Conundrum Charissa Bremer-David, 2015-12-15 The whimsical imagery of four tapestries in the permanent collection of the J Paul Getty Museum and currently on display at the Getty Center is perplexing Created in France at the Beauvais manufactory between 1690 and 1730 these charming hangings unlike most French tapestries of the period appear to be purely decorative with no narrative thread no theological moral and no allegorical symbolism They belong to a series called the Grotesques inspired by ancient frescos discovered during the excavation of the Roman emperor Nero's Domus Aurea or Golden House but the origins of their mysterious subject matter have long eluded art historians. Based on seven years of research, Conundrum Puzzles in the Grotesques Tapestry Series reveals for the first time that the artist responsible for these designs, Jean Baptiste Monnoyer 1636-1699, actually incorporated dozens of motifs and vignettes from a surprising range of sources: antique statuary, Renaissance prints, Mannerist tapestry and Baroque art as well as contemporary seventeenth-century urban festivals, court spectacle and theater. Conundrum illustrates the most interesting of these sources alongside full-color details and overall views of the four tapestries. The book's informative and engaging essay identifies and decodes the tapestries' intriguing visual puzzles, enlightening our understanding and appreciation of the series' unexpectedly rich intellectual underpinnings.

The Spectator, 2010. Renaissance and Baroque Bronzes in and Around the Peter Marino Collection, Charles Avery, 2013. The outstanding collection of European bronze sculptures formed by acclaimed architect Peter Marino, which focuses especially on French and Italian bronzes of the High Baroque, includes masterpieces by some of the greatest sculptors of their age, among them Ferdinando Tacca, Giovanni Battista Foggini, Robert Le Lorrain and Corneille van Clève. This volume of contributions to the symposium held in June 2010, testifying to the importance of the Marino Collection, includes nine essays by distinguished scholars of sculpture. Charles Avery, author of major monographs on Giambologna and Bernini, discusses the impetus behind one of the most exciting models in the Marino Collection, a Hercules and Antaeus, after Maderno. Geneviève Bresc-Bautier, Director of the Louvre Sculpture Department, examines the discovery of a large number of small pieces of terracotta sculpture thought to be from the workshop of André Charles Boulle, which was destroyed in 1720. Anthea Brook, who has published extensively on Ferdinando Tacca, considers the attribution of a pair of small Florentine bronze hunting groups in the Marino Collection, making the case for Damiano Cappelletti, a bronze casting specialist in the workshop of Tacca, to be considered as a sculptor capable of creating his own designs. Rosario Coppel investigates the impressive collection of small bronzes of the 3rd Duke of Alcalá, 1583-1637, who was Philip IV's extraordinary ambassador to Pope Urban VIII and later Viceroy and Captain General in Naples. Philippe Malgouyres, Curator of Bronzes, Ivories and Metals at the Louvre, discusses the bronze casts after Bernini sculpture, a little studied subject in the wide field of Bernini studies. Jennifer Montagu, Senior Fellow of the Warburg Institute, attempts to put together and define the oeuvre of the unknown sculptor of the magnificent 15-figure group of bronze hunters, their hounds and a bull in the Suermondt-Ludwig Museum in Aachen. Independent scholar Regina Seelig Teuwen extols Guillaume Berthelot as a sculptor of small bronzes, while Jeremy Warren, Collections and Academic Director at the Wallace Collection, discusses the challenges of cataloguing the Peter Marino Collection for the critically acclaimed 2010 exhibition.

 centers on the Florentine bronze, but their interests range to superb examples from northern Italy and Rome as well as those from France and northern Europe. Giambologna, the great Flemish sculptor practicing in Florence in the late sixteenth century, is revered for the subtlety of his compositions and for his technical ability. He is well represented in the Hill collection through works from his own hand and those cast after his models by his assistant and master in his own right, Antonio Susini.
