Animal Rites Liturgies Of Animal Care:

Animal Rites Andrew Linzey, 2015-06-23 Christians believe that the logos is the source of all life yet Christian worship remains unashamedly human centric The world of creation and animals in particular is almost invisible in our worship The churches do not have the liturgical means of celebrating the life of animals giving thanks for their companionship praying for the relief of their suffering or marking their death This unique book provides a variety of liturgies that are animal friendly and animal inclusive They include services in celebration of animal companionship services for animal welfare healing liturgies new eucharistic prayers for the whole creation and animal burial services Underlying all these new forms is a serious theological purpose to help us to draw deeper into the mystery of God's work in creation and to affirm other sentient beings as co creatures with us

Animals in Heaven? Terry Martin, 2024-09-26 Christians of all traditions have often puzzled with the question Do dogs go to heaven Drawing on Catholic teaching and on his long pastoral experience as a parish priest Terry Martin expands that concept to consider wider issues around all animals domesticated and free living and why they are here Within a context of Christian faith he seeks to understand the place of animals in God's complex creation and the relationship that human beings have for good or ill with those animals More than that he looks at the big questions which so many ask about who under God animals are and what meaning if any animal lives have from a Catholic Christian perspective

Climate Crisis and Creation Care Christine Nellist, 2021-09-28 This volume considers the interconnectedness of all creatures in relation to our planetary boundaries Through our constant consumption of resources we have had a distinctly negative impact on the world around us affecting everything from the weather food availability sea levels and the social fabric of our society This book explores how we arrived at such an unstable world and offers ecological theological and economically sustainable solutions to a global crisis

Animals and World Religions Lisa Kemmerer, 2012-01-19 Despite increasing public attention to animal suffering human beings continue to exploit billions of animals in factory farms medical laboratories and elsewhere This wide ranging study shows how spiritual teachings in seven major religious traditions can help people consider their ethical obligations towards other creatures

Why Animal Suffering Matters Andrew Linzey, 2013-11-01 How we treat animals arouses strong emotions Many people are repulsed by photographs of cruelty to animals and respond passionately to how we make animals suffer for food commerce and sport But is this as some argue a purely emotional issue Are there really no rational grounds for opposing our current treatment of animals In Why Animal Suffering Matters Andrew Linzey argues that when analyzed impartially the rational case for extending moral solicitude to all sentient beings is much stronger than many suppose Indeed Linzey shows that many of the justifications for inflicting animal suffering in fact provide grounds for protecting them Because animals the argument goes lack reason or souls or language harming them is not an offense Linzey suggests that just the opposite is true that the inability of animals to give or withhold consent their inability to represent their interests their moral innocence and their relative defenselessness all compel us not to harm them Andrew Linzey further shows that the arguments in favor of three controversial practices hunting with dogs fur farming and commercial sealing cannot withstand rational critique He considers the economic legal and political issues surrounding each of these practices appealing not to our emotions but to our reason and shows that they are rationally unsupportable and morally repugnant In this superbly argued and deeply engaging book Linzey pioneers a new theory about why animal suffering matters maintaining that sentient animals like infants and young children should be accorded a special moral status

Eastern Orthodox Christianity and Animal Suffering Christine Nellist, 2018-10-25 This book is the first academic work in Eastern Orthodox theological literature on the subject of animal suffering and human soteriology It represents a natural progression of the contemporary Eastern Orthodox academic debate on the environment and will be of interest not only to academic scholars in theology religion philosophy and ethics but also to the wider Christian and secular communities Using Biblical and Patristic teachings together with new social science research and contemporary science it presents arguments that animal suffering is against God's Will and that the abuse or misuse of animals or indifference to animal suffering will result in negative consequences for human salvation The book posits a revisionist interpretation of the Noahic narrative when addressing the challenging question of why God allows the dispensation of animals as food and offers compelling arguments on why the contemporary animal food production industries and animal testing model should be rejected considering avenues for reform Also included is a special foreword by Archbishop Desmond Tutu urging readers to seek justice and protection for all creatures humans and animals alike Animal Gospel Andrew Linzey,2000-01-01 Our treatment of animals is a gospel issue Andrew Linzey contends because those individuals and institutions that could have become the voice of God s most vulnerable creatures have instead justified cruelty and oppression He offers an inspiring personal account of the gospel truths that have sustained his commitment to the cause of animals for more than twenty five years The Link Between Animal Abuse and Human Violence Andrew Linzey,2009-07-03 Many philosophers including Aquinas Locke Schopenhauer and Kant have assumed that there is a link between cruelty to animals and violence to people This title examines the relationships between animal abuse and child abuse the emotional development of the child family violence and serial murder Animal Suffering and the Problem of Evil Nicola Hoggard Creegan,2013-05-30 Nicola Hoggard Creegan offers a compelling examination of the problem of evil in the context of animal suffering disease and extinction and the violence of the evolutionary process Using the parable of the wheat and the tares as a hermeneutical lens for understanding the tragedy and beauty of evolutionary history she shows how evolutionary theory has deconstructed the primary theodicy of historic Christianity the Adamic fall while scientific research on animals has increased appreciation of animal sentience and capacity for suffering Animal Suffering and the Problem of Evil responds to this new theodic challenge Hoggard Creegan argues that nature can be understood as an interrelated mix of the perfect and the corrupted the wheat and the tares At times the good is glimpsed but never easily nor unequivocally She then argues that humans are not to blame for all evil because so much evil preceded human becoming Finally she demonstrates that faith requires a confidence in the visibility of the work of God in nature regardless of how infinitely subtle and almost hidden it is affirming that there are ways of perceiving the evolutionary process beyond that nature is red in tooth and claw Creatures of the Same God Andrew Linzey,2009 I don t know why you re spending all your time on this They re only animals for heaven s sake That was the reaction of one of Andrew Linzey s fellow students at King s College London when he was studying theology in the 1970s Since then the now Rev Dr Andrew Linzey has been arguing that animals aren t only anything but rather that they matter to God and should do so to us In this collection of essays Linzey counters with his customary wit erudition and insight some contemporary and perhaps surprising challenges to animal rights from ecotheologians the Church and politicians He contends that far from the sometimes shallow judgments of those who think animals unworthy of theological consideration the Christian tradition has a wellspring of sources and resources available to taking animals seriously Instead of being marginal to the Christian experience Linzey concludes animals can take their rightful place alongside human beings as creatures of the same God There is a long forgotten spiritual tradition that two children both named Jesus were born in Bethlehem to two sets of parents named Joseph and Mary This tradition is supported by the different accounts of the nativity and life of Jesus Christ in the gospels of Matthew and Luke Although the Church chose to ignore this tradition something of it survived in early Christian art and symbolism The full tradition was preserved only in the literature of esoteric sects such as Gnosticism which remained outside the official teachings of institutionalized Christianity Blessing of the Animals Gary A.
