

What is the difference?

Human vs. animals

Humans have long considered themselves truly unique. But it turns out that the better word from "unique" is "most advanced". Every year scientists prove that some purely human traits are found in animals.

Clark's nutcrackers remember for at least half year where they put seeds - and they use 5 thousand caches in a 25-mile area.

Chimpanzees have similar basic arithmetic mental, non-verbal skills (adding up) as humans.

ALMOST OUTPERFORMED

Human body is inferior to animals - except long-distance running.

Speed

Peregrine falcon while diving reaches:

White-throated needletail is the fastest flying bird in level flight, reaching:

Fastest running animal is cheetah:

Fastest swimming fish - shortfin mako shark:

Eyesight

Eagles have vision 8 times sharper than humans.

Hearing/communication range

Lifespan

Longest living animal is quaking clam, the record is 495-510 years.

Some tortoises live up to 200 years.

Size

Biggest animals are blue whales, heaviest weighed 190 tons

Long distance running

But no animal beats humans when it comes to long distance running.

Harvey Karpis, leading ultramarathon runner, did 260 kilometers in 23 hours.

Ultramarathon records

24 hour	286.463 km
48 hour	428.890 km

Animals And Humans Animals And Humans:

Humans and Other Animals Barbara Noske, 1989 Perceiving Animals Erica Fudge, 2002 The boundaries between human and beast forged a rugged philosophical landscape across early modern England Spectators gathered in London's Bear Garden to watch the callous and brutal baiting of animals A wave of new scientists performed vivisections on live animals to learn more about the human body In Perceiving Animals the British scholar Erica Fudge traces the dangers and problems of anthropocentrism in texts written from 1558 to 1649 Meticulous examinations of scientific legal political literary and religious writings offer unique and fascinating depictions of human perceptions about the natural world Views carried over from bestiaries medieval treatises on animals posited animals as nonsentient beings whose merits were measured solely by what provisions they afforded humans food medicine clothing travel labor scientific knowledge Without consciences or faith animals were deemed far inferior to humans While writings from the period asserted an enormous biological superiority Fudge contends actual human behavior and logic worked sometimes accidentally to close the alleged gap In the Bear Garden even a man of the lowest social rank had power over a tortured animal sinking him though below the beasts The beast fable itself fails to show a true understanding of animals as it merely attributes human characteristics to beasts in an attempt to teach humanist ideals Scholars and writers continually turned to the animal world for reflection Despite this scientists of the period used animals for empirical and medical knowledge recognizing biological and spiritual similarities but refusing to renege human superiority Including an insightful reexamination of Ben Jonson's Volpone and fascinating looks at works by Francis Bacon Edward Coke and Richard Overton among others Fudge probes issues of animal ownership and biological and spiritual superiority in early modern England that resonate with philosophical quandaries still relevant in contemporary society Humans, Animals, and U.S. Society in the Long Nineteenth Century: A Documentary History Dominik Ohrem, 2025-11-18 Volume II continues the discussion of animals animality in U.S. social and scientific thought to address the ways in which the nexus of ideas surrounding human animal distinctions became intertwined with interhuman hierarchies and power relations including through the synergistic dynamics between race and species as co-implicating taxonomies of power Claire Jean Kim that informed both chattel slavery and settler violence against Indigenous peoples A second section traces the evolution of animal advocacy from early individual voices to the formation of an organized movement following the Civil War documenting a shift however limited by structural constraints from largely anthropocentric concerns with the social consequences of human cruelty towards other creatures to a broader moral consideration for nonhuman animals in their own right Humans in an Animal's World - How Non-Human Animals Perceive and Interact with Humans Christian Nawroth, Luigi Baciadonna, Nathan J. Emery, 2021-10-20 Beyond the Human-Animal Divide Dominik Ohrem, Roman Bartosch, 2017-11-21 This volume explores the potential of the concept of the creaturely for thinking and writing beyond the idea of a clear cut human animal divide presenting innovative perspectives and narratives for an age which increasingly confronts us with the profound ecological ethical and political challenges of a multispecies world The text explores written work such as Samuel Beckett's Worstward Ho and Michel Foucault's The Order of Things video media such as the film Creature Comforts and the video game Into the Dead and photography With chapters written by an international group of philosophers literary and cultural studies scholars historians and others the volume brings together established experts and forward thinking early career scholars to provide an interdisciplinary engagement with ways of thinking and writing the creaturely to establish a postanthropocentric sense of human animal relationality

Humans and Animals: Intersecting Lives and Worlds Anja Höing, Arieahn Matamonasa Bennett, 2016 Relationships between humans and non human animals are deeply complex and often governed by tensions and paradoxes Both wild and domestic metaphorical and real assistants and adversaries animals effortlessly bridge cultural and natural spaces and form an integral part of human lives This volume addresses several currently debated topics in science and culture How shall we rethink rebuild and re envision our relationships with other animals How do we construct ideas of the animal How can we negotiate animal interests against our own In which ways do we make sense and use of animals in human cultural spaces Addressing the non human animal from the standpoint of various social and cultural constructions from a global and multidisciplinary perspective the chapters within this volume do not seek to answer these questions but rather to draw attention to the complexity of the underlying issues and the manifold dimensions of the animal human bond

Animals and Modern Cultures Adrian Franklin, 1999-09-20 The dramatic transformation of relationships between humans and animals in the 20th century are investigated in this fascinating and accessible book At the beginning of this century these relationships were dominated by human needs and interests modernization was a project which was attached to the goal of progress and animals were merely resources to be used on the path towards human fulfilment As the century comes to an end these relationships are increasingly being subjected to criticism We are now urged to be more sensitive and compassionate to animal needs and interests This book focuses on social change and animals it is concerned with how humans relate to animals and how this has changed and why Moreover it highlights

