of reproduction is appropriately suited for streaming given the ambiguities of embodiment and scope of substantial part. Conversely the fair dealing defence in Australia cannot be used aptly to defend end users acts of streaming digital content because end users who use streaming to access digital content can rarely rely on the defence of fair dealing for the purposes of criticism or review news reporting parody or satire or research or study. When considering a temporary copy exception end users are at risk of being held liable for infringement when using streaming to access a website that contains infringing digital content even if they lack any knowledge about the content's infringing nature. Moreover the grey areas in circumventing geo blocking have made end users hesitant to access websites through streaming because it is not clear whether technological protection measures apply to geo blocking. End users have a severe lack of knowledge about whether they can use circumvention methods such as virtual private networks to access streaming websites without being held liable for copyright infringement. Despite the intricacies between copyright and access to digital content the recently implemented website blocking laws have emboldened copyright owners while suppressing end users access to digital content. This is because the principles of proportionality and public interest have been given less attention when determining website blocking injunctions.

Commerce Publications Update, 1980-10 Architecture and Armed Conflict JoAnne Mancini, Keith Bresnahan, 2014-07-11

Architecture and Armed Conflict is the first multi authored scholarly book to address this theme from a comparative interdisciplinary perspective. By bringing together specialists from a range of relevant fields and with knowledge of case studies across time and space it provides the first synthetic body of research on the complex multifaceted subject of architectural destruction in the context of conflict. The book addresses several specific research questions: How has the destruction of buildings and landscapes figured in recent historical conflicts and how have people and states responded to it? How has the destruction of architecture been represented in different historical periods and to what ends? What are the relationships between the destruction of architecture and the destruction of art particularly iconoclasm? If architectural destruction is a salient feature of many armed conflicts how does it feature in post conflict environments? What are the relationships between architectural destruction and processes of restoration recreation or replacement? Considering multiple conflicts multiple time periods and multiple locations allows this international cohort of authors to provide an essential primer for this crucial topic.
