German Literature of the Twentieth Century Ingo Roland Stoehr, 2001 Traces literary developments in the German speaking countries from 1900 to the present This study of German literature in the past hundred years sets its subject clearly in the artistic and political context of developments in Western Europe during the century It begins with the turn of the century aestheticism and visions of decay led by Schnitzler Hofmannsthal and other Austrian writers and the quite different explosion of new artistic energy in the Expressionist and Dada movements These movements are succeeded by the rise of Modernism culminating in the inter war years the poetry of Rilke Brecht's epic theatre and novels by Thomas Mann Kafka Hesse Musil Döblin and Brecht the influence of Nazism on literary production is considered The study of developments after 1945 reflects the struggle to establish a post Holocaust literature and to deal with the questions posed by the political division of Germany Finally the convergence of East and West German literature after unification is addressed Ingo R Stoehr teaches literature at Kilgore College Texas and is editor of the bilingual journal of German literature in English translation

Dimension2 Representations of Flight and Expulsion in East German Prose Works William John Niven, 2014 Explodes the conventional wisdom that there was a taboo on the topic of flight and expulsion in East Germany It is by now almost a cliché that the flight and expulsion of Germans from east central Europe at the end of the Second World War was a taboo topic in the German Democratic Republic According to this claim the Socialist Unity Party SED suppressed reference to flight and expulsion so as not to upset its socialist neighbors This book shows that such a view does not hold up to serious scrutiny While the topic may not have been addressed in the realm of politics or official commemoration it was picked up again and again in literature particularly fiction Representations of flight and expulsion were by no means restricted as some have asserted to Christa Wolf's novel Kindheitsmuster Niven's study documents around one hundred novels and short stories published in the GDR that address flight or expulsion He argues that in the 1950s and early 1960s GDR fiction included many refugee figures The predominant emphasis was on their integration under socialism rather than their experience of flight and loss of home nevertheless flight and to a lesser degree expulsion were depicted as was their impact on individuals They continued to be portrayed in the late GDR and in post unification east Germany Flight and expulsion were subject to a developing literary discourse in the GDR a discourse that this book explores Bill Niven is Professor in Contemporary German History at Nottingham Trent University The South Atlantic Quarterly John Spencer Bassett, Edwin Mims, William Henry Glasson, William Preston Few, William Kenneth Boyd, William Hane Wannamaker, 1980 The book of the world Richard Swainson Fisher, 1852

Landmarks in the German Novel Peter Hutchinson, Michael Minden, 2007 The nine essays in this volume deal with major achievements in the German novel since 1959 They range from the very well known such as Brüssig's Helden wie wir an extravagant treatment of life under the Stasi and the fall of the Berlin Wall to the much more recondite such as Hubert Fichte's Detlevs Imitationen Gr nspan one of the first and most important products of the abolition of the discrimination against gays in 1969 What is most surprising about this collection is that in contrast to the majority of successful novels written in German before 1959 only one of these is by a clearly West German author Hubert Fichte There is by contrast a surprising number who have their roots in the GDR Plenzdorf Wolf Brüssig Schulze or in Austria Bachmann Bernhard This is also a period in which women writers emerge powerfully Bachmann Wolf and Zdamar Virtually all these novels aroused controversy in some quarters at the time of their publication often for their treatment of semi taboo or at least uncomfortable subject matter These essays all by specialists in the relevant field were originally delivered as lectures in the University of Cambridge

Juli Zeh Necia Chronister, Sonja E. Klocke, Lars Richter, 2024-09-23 This volume casts a critical light on one of Germany's bestselling and most controversial authors Juli Zeh's literary work is not only widely read in Germany but also featured on high school and college syllabi both in Germany and abroad In recent years and in the wake of the Covid 19 lockdowns Zeh's output has only increased though her most recent work Unterleuten 2016 ber Menschen 2021 and Zwischen Welten 2023 co written with Simon Urban has evolved away from the literary and philosophical thought that informed her more nuanced earlier work and towards a more conservative representation of contemporary social dynamics While her work continues to garner prestigious awards Zeh herself who is an honorary judge at the Brandenburg constitutional court and a seemingly omnipresent public intellectual has taken increasingly libertarian positions in recent political debates whether about Germany's public health measures in response to the pandemic or the country's role in the Ukraine war This volume traces the development and broad impact of Zeh's writing while reflecting on the responsibility of the scholars who read and teach it to confront her ambiguous and sometimes troubling politics

History, Fiction, and Germany Brent Orlyn Peterson, 2005 A study of the content development and transmission of German identity during the nineteenth century as Germany's national narrative took shape in historical fiction and in both popular and academic history The German speaking inhabitants of central Europe did not automatically think of themselves as Germans not before 1871 and not always after unification In fact they spoke mutually incomprehensible dialects owed allegiance to different leaders worshiped in different churches and would not have recognized each other's customs If asked about their identity these prospective Germans might have answered Austrian Bavarian or Prussian and they could as easily have used more local labels or resorted to occupational markers For this disparate population to think of itself as German that word had to acquire content people had to learn a whole set of stories they could tell themselves and to others in answer to the question of identity History Fiction and Germany chronicles how German nationalism developed simultaneously with the historical novel and the field of history both at universities and in middlebrow reading material The book examines Germany's emerging national narrative as nineteenth century writers adapted it to their own visions and to changing circumstances These writers found and popularized the nation's heroes and heroines demonized its villains and enemies and projected the nation's hopes and dreams for the future Author Brent O Peterson argues that it was the production and consumption of national history the writing and reading of the nation that filled Germany with Germans Although the task of national narration was never complete and never produced a single universally accepted version of German national identity tales from Germans gradually shared history did more to create Germany than any statesman general or philosopher History Fiction and Germany provides a valuable resource for scholars and students of German studies as well as anyone interested in history and the articulation of national identity The German Novel Roy Pascal,1956 The Book of the World Richard S. Fisher,1852 THE BOOK OF THE WORLD : BEING AN ACCOUNT OF ALL REPUBLICS, EMPIRES, KINGDOMS, AND NATIONS VOL. II RICHARD S. FISHER,1852 A Text-book on Gas, Oil and Air Engines Bryan Donkin,1896
