Human Digital Twins for Medical and Product Engineering Jörg Miehl, Anne D. Koelewijn, Julie Choisne, 2024-10-25

The current trend towards digitalization of human centred engineering processes in conjunction with advances in biomechanistic modelling high performance computing artificial intelligence AI and sensor technology leads to unprecedented transformation potentials in medical product and human factors engineering for the enhancement of human technology interaction as well as medical treatment outcomes Biomechanical simulations hold high potential by revealing the processes and inner strain conditions of the human body For reliable simulation results a model suitable for the application and a way to measure estimate predict the human motion behaviour and the interaction with the environment and or interacting technology are necessary In this context we refer to a human digital twin as an extension and connection of participant person specific biomechanical human models with data streams from clinical observation operational use of technology or daily life Each human digital twin is an instance digitally representing a specific person in healthy or pathological state suitable for the specified application Scientific and Technical Aerospace Reports, 1981 Lists citations with abstracts for aerospace related reports obtained from world wide sources and announces documents that have recently been entered into the NASA Scientific and Technical Information Database Recent Advances in Freshwater Crustacean Biodiversity and Conservation

Tadashi Kawai, D. Christopher Rogers, 2021-03-07 Recent Advances in Freshwater Crustacean Biodiversity and Conservation focuses on minor crustacean groups and regionally endemic groups all from freshwaters Chapters in this book cover crustaceans such as Maxillopods Mysids Cumaceans Isopods Amphipods Branchiopods Copepods and Decapods Each looks at global or regional fauna and discusses conservation issues for that group The majority of the chapters are based on papers presented at symposia organized by the editors at two international scientific meetings held in Barcelona and Washington DC The contributors are world renowned experts on their groups as well as on freshwater crustacean conservation and biodiversity at global levels It has previously been difficult for conservation managers NGOs and university professors and students who may not have access to comprehensive journal subscriptions to find relevant information on diversity and conservation of freshwater crustaceans This book meets that need addressing crustacean groups not previously treated and providing additional information beyond any presented in existing books As the editors write in their introduction we cannot conserve and we cannot protect what we do not know exists This is a reliable cutting edge reference for anybody involved in crustacean research students researchers agencies and NGOs as well as science educators conservationists and government conservation policymakers The book will also be useful for those working in aquaculture and fisheries given that many of the taxa discussed are economically important Popular Photography, 1991-01
