Tree Of Smoke By Denis Johnson:

Tree of Smoke Denis Johnson, 2007-09-04 Once upon a time there was a war and a young American who thought of himself as the Quiet American and the Ugly American and who wished to be neither who wanted instead to be the Wise American or the Good American but who eventually came to witness himself as the Real American and finally as simply the Fucking American That s me This is the story of Skip Sands spy in training engaged in Psychological Operations against the Vietcong and the disasters that befall him thanks to his famous uncle a war hero known in intelligence circles simply as the Colonel This is also the story of the Houston brothers Bill and James young men who drift out of the Arizona desert into a war in which the line between disinformation and delusion has blurred away In its vision of human folly and its gritty sympathetic portraits of men and women desperate for an end to their loneliness whether in sex or death or by the grace of God this is a story like nothing in our literature Tree of Smoke is Denis Johnson s first full length novel in nine years and his most gripping beautiful and powerful work to date Tree of Smoke is the 2007 National Book Award Winner for Fiction Tree of Smoke

Denis Johnson, 2008 Describing a world where almost everyone is lost or looking for something where disinformation is the ultimate weapon and disillusion the most insidious enemy and where war is another way to self destruction Johnson takes the reader on a surreal yet vivid journey revealing the fundamental truths at the heart of the human condition Tree of Smoke

Denis Johnson, 2016-02-11 Tree of Smoke the name given to a psy op that might or might not be hypothetical and might or might not be officially sanctioned is Denis Johnson s most gripping visionary and ambitious work to date Set in south east Asia and the US and spanning two decades it ostensibly tells the story of Skip Sands a CIA spy who may or may not be engaged in psychological operations against the Viet Cong but also takes the reader on a surreal yet vivid journey dipping in and out of characters lives to reveal fundamental truths at the heart of the human condition A Catch 22 for our times Alan Warner Books of the Year Observer The God I want to believe in has a voice and a sense of humour like Denis Johnson s Jonathan Franzen An epic of drenched sensuality and absurdly chewable dialogue as though Don DeLillo and Joseph Heller had collaborated on a Vietnam war novel Steven Poole Books of the Year New Statesman The Solitary Journey Home

The Covert Sphere Timothy Melley, 2012-11-15 In December 2010 the U S Embassy in Kabul acknowledged that it was providing major funding for thirteen episodes of Eagle Four a new Afghani television melodrama based loosely on the blockbuster U S series 24 According to an embassy spokesperson Eagle Four was part of a strategy aimed at transforming public suspicion of security forces into something like awed respect Why would a wartime government spend valuable resources on a melodrama of covert operations The answer according to Timothy Melley is not simply that fiction has real political effects but that since the Cold War fiction has become integral to the growth of national security as a concept and a transformation of democracy In The Covert Sphere Melley links this cultural shift to the birth of the national security state in 1947 As the United States developed a vast infrastructure of clandestine organizations it shielded policy from the public sphere and gave rise to a new cultural imaginary the covert sphere One of the surprising consequences of state secrecy is that citizens must rely substantially on fiction to know or imagine their nation s foreign policy The potent combination of institutional secrecy and public fascination with the secret work of the state was instrumental in fostering the culture of suspicion and uncertainty that has plagued American society ever since and Melley argues that would eventually find its fullest expression in postmodernism The Covert Sphere traces these consequences from the Korean War through the War on Terror examining how a regime of psychological operations and covert action has made the conflation of reality and fiction a central feature of both U S foreign policy and American culture Melley interweaves Cold War history with political theory and original readings of films television dramas and popular entertainments from The Manchurian Candidate through 24 as well as influential writing by Margaret Atwood Robert Coover Don DeLillo Joan Didion E L Doctorow Michael Herr Denis Johnson Norman Mailer Tim O Brien and many others

