The Circle & the Spiral Eva Rask Knudsen, 2021-11-01 In Aboriginal and M ori literature the circle and the spiral are the symbolic metaphors for a never ending journey of discovery and rediscovery The journey itself with its indigenous perspectives and sense of orientation is the most significant act of cultural recuperation The present study outlines the fields of indigenous writing in Australia and New Zealand in the crucial period between the mid 1980s and the early 1990s particularly eventful years in which postcolonial theory attempted to centre the margins and indigenous writers were keen to escape the particular centering offered in search of other positions more in tune with their creative sensibilities Indigenous writing relinquished its narrative preference for social realism in favour of traversing old territory in new spiritual ways roots converted into routes Standard postcolonial readings of indigenous texts often overwrite the difference they seek to locate because critical orthodoxy predetermines what difference can be Critical evaluations still tend to eclipse the ontological grounds of Aboriginal and M ori traditions and specific ways of moving through and behaving in cultural landscapes and social contexts Hence the corrective applied in Circles and Spirals to look for locally and culturally specific tracks and traces that lead in other directions than those catalogued by postcolonial convention This agenda is pursued by means of searching enquiries into the historical anthropological political and cultural determinants of the present state of Aboriginal and M ori writing principally fiction Independent yet interrelated exemplary analyses of works by Keri Hulme and Patricia Grace and Mudrooroo and Sam Watson Australia provided the thick description that illuminates the author's central theses with comparative side glances at Witi Ihimaera Heretaunga Pat Baker and Alan Duff New Zealand and Archie Weller and Sally Morgan Australia

Communicating in the Third Space Karin Ikas, Gerhard Wagner, 2008-10-05 Communicating in the Third Space aims to clarify Homi K Bhabha's theory of the third space of enunciation by reconstructing its philosophical sociological geographical and political meaning with attention to the special advantages and ambiguities that arise as it is applied in practical as well as theoretical contexts The idea of third space conceives the encounter of two distinct and unequal social groups as taking place in a special third space of enunciation where culture is disseminated and displaced from the interacting groups making way for the invention of a hybrid identity whereby these two groups conceive themselves to partake in a common identity relating to shared space and common dialogue The essays collected in Communicating in the Third Space including a preface by Bhabha himself brilliantly introduce readers to this exciting topic in Cultural and Post Colonial theory and offers insightful elaboration and critique of the meaning and relevance of life in the third space With a preface by Homi K Bhabha      Representations of the Local in the Postmillennial Novel Milena Kaličanin, Soňa Šnircová, 2022-10-11 This book discusses a rich variety of voices from the margins and experiences of living in the postmillennial globalised world represented in selected novels by Irish Canadian British American Serbian Australian Iraqi and M ori authors Contributions focus on illustrative examples of the contemporary novel that reflects acute awareness of globalizing processes and the rising tension between global and local identities discourses and trends In its diversity the book serves to map voices from the new margins overshadowed by the intense pressure of globalization Whether these new margins are ethnic minorities living in globalized centres of contemporary metropolises or authors whose national local or regional voices are marginalized by works with more global ones they are equally deserving of the attention of general readers university students and literary scholars The book will primarily appeal to scholars in the fields of literary gender postcolonial and food studies but will also be of interest to a broader readership involved in explorations of literary works in the context of globalizing processes      Teaching Australian and New Zealand Literature Nicholas Birns, Nicole Moore, Sarah Shieff, 2017-05-01 Offers techniques for teaching Australian and New Zealand literature in college and discusses the history of the two countries Maori and Aboriginal texts colonialism gender landscapes violence indigenous aesthetics ethics and crime fiction Includes information on editions reference works and online resources Gives syllabus suggestions for undergraduate and graduate courses      Odisea nº 5: Revista de estudios ingleses José Ramón Ibáñez Ibáñez, 2015-11-24 Revista de Estudios Ingleses es un anuario dirigido y gestionado por miembros del Departamento de Filología Inglesa y Alemana de la Universidad de Almería con el propósito de ofrecer un foro de intercambio de producción científica en campos del conocimiento tan diversos como la lengua inglesa literatura en lengua inglesa didáctica del inglés traducción inglés para fines específicos y otros igualmente vinculados a los estudios ingleses      Striding Both Worlds Melissa Kennedy, 2011-01-01 Striding Both Worlds illuminates European influences in the fiction of Witi Ihimaera Aotearoa New Zealand's foremost M ori writer in order to question the common interpretation of M ori writing as displaying a distinctive M ori world view and literary style Far from being discrete endogenous units all cultures and literatures arise out of constant interaction engagement and even friction Thus M ori culture since the 1970s has been shaped by a long history of interaction with colonial British Pakeha and other postcolonial and indigenous cultures M ori sovereignty and renaissance movements have harnessed the structures of European modernity nation building and more recently Western global capitalism transculturation and diaspora contexts which contest New Zealand bicultural identity encouraging M ori to express their difference and self sufficiency Ihimaera s fiction has been largely viewed as embodying the specific values of M ori renaissance and biculturalism However Ihimaera in his techniques modes and themes is indebted to a wider range of literary influences than national literary critique accounts for In taking an international literary perspective this book draws critical attention to little known or disregarded aspects such as Ihimaera s love of opera the extravagance of his baroque lyricism his exploration of fantasy and his increasing interest in taking M ori into the global arena In revealing a broad range of cultural and aesthetic influences and inter references commonly seen as irrelevant to contemporary M ori literature Striding Both Worlds argues for a hitherto frequently overlooked and undervalued depth and complexity to Ihimaera s imaginary The present study argues that an emphasis on difference tends to lose sight of fiction s capacity to appreciate originality and individuality in the polyphony of its very form and function In effect literary negotiation of M ori sovereign space takes place in its forms rather than in its content the uniqueness of M ori literature is found in the way it uses the common tools of literary fiction including language imagery the text s relationship to reality and the function of characterization By interpreting aspects of Ihimaera s oeuvre for what they share with other literatures in English Striding Both Worlds aims to present an additional complementary approach to M ori New Zealand and postcolonial literary analysis

López, Pilar Villar-Argáiz, 2021-01-14 Secrecy and Community in 21st Century Fiction examines the relation between secrecy and community in a diverse and international range of contemporary fictional works in English In its concern with what is called communities of secrecy it is fundamentally indebted to the thought of Jacques Derrida Jean Luc Nancy and Maurice Blanchot who have pointed to the fallacies and dangers of identitarian and exclusionary communities arguing for forms of being in common characterized by non belonging singularity and otherness Also drawing on the work of J Hillis Miller Derek Attridge Nicholas Royle Matei Calinescu Frank Kermode and George Simmel among others this volume analyses the centrality of secrets in the construction of literary form narrative sequence and meaning together with their foundational role in our private and interpersonal lives and the public and political realms In doing so it engages with the

The Ship of Dreams Alistair Fox, 2008 This is the first critical study to investigate at length how masculine subjectivities are represented in contemporary New Zealand fiction Notoriously self contained and private Kiwi men are often reluctant to talk about their personal feelings and embarrassed at the thought that any private emotional difficulties could be exposed to critical examination One must go to their imaginative literature to make contact with the reality that underlies the often calculatedly deceptive surface In his investigation of these issues author Alistair Fox demonstrates the crucial importance of Pakeha and Maori cultural predispositions influencing masculine identity in New Zealand often at the cost of great psychic pain for the men involved
