Sustaining Fictions Lesleigh Cushing Stahlberg, 2009-05-01 Even before the biblical canon became fixed writers have revisited and reworked its stories The author of Joshua takes the haphazard settlement of Israel recorded in the Book of Judges and retells it as an orderly military conquest The writer of Chronicles expurgates the David cycle in Samuel I and II offering an upright and virtuous king devoid of baser instincts This literary phenomenon is not contained to inner biblical exegesis Once the telling becomes known the retellings begin through the New Testament rabbinic midrash medieval mystery plays medieval and Renaissance poetry nineteenth century novels and contemporary literature writers of the Western world have continued to occupy themselves with the biblical canon However there exists no adequate vocabulary academic or popular religious or secular literary or theological to describe the recurring appearances of canonical figures and motifs in later literature Literary critics bible scholars and book reviewers alike seek recourse in words like adaptation allusion echo imitation and influence to describe what the author for lack of better terms has come to call retellings or recastings Although none of these designations rings false none approaches precision They do not tell us what the author of a novel or poem has done with a biblical figure do not signal how this newly recast figure is different from other recastings of it and do not offer any indication of why these transformations have occurred Sustaining Fictions sets out to redress this problem considering the viability of the vocabularies of literary midrashic and translation theory for speaking about retelling Exit Wounds Peter Godwin, 2025-04-08 An eloquent beautiful The Wall Street Journal memoir from award winning writer Peter Godwin about his evolving relationships with the women and places that shaped his life Peter Godwin's mother is dying Born in England and having spent most of her adult life as a doctor in Zimbabwe she now lies on a hospital bed in the partitioned living room of his sister's London home Peter has spent his life missing his Zimbabwean childhood a longing that does not diminish as he reflects on his time as a journalist on the frontlines of combat around the world or life in New York with his English wife and transatlantic children In his mother's final months he must come to terms with everything his family was and wasn't the secrets they kept from one another the stoicism that sometimes threatened to destroy them and the beauty of the wildly different places they called home With generations of history behind him Godwin lyrically brings us into the spaces which make us question and suffer shows us how we can heal our own scars and celebrate the lives we have among family and friends First Things, 2005 Shorefront Access and Island Preservation Study David J. Brower, 1978 Contemporary Fiction and Christianity Andrew Tate, 2010-10-12 Subverting Scriptures B. Benedix, 2009-10-26 This collection seeks to fill the interdisciplinary space that addresses when why and how writers strategically reference the Bible for subversive or re-evaluative purposes It explores the specific biblical pieces used this subversion and why they are used with reference to many contemporary sources The New Yorker Harold Wallace Ross, William Shawn, Tina Brown, David Remnick, Katharine Sergeant Angell White, Rea Irvin, Roger Angell, 2004-07 Fallen David Maine, 2006 Expelled from the Garden Adam and Eve are forced to build a life in a harsh land in the face of bitterness past recriminations and other challenges that lead them down an inevitable path of passions and jealousies The American Biographical Novel Michael Lackey, 2016-04-07 Before the 1970s there were only a few acclaimed biographical novels But starting in the 1980s there was a veritable explosion of this genre of fiction leading to the publication of spectacular biographical novels about figures as varied as Abraham Lincoln Ludwig Wittgenstein Friedrich Nietzsche Emily Dickinson Virginia Woolf Henry James and Marilyn Monroe just to mention a notable few This publication frenzy culminated in 1999 when two biographical novels Michael Cunningham's The Hours and Russell Banks' Cloudsplitter were nominated for the Pulitzer Prize and Cunningham's novel won the award In The American Biographical Novel Michael Lackey charts the shifts in intellectual history that made the biographical novel acceptable to the literary establishment and popular with the general reading public More specifically Lackey clarifies the origin and evolution of this genre of fiction specifies the kind of truth it communicates provides a framework for identifying how this genre uniquely engages the political and demonstrates how it gives readers new access to history Maggie Gee:
