ORWELL PRIZE FOR POLITICAL WRITING This is what journalism is for Observer Time to Think goes behind the headlines to reveal the truth about the collapse of the world's largest gender service for children Are we hurting children That's the core question at the heart of Time to Think which exposes the truth about the rise and fall of the United Kingdom's flagship gender identity clinic for children Answering in the affirmative it exposes how ideology triumphed over evidence within this part of the healthcare system In the process child safeguarding was overlooked and pediatric patients were medically harmed As investigative journalist Hannah Barnes reveals the Tavistock's Gender Identity Development Service GIDS was set up initially to provide talking therapies to young people who were questioning their gender identity But in a little over a decade it referred around two thousand children some as young as nine years old for medication to block their puberty In the same period with ever greater numbers of children in need of treatment the profile of the patients changed from largely pre-pubescent boys to mostly adolescent girls who were often contending with other medical and psychological difficulties GIDS was shut down by English health authorities in March 2024 and new services will not be able to prescribe these profound medical interventions Yet GIDS's approach to treating children with gender identity distress was in fact more cautious than that observed in other countries including notably in the United States This urgent scrupulous and dramatic book explains how GIDS was the site of a serious medical scandal As this scandal continues to unfold and even accelerate within other institutions and across countries it is a gripping parable and disturbing cautionary tale for our times Ten Years Hard

Sebastiani,2003-08-03 The European Conference on Information Retrieval Research now in its 25th Silver Jubilee edition was initially established by the Information Retrieval Specialist Group of the British Computer Society BCS IRSG under the name Annual Colloquium on Information Retrieval Research and was always held in the United Kingdom until 1997 Since 1998 the location of the colloquium has alternated between the United Kingdom and the rest of Europe in order to reflect the growing European orientation of the event For the same reason in 2001 the event was renamed European Annual Colloquium on Information Retrieval Research Since 2002 the proceedings of the Colloquium have been published by Springer Verlag in their Lecture Notes in Computer Science series In 2003 BCS IRSG decided to rename the event European Conference on Information Retrieval Research in order to reflect what the event had slowly turned into i.e. a full blown conference with a European program committee strong peer reviewing and a mostly European audience However ECIR still retains the strong student focus that has characterized the Colloquia since their inception student fees are kept particularly low a student travel grant program is available in order to encourage students to attend the conference and encourage student authors to present their papers personally and a Best Student Paper Award is assigned conversely ECIR has no best paper award

The Library as Playground Dale

Leorke, Danielle Wyatt,2022-04-13 Digital and analog games have long served modern public libraries as educational tools and as drawcards for new patrons from dedicated gaming zones and children's spaces to Minecraft gaming days, makerspaces and virtual reality collections. Much has been written about the role of games and play in libraries, programming and collections. But their wider role in transforming libraries as public institutions remains unexplored. In this book, the authors draw on ethnographic research to provide a rich portrait of the intersection between games, play and public libraries. They look at how games and play are increasingly spilling out of designated zones within libraries and beyond their walls as part of a broader reconfiguration and reimagining of libraries in the digital era. The library's association with play has historically been understood through its classification as a third place somewhere to relax, socialise and experiment outside of the utilitarian demands of work and home. But far from just offering patrons an opportunity for detached leisure, this book illustrates how libraries are connecting games and play to policies, agendas around their municipality's economic and cultural development. Attending to the institutionalisation of play, the book sheds new light both on the contradictions at the heart of play as a theoretical concept and what libraries are in contemporary public life.
