Sefton-Green, 2013 This book focuses on programs organizations and institutions that have developed in parallel to public schooling which offer education in a non traditional non school setting

Beyond Economic Interests Keiko Yasukawa, Stephen Black, 2016-02-10 Over the last two decades an increasingly economistic discourse has dominated discussions about adult literacy and numeracy This book provides critiques of and alternative narratives to the dominant discourse Authors provide tools and methodologies of critique including ways of seeing how policies in the countries of focus come to be captured almost completely by the interests of business and industry as well as how to critically interpret the data that policy makers use to justify their priorities But adult literacy and numeracy practitioners and learners find spaces and places to pursue learning that matters for the lived experiences of adults and their communities Beyond Economic Interests presents the struggles and achievements of practitioners and learners that lead the readers of the book to critically appreciate that a counter narrative to the purely economistic discourse of adult literacy and numeracy is much needed and possible

Mobility and Cosmopolitanism Vered Amit, Pauline Gardiner Barber, 2018-04-19 In academic descriptions of cosmopolitanism one particularly important distinction often recurs Specifically scholars have been concerned to distinguish between cosmopolitanism as a set of mundane practices and or competences on the one hand and cosmopolitanism as a cultivated form of consciousness or moral aspiration on the other For anthropologists whose ethnographic studies reveal many different expressions of cosmopolitanism this distinction between aspiration and practice can often be quite ambiguous This book therefore brings together five contributions from anthropologists who are reporting on encounters and aspirations that reveal different forms of spatial mobility scales of commitment or risk and are often transient ambivalent and precarious These are circumstances in which cosmopolitanism emerges as uneven and partial rather than as a comprehensive or unequivocal transformation of practice and outlook This book was originally published as a special issue of Identities Global Studies in Culture and Power 000000 040010 000000·000000000000·0000·0000·0000·0000,2014-06-01 TIMSS 2007

Afterschool Matters Ingrid A. Nelson,2016-12-08 Increasingly educational researchers and policy makers are finding that extracurricular programs make a major difference in the lives of disadvantaged youth helping to reduce the infamous academic attainment gap between white students and their black and Latino peers Yet studies of these programs typically focus on how they improve the average academic performance of their participants paying little attention to individual variation Why Afterschool Matters takes a different approach closely following ten Mexican American students who attended the same extracurricular program in California then chronicling its long term effects on their lives from eighth grade to early adulthood Discovering that participation in the program was life changing for some students yet had only a minimal impact on others sociologist Ingrid A Nelson investigates the factors behind these very different outcomes Her research reveals that while afterschool initiatives are important they are only one component in a complex network of school family community and peer interactions that influence the educational achievement of disadvantaged students Through its detailed case studies of individual students this book brings to life the challenges marginalized youth en route to college face when navigating the intersections of various home school and community spheres Why Afterschool Matters may focus on a single program but its findings have major implications for education policy nationwide
