in Africa Paul Ugor, 2021 The edited collection focuses on the links between young people and African popular culture It explores popular culture produced and consumed by young people in contemporary Africa And by culture we mean all kinds of texts or representations visual oral written performative fictional social and virtual created by African youth mostly about their lives and their immediate societies and for themselves but also consumed by the larger public and shared locally and globally We proceed from the premise that cultural texts not only function as social facts as Karin Barber argues but that they double as commentaries upon and interpretations of social facts They are part of social reality but they also take up an attitude to social reality 2007 04 So the work focuses specifically on what African youth produce as popular culture under what conditions or contexts they produce such work how they produce those texts why they produce them the aesthetic dimensions of these texts as cultural artifacts and why these textual practices matter as social facts as interpretive acts and as cultural symbols of the general cultural activism of young people in a rapidly changing world a world where the global cultural economy is the prime terrain for the relentless struggles over the meanings that come to shape political economic and social systems

Handbook of Sustainability Science in the Future Walter Leal Filho, Anabela Marisa Azul, Federica Doni, Amanda Lange Salvia, 2023-08-14 Humanity will have to cope with many problems in the coming decades for instance the world population is likely grow to to 8 8 billion people by 2035 Also changing climate conditions are negatively affecting the livelihoods of millions of people In particular environmental disasters are causing substantial damages to properties From a social perspective the inequalities between rich and poor nations are becoming even deeper and in many countries conflicts between national and international interest groups are intensifying The above state of affairs suggest that a broader understanding of the trends which may lead to a more sustainable world is needed especially those which may pave the way for future developments In other words we need to pave the way for sustainable futures Consistent with this reality the proposed Encyclopedia of Sustainability Futures aims to identify document and disseminate ideas experiences and visions from scientists member of nongovernmental organisations decision makers industry representatives and citizens on themes and issues which will be important in pursuing sustainable future scenarios In particular the publication will focus on scientific aspects as well as on social and economic ones also considering matters related to financing and infra structures which are important in pursuing a sustainable future The Encyclopedia of Sustainability Futures will involve the contributing authors in line with the principle of co generation from across a wide range of disciplines e g education and social sciences natural sciences engineering the arts languages etc with papers adopting a long term sustainability perspective with a time horizon until 2050 The focus will be on themes which are felt as important in the future and the chapters are expected to interest and motivate a world audience This book is part of the 100 papers to accelerate the implementation of the UN Sustainable Development Goals initiative

Faith, Race and Inequality amongst Young Adults in South Africa Nadine Bowers Du Toit, 2022-07-04 For many young South African adults often called born frees who were born just before or just after the demise of political apartheid the ongoing realities of poverty and inequality bring to light the question of whether they truly are free in contemporary South Africa Their lived experiences of poverty and inequality seem to be in conflict with theologically laden concepts that remain prominent in social and political life such as reconciliation forgiveness justice and restitution This leads to a bi directional process of contesting and being contested by such notions and discourses Furthermore in light of the double legacy of both the church and youth as resisting injustice this publication seeks to explore the many perspectives from which the Christian faith race and inequality amongst youth can be brought to light #RhodesMustFall B.

Nyamnjoh, 2016-04-18 This book on rights entitlements and citizenship in post apartheid South Africa shows how the playing field has not been as levelled as presumed by some and how racism and its benefits persist Through everyday interactions and experiences of university students and professors it explores the question of race in a context still plagued by remnants of apartheid inequality and perceptions of inferiority and inadequacy among the majority black population In education black voices and concerns go largely unheard as circles of privilege are continually regenerated and added onto a layered and deep history of cultivation of black pain These issues are examined against the backdrop of organised student protests sweeping through the countrys universities with a renewed clamour for transformation around a rallying cry of Black Lives Matter The nuanced complexity of this insightful analysis of the Rhodes Must Fall movement elicits compelling questions about the attractions and dangers of exclusionary articulations of belonging What could a grand imperialist like the stripling Uitlander or foreigner of yesteryear Sir Cecil John Rhodes possibly have in common with the present day nimble footed makwerekwere from Africa north of the Limpopo The answer Nyamnjoh suggests is to be found in how human mobility relentlessly tests the boundaries of citizenship