Animals in Person John Knight, 2020-08-29 Our relationship with animals is complex and contradictory we hunt kill and eat them yet we also love respect and protect them This ambivalent relationship is further complicated by the fact that we attribute human emotions and intelligence to animals We even go as far as likening them to children and treating them as family members Drawing on a diverse range of case studies Animals in Person attempts to unravel our close and fascinating link with the animal kingdom This book highlights the theme of cross species intimacy in contexts such as livestock care pet keeping and the use of animals in tourism The studies draw on data from different parts of the world including New Guinea Nepal India Japan Greece Britain The Netherlands and Australia Animals in Person documents the existence of relations between humans and animals that in many respects recall relations among humans themselves

Conflict Jorge A. Colombo,2023-07-31 Evolution and the Human Animal Drive to Conflict examines how fundamental universal animal drives such as dominance prevalence survival kinship and profit greed advantage whether of material or social nature provide the basis for the evolutionary trap that promotes the unstable conflictive dominant prone individual and group human behaviours Examining this behavioural tension this book argues that while these innate features set up behaviours that lean towards aggression influenced by social inequalities the means implemented to defuse them resort to emotional and intellectual strategies that sponsor fanaticism and often reproduce the very same behaviours they intend to defuse In addressing these concerns the book argues that we should enhance our resources to promote solidarity accept cultural differences deter expansionist and uncontrolled profit drives and achieve collective access towards knowledge and progress in living conditions This entails promoting the redistribution of resources and creative labour access and avoiding policies that generate a fragmented world with collective and individual development disparities that invite and encourage dominance behaviours This resource redistribution asserts that it is necessary to reformulate the global set of human priorities towards increased access to better living conditions cognitive enhancement a more amiable interaction with the ecosystem and non aggressive cultural differences promote universal access to knowledge and enhance creativity and cultural convivence These behavioural changes entail partial derangement of our ancestral animal drives camouflaged under different cultural profiles until the species succeeds in replacing the dominance of basic animal drives with prosocial collective ones Though it entails a formidable task of confronting financial military and religious powers and cultural inertias human history is also a challenging continuous experience in these domains for the sake of our own self identity and self evaluation we should reject any suggestion of not continuing embracing slowly constructing collective utopias channelled towards improving individual and collective freedom and creativeness This book will interest academics and students in social cognitive and evolutionary psychology the neurosciences palaeoanthropology philosophy and anthropology Over the Human Roberto Marchesini, 2017-07-26 This book presents a new way to understand human animal interactions. Offering a profound discussion of topics such as human identity, our relationship with animals and the environment, and our culture, the author channels the vibrant Italian traditions of humanism, materialism, and speculative philosophy. The research presents a dialogue between the humanities and the natural sciences. It challenges the separation and oppression of animals with a post-humanism steeped in the traditions of the Italian Renaissance. Readers discover a vision of the human as a species informed by an intertwining with animals. The human being is not constructed by an onto-poetic process but rather by close relations with otherness. The human system is increasingly unstable and therefore more hybrid. The argument it presents interests scholars, thinkers, and researchers. It also appeals to anyone who wants to delve into the deep animal-human bond and its philosophical, cultural, and political instances. The author is a veterinarian, ethologist, and philosopher. He uses cognitive science, zooanthropology, and philosophy to engage in a series of empirical, theoretical, and practice-based engagements with animal life. In the process, he argues that animals are key to human identity and culture at all levels.

Beyond Boundaries Barbara Noske, 1997 Beyond Boundaries steps out into hitherto unknown territory in taking an interdisciplinary approach to the subject of animals. The author criticizes the biological determinism characteristic of many biologists as well as the anthropocentrism of many environmentalists and greens who fail to see domestic animals or even humans as part of nature. Vast in its scope and vision, this book synthesizes an array of disparate research and scholarship and, in doing so, exposes the tensions and inconsistencies in the view of animals in different areas of Western thought. A project of such breadth is unprecedented, and there is no existing conceptual structure for a work of this kind; it is certain to spark a furore of philosophical debate.

Considering Animals Dr Carol Freeman, Dr Elizabeth Leane, Ms Yvette Watt, 2013-07-28 Considering Animals draws on the expertise of scholars trained in the biological sciences, humanities, and social sciences to investigate the complex and contradictory relationships humans have with nonhuman animals. Taking their cue from the specific animal moments that punctuate these interactions, the essays engage with contemporary issues and debates central to human-animal studies: the representation of animals, the practical and ethical issues inseparable from human interactions with other species, and perhaps most challengingly, the compelling evidence that animals are themselves considering beings. Case studies focus on issues such as animal emotion and human sentimentality, the representation of animals in contemporary art, and in recent films such as March of the Penguins, Happy Feet, and Grizzly Man. Animals' experiences in catastrophic events such as Hurricane Katrina and the SARS outbreak, and the danger of overvaluing the role humans play in the earth's ecosystems, are also explored. From Marc Bekoff's moving preface through to the last essay, Considering Animals foregrounds the frequent, sometimes uncanny exchanges with other species that disturb our self-contained existences and bring into focus our troubled relationships with them. Written in an accessible and jargon-free style, this collection demonstrates that in the face of species extinction and environmental destruction, the roles and fates of animals are too important to be left to any one
