutrition and the leather industry.

Human Language Peter Hagoort, 2019-10-29. A unique overview of the human language faculty at all levels of organization. Language is not only one of the most complex cognitive functions that we command; it is also the aspect of the mind that makes us uniquely human. Research suggests that the human brain exhibits a language readiness not found in the brains of other species. This volume brings together contributions from a range of fields to examine human language capacity from multiple perspectives, analyzing it at genetic, neurobiological, psychological, and linguistic levels. In recent decades, advances in computational modeling, neuroimaging, and genetic sequencing have made possible new approaches to the study of language, and the contributors draw on these developments. The book examines cognitive architectures, investigating the functional organization of the major language skills, learning and development trajectories, summarizing the current understanding of the steps and neurocognitive mechanisms in language processing, evolutionary and other preconditions for communication, by means of natural language computational tools for modeling language cognitive neuroscientific methods that allow observations of the human brain in action including fMRI EEG MEG and others the neural infrastructure of language capacity the genome's role in building and maintaining the language ready brain and insights from studying such language relevant behaviors in nonhuman animals as birdsong and primate vocalization Section editors Christian F Beckmann Carel ten Cate Simon E Fisher Peter Hagoort Evan Kidd Stephen C Levinson James M McQueen Antje S Meyer David Poeppel Caroline F Rowland Constance Scharff Ivan Toni Willem Zuidema
