A Hunt on Snow Shoes (Classic Reprint) Edward Sylvester Ellis, 2015-07-04 Excerpt from A Hunt on Snow Shoes
Hark A low wailing sound came faintly through the forest of oaks and pines and borne on the wintry air reached the ears of the two brothers who on this moonlight night many years ago were gliding swiftly over the gleaming surface of the Kennebec on their ringing skates which had already carried them full ten miles from their home It was Clarence Landon the elder who had uttered the exclamation that arrested the laughter and conversation of himself and Sydney On the instant they ceased striking out and the rasping whir of the keen edged steel grew softer and still softer until the two came to a stand side by side Still they spoke not but stood looking and listening About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works A Hunt on Snow Shoes

better lie by till night again or else get off this creek suggested Clarence after they had walked for some time This is too plain a road for the Moose to follow and I can t
