Adrian S.Z. Chase,Arlen F. Chase,Diane Z. Chase,2024-05-07 Establishing ancient population numbers and determining how they were distributed across a landscape over time constitute two of the most pressing problems in archaeology Accurate population data is crucial for modeling interpreting and understanding the past Now advances in both archaeology and technology have changed the way that such approximations can be achieved Including research from both highland central Mexico and the tropical lowlands of the Maya and Olmec areas this book reexamines the demography in ancient Mesoamerica Contributors present methods for determining population estimates field methods for settlement pattern studies to obtain demographic data and new technologies such as LiDAR light detecting and ranging that have expanded views of the ground in forested areas Contributions to this book provide a view of ancient landscape use and modification that was not possible in the twentieth century This important new work provides new understandings of Mesoamerican urbanism development and changes over time Contributors Traci Ardren M Charlotte Arnauld B rbara Arroyo Luke Auld Thomas Marcello A Canuto Adrian S Z Chase Arlen F Chase Diane Z Chase Elyse D Z Chase Javier Estrada Gary M Feinman L J Gorenflo Julien Hiquet Scott R Hutson Gerardo Jim nez Delgado Eva Lemonnier Rodrigo Liendo Stuardo Jos Lobo Javier L pez Mej a Michael L Loughlin Deborah L Nichols Christopher A Pool Ian G Robertson Jeremy A Sabloff Travis W Stanton

International Handbook on Education in Southeast Asia Lorraine Pe Symaco,Martin Hayden,2021-12-23 This International Handbook provides a detailed account of the education systems of 11 Southeast Asian nations including Brunei Darussalam Cambodia Indonesia Lao People s Democratic Republic Malaysia Myanmar the Philippines Singapore Thailand Timor Leste and Vietnam It presents a systematic sector by sector explanation of how these national education systems deliver educational services and respond to national and international issues and challenges With 56 chapters the International Handbook is the region s most comprehensive educational reference source In the first of its chapters the editors introduce the regional context and draw attention to the distinctive characteristics of each of the 11 systems Southeast Asia representing 8.5% of the world's population is as dynamic as it is diverse The International Handbook charts progress and establishes a benchmark for documenting future developments It also provides a stepping off point for more detailed investigations of decision making processes and outcomes across the 11 national education systems Miraculous Abundance Perrine Herve-Gruyer, Charles Herve-Gruyer, 2016-03-14 Farmers like Charles and Perrine Herv Gruyer are beacons of light Their work allows the rest of the world to see that there is another life there is another way Eliot Coleman What began as a simple dream has turned into one of the world's most radical innovative experiments in small scale farming using the Bec Hellouin model for growing food sequestering carbon creating jobs and increasing biodiversity without using fossil fuels When Charles and Perrine Herv Gruyer set out to create their farm in a historic Normandy village they had no idea just how much their lives would change Neither one had ever farmed before Charles had been traveling the globe teaching students about ecology and indigenous cultures Perrine had been an international lawyer in Japan Their farm Bec Hellouin has since become an internationally celebrated model of innovation in ecological agriculture Miraculous Abundance is the eloquent tale of the couple's quest to build an agricultural model that can carry us into a post carbon future The authors dive deeper into the various farming methods across the globe that contributed towards the creation of the Bec Hellouin model including Permaculture and soil health principles Korean natural farming methods Managing a four season farm Creating a productive agroecosystem that is resilient and durable Using no dig methods for soil fertility Modelling an agrarian system that supports its community in totality from craft restaurants and shared work spaces to jobs agritourism energy and ecological biodiversity Perfect for aspiring and experienced farmers gardeners and homesteaders Miraculous Abundance is a love letter to a future where ecological farming is at the centre of every community This book more about philosophy than a how to describes how two inexperienced beginners succeeded in creating a gorgeous productive self sustaining farm Marion Nestle Advances in Virtual Agents and Affective Computing for the Understanding and Remediation of Social Cognitive Disorders Eric Brunet-Gouet, Ali Oker, Jean-Claude Martin, Ouriel Grynszpan, Philip L. Jackson, 2016-03-02 Advances in modern sciences occur thanks to within fields discoveries as well as confrontation of concepts and methods from separated sometimes distant domains of knowledge For instance the fields of psychology and psychopathology benefited from accumulated contributions from cognitive neurosciences which in turn received insights from molecular chemistry