Valorizing the Barbarians Eric Adler, 2011-07-01 With the growth of postcolonial theory in recent decades scholarly views of Roman imperialism and colonialism have been evolving and shifting Much recent discussion of the topic has centered on the ways in which ancient Roman historians consciously or unconsciously denigrated non Romans Similarly contemporary scholars have downplayed Roman elite anxiety about their empire's expansion In this groundbreaking new work Eric Adler explores the degree to which ancient historians of Rome were capable of valorizing foreigners and presenting criticisms of their own society By examining speeches put into the mouths of barbarian leaders by a variety of writers he investigates how critical of the empire these historians could be Adler examines pairs of speeches purportedly delivered by non Roman leaders so that the contrast between them might elucidate each writer's sense of imperialism Analyses of Sallust's and Trogus's treatments of the Eastern ruler Mithradates Polybius's and Livy's speeches from Carthage's Hannibal and Tacitus's and Cassius Dio's accounts of the oratory of the Celtic warrior queen Boudica form the core of this study Adler supplements these with examinations of speeches from other characters as well as contextual narrative from the historians Throughout Adler wrestles with broader issues of Roman imperialism and historiography including administrative greed and corruption in the provinces the treatment of gender and sexuality and ethnic stereotyping
