What Fuels the Boom Drives the Bust Jihad Dagher, Mr. Ning Fu, 2011-09-01 We show that the lightly regulated non bank mortgage originators contributed disproportionately to the recent boom bust housing cycle Using comprehensive data on mortgage originations which we aggregate at the county level we first establish that the market share of these independent non bank lenders increased in virtually all US counties during the boom We then exploit the heterogeneity in the market share of independent lenders across counties as of 2005 and show that higher market participation by these lenders is associated with increased foreclosure filing rates at the onset of the housing downturn We carefully control for counties economic demographic and housing market characteristics using both parametric and semi nonparametric methods We show that this relation between the pre crisis market share of independents and the rise in foreclosure is more pronounced in less regulated states The macroeconomic consequences of our findings are significant we show that the market share of these lenders as of 2005 is also a strong predictor of the severity of the housing downturn and subsequent rise in unemployment Overall our findings lend support to the view that more stringent regulation could have averted some of the volatility on the housing market during the recent boom bust episode American Book Publishing Record ,2007 Billboard ,1984-10-27 In its 114th year Billboard remains the world s premier weekly music publication and a diverse digital events brand content and data licensing platform Billboard publishes the most trusted charts and offers unrivaled reporting about the latest music video gaming media digital and mobile entertainment issues and trends International Encyclopedia of Housing and Home ,2012-10-09 Available online via SciVerse ScienceDirect or in print for a limited time only The International Encyclopedia of Housing and Home Seven Volume Set is the first international reference work for housing scholars and professionals that uses studies in economics and finance psychology social policy sociology anthropology geography architecture law and other disciplines to create an international portrait of housing in all its facets from meanings of home at the microscale to impacts on macro economy This comprehensive work is edited by distinguished housing expert Susan J Smith together with Marja Elsinga Ong Seow Eng Lorna Fox O Mahony and Susan Wachter and a multi disciplinary editorial team of 20 world class scholars in all Working at the cutting edge of their subject liaising with an expert editorial advisory board and engaging with policy makers and professionals the editors have worked for almost five years to secure the quality reach relevance and coherence of this work A broad and inclusive table of contents signals or testifies to detailed investigation of historical and theoretical material as well as in depth analysis of current issues This seven volume set contains over 500 entries listed alphabetically but grouped into seven thematic sections including methods and approaches economics and finance environments home and homelessness institutions policy and welfare and well being Housing professionals both academics and practitioners will find The International Encyclopedia of Housing and Home useful for teaching discovery and research needs International in scope engaging with trends in every world region The editorial board

From Click to Boom Lizhi Liu, 2024-11-12 The rise of e commerce has transformed China's economy over the past two decades By late 2020 close to 800 million Chinese people had shopped online and more than 60 million citizens were directly or indirectly employed in e commerce related industries Yet the rapid rise of the industry seems to defy conventional wisdom For instance China's e commerce market took off without strong formal institutions to support it challenging the prevailing notion in political economy that certain formal institutions like state provided secure property rights contract enforcement and the rule of law are crucial pre conditions for supporting efficient markets Using a vast array of qualitative and quantitative data Lizhi Liu reveals how with weak rule of law China instead outsourced part of its institutional functions to e commerce companies themselves prominent examples include Alibaba's Taobao.com and Tmall.com Liu calls these companies private regulatory intermediaries PRIs and shows how they fulfill various legal social and political functions that the state might otherwise take on Taobao for example has a complex reputation mechanism a credit score a fraud detection program and even a jury like system in which users can adjudicate cases or vote to change platform rules Liu also explores how beyond the systematic level e commerce has significant individual level effects namely that e commerce reduces the household cost of living but also distracts citizens from local political issues Ultimately this project goes beyond traditional analysis emphasizing either the rule of law or informal networks in supporting market development it provides a lens to understand institutional experimentation broadly and deepens our understanding of state business relationships in the Chinese context