cellular biology physics neuroimaging statistics and computer sciences data processing etc From the results of these researches one can argue that among the numerous cognitive phenomena supposedly involved in the emergence the human intelligence and organized behavior some of them are specific to the social nature of our phylogenetic order Scientific reductionism allowed to divide the social cognitive system into several components i.e. emotion processing and regulation mental state inference theory of mind agency etc New paradigms were progressively designed to investigate these processes within highly controlled laboratory settings Moreover the related constructs were successful at better understanding psychopathological conditions such as autism and schizophrenia with partial relationships with illness outcomes Here we would like to outline the parallel development of concepts in social neurosciences and in other domains such as computer science affective computing virtual reality development and even hardware technologies While several researchers in neurosciences pointed out the necessity to consider naturalistic social cognition Zaki and Ochsner Ann N Y Acad Sci 1167 16 30 2009 the second person perspective Schilbach et al Behav Brain Sci 36 4 393 414 2013 and reciprocity de Bruin et al Front Hum Neurosci 6 151 2012 both computer and software developments allowed more and more realistic real time models of our environment and of virtual humans capable of some interaction with users As noted at the very beginning of this editorial a new convergence between scientific disciplines might occur from which it is tricky to predict the outcomes in terms of new concepts methods and uses Although this convergence is motivated by the intuition that it fits well ongoing societal changes increasing social demands on computer technologies augmenting funding it comes with several difficulties for which the current Frontiers in topic strives to bring some positive answers and to provide both theoretical arguments and experimental examples The first issue is about concepts and vocabulary as the contributions described in the following are authored by neuroscientists computer scientists psychopathologists etc A special attention was given during the reviewing process to stay as close as possible to the publication standards in psychological and health sciences and to avoid purely technical descriptions The second problem concerns methods more complex computerized interaction models results in unpredictable and poorly controlled experiments In other words the assets of naturalistic paradigms may be alleviated by the difficulty to match results between subjects populations conditions Of course this practical question is extremely important for investigating pathologies that are associated with profoundly divergent behavioral patterns Some of the contributions of this topic provide description of strategies that allowed to solve these difficulties at least partially The last issue is about heterogeneity of the objectives of the researches presented here While selection criteria focused on the use of innovative technologies to assess or improve social cognition the fields of application of this approach were quite unexpected In an attempt to organize the contributions three directions of research can be identified 1 how innovation in methods might improve understanding and assessment of social cognition disorders or pathology 2 within the framework of cognitive behavioral psychotherapies CBT how should we consider the use of virtual reality or augmented reality 3 which are the benefits of these techniques for investigating severe mental disorders schizophrenia or autism and performing cognitive training The first challenging question is insightfully raised in the contribution of Timmermans and Schilbach 2014 giving orientations for investigating alterations of social interaction in psychiatric disorders by the use of dual interactive eye tracking with virtual anthropomorphic avatars Joyal Jacob and collaborators 2014 bring concurrent and construct validities of a newly developed set of virtual faces expressing six fundamental emotions The relevance of virtual reality was exemplified with two contributions focusing on anxiety related phenomena Jackson et al 2015 describe a new environment allowing to investigate empathy for dynamic FACS coded facial expressions including pain Based on a systematic investigation of the impact of social stimuli modalities visual auditory Ruch and collaborators are able to characterize the specificity of the interpretation of laughter in people with gelotophobia 2014 On the issue of social anxiety Aymerich Franch et al 2014 presented two studies in which public speaking anxiety has been correlated with avatars similarity of participants self representations The second issue focuses on how advances in virtual reality may benefit to cognitive and behavioral therapies in psychiatry These interventions share a common framework that articulates thoughts feelings or emotions and behaviors and proposes gradual modification of each of these levels thanks to thought and schema analysis stress reduction procedures etc