Timmerman,Claudia Pahl-Wostl,Jorn Moltgen,2008-04-14 The Adaptiveness of IWRM provides new insights and knowledge on the challenges and solutions that current water management faces in a situation of complexity and uncertainty Drawing on the available results from a wide range of European research projects under several framework programmes the book provides an overview of the state of the art in European research on Integrated Water Resources Management on the topics of Participation Transboundary regimes Economics Vulnerability Climate change Advanced monitoring Spatial planning and the Social dimensions of water management The achievements of EU research projects are considered in view of the extent to which IWRM responds to the current complexity and uncertainty water management is facing These achievements are positioned in a wider context of worldwide developments in the respective topics which account for the future challenges From this the book concludes with the required focus of European research in the near future and promotes the concept of Adaptive Water Management as the preferred direction for the development of IWRM The book presents the achievements of European IWRM research on a range of water management topics and offers conclusions and recommendations for research foci that will be invaluable to water managers policy makers and academic researchers working in the field of IWRM Arctic Alternatives Franklyn Griffiths,1992-09-15 Discusses the problems that must be resolved if the peoples of the Arctic countries are to develop their region away from militarism and towards civility Handbook on Biodiversity and Ecosystem Services in Impact Assessment Davide Geneletti,2016-06-24 This Handbook presents state of the art methodological guidance and discussion of international practice related to the integration of biodiversity and ecosystem services in impact assessment featuring contributions from leading researchers and practitioners the world over Its multidisciplinary approach covers contributions across five continents to broaden the scope of the field both thematically and geographically

Conservation of Exploited Species John D. Reynolds,2001-10-18 The use of wildlife for food and other human needs poses one of the greatest threats to the conservation of biodiversity Wildlife exploitation is also critically important to many people from a variety of cultures for subsistence and commerce This book brings together international experts to examine interactions between the biology of wildlife and the divergent goals of people involved in hunting fishing gathering and culling wildlife Reviews of theory show how sustainable exploitation is tied to the study of population dynamics with direct links to reproductive rates life histories behaviour and ecology As such theory is rarely put into practice to achieve sustainable use and effective conservation Conservation of Exploited Species explores the many reasons for this failure and considers remedies to tackle them including scientific issues such as how to incorporate uncertainty into estimations as well as social and political problems that stem from conflicting goals in exploitation

Managing Natural Resources for Development in Africa Washington Odongo Ochoa, P. C. Sanginga, Isaac Bekalo, 2010 The complex and dynamic interlinks between natural resource management NRM and development have long been recognized by national and international research and development organizations and have generated voluminous literature However much of what is available in the form of university course books practical learning manuals and reference materials in NRM is based on experiences from outside Africa Managing Natural Resources for Development in Africa A Resource Book provides an understanding of the various levels at which NRM issues occur and are being addressed scientifically economically socially and politically The book's nine chapters present state of the art perspectives within a holistic African context The book systematically navigates the tricky landscape of integrated NRM with special reference to Eastern and Southern Africa against the backdrop of prevailing local national regional and global social economic and environmental challenges The authors' wide experience the rich references made to emerging challenges and opportunities and the presentation of different tools principles approaches case studies and processes make the book a rich and valuable one stop resource for postgraduate students researchers policymakers and NRM practitioners The book is designed to help the reader grasp in depth NRM perspectives and presents innovative guidance for research design and problem solving including review questions learning activities and recommended further reading The book was developed through a writeshop process by a multi disciplinary team of lecturers from the University of Nairobi Egerton University Kenyatta University the University of Zimbabwe the University of Malawi Makerere University and the University of Dar es Salam In addition selected NRM experts from regional and international research organizations including the World Agroforestry Center ICRAF the Africa Forest Forum RUFORUM IIRR and the International Development Research Centre IDRC participated in the writeshop and contributed material to the book

The Jurisdynamics of Environmental Protection Jim Chen, 2003 On November 1 and 2 2002 the University of Minnesota Law School and the University of Minnesota's Consortium on Law and Values in Health Environment and the Life Sciences sponsored a symposium in honor of Professor Daniel A. Farber's contributions to environmental law The resulting symposium The Pragmatic Ecologist Environmental Protection as a Juridynamic Experience was published in volume 87 of the Minnesota Law Review The Environmental Law Institute has now combined the proceedings of The Pragmatic Ecologist with additional contributions from many other leading scholars

Application of Threshold Concepts in Natural Resource Decision Making Glenn R. Guntenspergen, 2014-02-07 Natural resource managers face a complex decision making environment characterized by the potential occurrence of rapid and abrupt ecological change These abrupt changes are poorly accommodated by traditional natural resource planning and decision making processes As recognition of threshold processes has increased contemporary models of ecological systems have been modified to better represent a broader range of ecological system dynamics Key conceptual advances associated with the ideas of non linear responses the existence of multiple ecological stable states and critical thresholds are more likely the rule than the exception in ecological systems Once an ecological threshold is crossed the ecosystem in question is not likely to return to its previous state There are many examples and a general consensus that climatic disruptions will drive now stable systems across ecological thresholds This book provides professional resource managers with a broad general decision framework that illustrates the utility of including ecological threshold concepts in natural resource management It gives an entry into the literature in this rapidly evolving concept with descriptions and discussion of the promising statistical approaches for threshold detection and demonstrations of the utility of the threshold framework via a series of case studies Advances in Marine

Environmental Protection: Challenges, Solutions and Perspectives Mehran Idris Khan, Yen-Chiang Chang, Wen-Hong Liu, 2025-04-29 Environments have no boundaries and no borders Managing oceanic environments particularly the threats and risks of pollution should also consider the shared responsibility of all coastal states Emerging issues for oceanic pollution governance include global changes like rising temperature ocean acidification but also disturbances of ecosystem functioning by plastic and pollution by other emerging contaminants for example noise pollution and deep sea mining These call for efficient and sustainable prevention and restoration strategies such as such as efficient urban and industrial sewage treatment plants efficiently administered transnational marine protected areas and among others sustainable aquaculture extensive small scale fisheries Environmental protection warrants the development of interrelationships between marine sciences relevant industries and ocean governance developing internationally accepted rules and regulations for sustainable ocean management This Research Topic will explore possible new domains of ocean governance and the marine environment from the interdisciplinary perspectives of the rule of law including the international agreement on equal conventions the Convention on Facilitation of International Maritime Traffic the Convention on the International Regulation for Preventing Collisions at Sea and International Convention for the Prevention of Pollution from Ships MARPOL Renewable Energy:

Generation and Application Ala A.
