Short, 2019-08-29 This book describes the entire coast and beaches and barrier systems of Australia It covers the coastal processes and systems that form and impact Australia's 30 000 km coast 12 000 beaches and 2750 barrier systems These processes include geology geomorphology climate waves tides currents sediment supply as well as coastal ecosystems The coast is divided into tropical northern and southern temperate provinces within which are seven divisions 23 regions and 354 coastal sediment compartments each of which is described in detail in the 34 chapters Within these systems are the full range of wave through tide dominated beaches and barriers ranging from cheniers to massive transgressive dune systems together with a range of onshore and longshore sand transport systems This is an up to date reference for the entire coast its present condition and likely responses to the impacts of climate change 101 Best Australian Beaches Andrew Short, Brad Farmer, 2012 Written by a marine scientist and a surfing activist this superbly illustrated and thoroughly researched book will encourage visitors and natives alike to explore the Australian coast Which Australian beach is made entirely of shells Which beach has the biggest waves Where is the world's biggest sand dune Where do loggerhead turtles come to lay their eggs Why does Australia have the best beaches on the planet Answering these and many other questions this book provides useful information and fascinating stories about Australia's 11 761 mainland beaches Recreational Uses of Coastal Areas P. Fabbri, 2012-12-06 Human clustering in coastal areas The coastal zone has gained a solid reputation as a place vocated for recreational activities and this is generally related to the presence of the sea The relationship however does not appear univocal or simple the sea can be perceived as a hostile element by humans and the more general question of whether the presence of the shore is in itself a favourable repulsive or irrelevant factor to settlement is a debatable point at least for pre industrial societies Back in the early part of the 19th century Friedrich Hegel regarded oceans and rivers as unifying elements rather than dividing ones thus implying a trend towards the concentration of human settlements along them The sea he wrote stimulates 1 courage and conquest as well as profit and plunder although he realized that this did not equally apply to all maritime peoples In Hegel's view different approaches to the sea were mainly the results of cultural factors and in fact he recognized that some people living in coastal areas perceive the sea as a dangerous and alien place and the shore as aftnis terrae Beaches of the Western Australian Coast Andrew D. Short, 2005-12-31 This book is about the entire Western Australian coast between Eucla and Roebuck Bay and includes Rottnest Island Beaches of the New South Wales Coast Andrew D.