They were observed to be somehow useful for the treatment of depression stress disorders phobias and are gaining some authority in personality disorders and addictions The main asset of new technologies is the possibility to control the characteristics of symptom eliciting stimuli situations and more precisely the degree to which immersion is enforced For example Baus and Bouchard 2014 provide a review on the extension of virtual reality exposure based therapy toward recently described augmented reality exposure based therapy in individuals with phobias Concerning substance dependence disorders Hone Blanchet et collaborators 2014 present another review on how virtual reality can be an asset for both therapy and craving assessment stressing out the possibilities to simulate social interactions associated with drug seeking behaviors and even peers pressure to consume The last issue this Frontiers topic deals with encompasses the questions raised by social cognitive training or remediation in severe and chronic mental disorders autistic disorders schizophrenia Here therapies are based on drill and practice or strategy shaping procedures and most of the time share an errorless learning of repeated cognitive challenges Computerized methods were early proposed for that they do effortlessly and with limited costs repetitive stimulations While repetition was incompatible with realism in the social cognitive domain recent advances provide both immersion and full control over stimuli Georgescu and al 2014 exhaustively reviews the use of virtual characters to assess and train non verbal communication in high functioning autism HFA Grynszpan and Nadel 2015 present an original eye tracking method to reveal the link between gaze patterns and pragmatic abilities again in HFA About schizophrenia Oker and collaborators 2015 discuss and report some insights on how an affective and reactive virtual agents might be useful to assess and remediate several defects of social cognitive disorders About assessment within virtual avatars on schizophrenia Park et al 2014 focused on effect of perceived intimacy on social decision making with schizophrenia patients Regarding schizophrenia remediation Peyroux and Franck 2014 presented a new method named RC2S which is a cognitive remediation program to improve social cognition in schizophrenia and related disorders To conclude briefly while it is largely acknowledged that social interaction can be studied as a topic of its own all the contributions demonstrate the added value of expressive virtual agents and affective computing techniques for the experimentation It also appears that the use of virtual reality is at the very beginning of a new scientific endeavor in cognitive sciences and medicine The Development Dimension SMEs in Libya's Reconstruction Preparing for a Post-Conflict Economy OECD, 2016-09-07 The report is intended to contribute to the implementation of policies in a post conflict Libya to promote private sector development Violence, Imagination, and Resistance Katrin Roots, 2023-05-25 Much of the discussion of social transformation and resistance in socio legal studies centres around the question of whether and how the law can be used to achieve practical change However the editors of this volume argue that it will never be possible to enact change through the law because it is inseparable from violence be it metaphysical social or political They posit that a just world free from oppressive power relations requires us to imagine communities where the state and its law cease to exist Contributors address the underexplored questions of what alternatives to law could look like how communities could organize their everyday lives and how they could address social and interpersonal conflicts outside of an apparatus of violence These essays contribute to the ongoing interrogation of settler colonialism racism and structural violence in Canada by demonstrating how to expose the violence the law produces how to deconstruct law s power and finally how to identify modes of resistance that have transformative potential Novel Superfluids K. H. Bennemann, John Boyd Ketterson, 2014 Volume 2 of Novel Superfluids continues the presentation of recent results on superfluids including novel metallic systems superfluid liquids and atomic molecular gases of bosons and fermions particularly when trapped in optical lattices Since the discovery of superconductivity Leyden 1911 superfluid 4He Moscow and Cambridge 1937 superfluid 3He Cornell 1972 and observation of Bose Einstein Condensation BEC of a gas Colorado and MIT 1995 the phenomenon of superfluidity has remained one of the most important topics in physics Again and again novel superfluids yield surprising and interesting behaviors The many classes of metallic superconductors including the high temperature perovskite based oxides MgB₂ organic systems and Fe based pnictides continue to offer challenges The technical applications grow steadily What the temperature and field limits are remains illusive Atomic nuclei neutron stars and the Universe itself all involve various aspects of superfluidity and the lessons learned have had a broad impact on physics as a whole