Writing Wars David F. Eisler, 2022-12-14 Choice Outstanding Academic Title 2024 Senators Bob and Elizabeth Dole Biennial Award for Distinguished Book in Veterans Studies winner Who writes novels about war For nearly a century after World War I the answer was simple soldiers who had been there The assumption that a person must have experienced war in the flesh in order to write about it in fiction was taken for granted by writers reviewers critics and even scholars Contemporary American fiction tells a different story Less than half of the authors of contemporary war novels are veterans And that s hardly the only change Today s war novelists focus on the psychological and moral challenges of soldiers coming home rather than the physical danger of combat overseas They also imagine the consequences of the wars from non American perspectives in a way that defies the genre s conventions To understand why these changes have occurred David Eisler argues that we must go back nearly fifty years to the political decision to abolish the draft The ramifications rippled into the field of cultural production transforming the foundational characteristics authorship content and form of the American war fiction genre

The Oxford History of the Novel in English Cyrus R. K. Patell,Deborah Lindsay Williams,2024-03-05 The Oxford History of the Novel in English is a twelve volume series presenting a comprehensive global and up to date history of English language prose fiction written by a large international team of scholars The series is concerned with novels as a whole not just the literary novel and each volume includes chapters on the processes of production distribution and reception and on popular fiction and the fictional sub genres as well as outlining the work of major novelists movements and tendencies This book offers an account of US fiction during a period demarcated by two traumatic moments the eve of the entry of the United States into the Second World War and the onset of the Covid 19 pandemic The aftermath of the Second World War was arguably the high point of US nationalism but in the years that followed US writers would increasingly explore the possibility that US democracy was a failure both at home and abroad For so many of the writers whose work this volume explores the idea of nation became suspect as did the idea of national literature as the foundation for US writing Looking at post 1940s writing the literary historian might well chart a movement within literary cultures away from nationalism and toward what we would call cosmopolitanism a perspective that fosters conversations between the occupants of different cultural spaces and that regards difference as an opportunity to be embraced rather than a problem to be solved During this period the novel has had significant competition for the US public's attention from other forms of narrative and media film television comic books videogames and the internet and the various forms of social media that it spawned If however the novel becomes a residual form during this period it is by no means archaic The novel has been reinvigorated over the past eighty years by its encounters with both emergent forms such as film television comic books and digital media and the emergent voices typically associated with multiculturalism in the United States

Postmodern Belief Amy Hungerford, 2010-07-01. How can intense religious beliefs coexist with pluralism in America today? Examining the role of the religious imagination in contemporary religious practice and in some of the best-known works of American literature from the past fifty years, Postmodern Belief shows how belief, for its own sake, a belief absent of doctrine, has become an answer to pluralism in a secular age. Amy Hungerford reveals how imaginative literature and religious practices together allow novelists, poets and critics to express the formal elements of language in transcendent terms, conferring upon words a religious value independent of meaning. Hungerford explores the work of major American writers including Allen Ginsberg, Don DeLillo, Cormac McCarthy, Toni Morrison and Marilynne Robinson and links their unique visions to the religious worlds they touch. She illustrates how Ginsberg's chant-infused 1960s poetry echoes the tongue-speaking of Charismatic Christians, how DeLillo reimagines the novel and the Latin Mass, why McCarthy's prose imitates the Bible and why Morrison's fiction needs the supernatural. Uncovering how literature and religion conceive of a world where religious belief can escape confrontations with other worldviews, Hungerford corrects recent efforts to discard the importance of belief in understanding religious life and argues that belief in belief itself can transform secular reading and writing into a religious act Honoring the ways in which people talk about and practice religion Postmodern Belief highlights the claims of the religious imagination in twentieth century American culture Thirty Years After Mark Heberle, 2009-01-14 Thirty Years After New Essays on Vietnam War Literature Film and Art brings together essays on literature film and media representational art and music of the Vietnam War that were generated by a three day conference in Honolulu during Veterans Week 2005 This large and extensive volume the first collection of Vietnam War criticism published since the 1990s reflects significant cultural and historical changes since then including U S Vietnamese cultural transactions in the wake of political reconciliation and the Vietnamese diaspora popular commodification and memorialization of the war in America and nascent American imperialism Contributors include well established and well published writers and critics like Philip Beidler Cathey Calloway Lorrie Goldensohn Wayne Karlin Andrew Lam Jerry Lembcke Tim O'Brien John S.
