Students of Color and the Achievement Gap Richard R. Valencia,2015-03-05 Students of Color and the Achievement Gap is a comprehensive landmark analysis of an incontrovertible racialized reality in U S K 12 public education the relentless achievement gap between low socioeconomic students of color and their economically advantaged White counterparts Award winning author and scholar Richard Valencia provides an authoritative and systemic treatment of the achievement gap focusing on Black and Latino Latina students He examines the societal and educational factors that help to create and maintain the achievement gap by drawing from critical race theory an asset based perspective and a systemic inequality approach By showing how racialized opportunity structures in society and schools ultimately result in racialized patterns of academic achievement in schools Valencia shows how the various indicators of the achievement gap are actually symptoms of the societal and school quality gaps Following each of these concerns Valencia provides a number of reform suggestions that can lead to systemic transformations of K 12 education Students of Color and the Achievement Gap makes a persuasive and well documented case that school success for students of color and the empowerment of their parents can only be fully understood and realized when contextualized within broader political economic and cultural frameworks The Politics and Governance of Basic Education Brian Levy,Robert Cameron,Ursula Hoadley,Vinothan Naidoo,2018-09-05 This is an open access title available under the terms of a CC BY NC ND 4 0 International licence It is free to read at Oxford Scholarship Online and offered as a free PDF download from OUP and selected open access locations All over the world economic inclusion has risen to the top of the development discourse A well performing education system is central to achieving inclusive development but the challenge of improving educational outcomes has proven to be unexpectedly difficult Access to education has increased but quality remains low with weaknesses in governance comprising an important part of the explanation The Politics and Governance of Basic Education explores the balance between hierarchical and horizontal institutional arrangements for the public provision of basic education Using the vivid example of South Africa a country that had ambitious goals at the outset of its transition from apartheid to democracy it explores how the interaction of politics and institutions affects educational outcomes By examining lessons learned from how South Africa failed to achieve many of its goals it constructs an innovative alternative strategy for making process combining practical steps to achieve incremental gains to re orient the system towards learning An Age of Accountability John L. Rury,2023-10-13 An Age of Accountability highlights the role of test based accountability as a policy framework in American education from 1970 to 2020 For more than half a century the quest to hold schools and educators accountable for academic achievement has relied almost exclusively on standardized assessment The theory of change embedded in almost all test based accountability programs held that assessment with stipulated consequences could lead to major improvements in schools This was accomplished politically by proclaiming lofty goals of attaining universal proficiency and closing achievement gaps which repeatedly failed to materialize But even after very clear disappointments no other policy framework has emerged to challenge its hegemony The American public today has little confidence in institutions to improve the quality of goods and services they provide especially in the public sector As a consequence many Americans continue to believe that accountability remains a vital necessity even if educators and policy scholars disagree Environmental Finance and Green

Improving Animal Welfare through Genetic Selection

Wendy Mercedes Rauw,2016-07-12 In livestock species breeding goals are aimed primarily at improvement of production traits However there are a number of examples where selection for high production efficiency has resulted in reduced welfare through unfavorable outcomes in health and fitness characteristics These effects raise questions about what is ethically acceptable in animal breeding Welfare problems may be experienced when physiological balance is disturbed by genetic selection for high production alone by a mismatch between the environmental challenges and the range of coping responses available to an animal or from a mismatch between the animal s needs and their degree of satisfaction This may be resolved by either improving the environment to support the animal but also by providing the animal through genetic selection with means to adapt to the production environment The Standing Committee of the European Convention for the Protection of Animals kept for Farming Purposes emphasizes that breeding goals should include health and welfare The Farm Animal Welfare Council pleas for a greater emphasis in breeding programs on traits associated with good welfare However although breeding goals in most farm animal species have been broadened beyond production traits to include functional traits behavioral traits are rarely included despite their potential to improve animal production and welfare It is the goal of the present Research Topic to bring together experimental and theoretical research focusing on the genetics of welfare traits and the possibility to improve animal welfare through selection This topic presents an overview of the relationship between selection for high production and livestock robustness examples of improving robustness through the introduction of novel traits in livestock breeding and a discussion on selection methods to address welfare issues The discussion on sustainability of breeding practices is very alive today and will remain to be an important part of the debate in the future
