

American Vision, Ch. 3 Guided Reading

Review

Christopher Columbus sailed his blue globe eastward on ships' side and set sail westward on Spanish ships westward to the New Americas. Vision, land, wealth, power, glory, and other motivations operated in the competition between Columbus and other discoverers of the Americas, such as Amerigo Vesputi, Juan Cabot, and others. The Americas were first shown on maps about 1492, and the primary evidence that they were in the Americas came from the accounts of Columbus and other explorers. Columbus's voyages were the first to reach the Americas from Europe. The passage of time has shown that Columbus's voyages were not the first to reach the Americas, but they were the first to reach the Americas from Europe and to establish a permanent colony in the Americas.
