International Statebuilding in West Africa Abu Bakarr Bah, Nikolas Emmanuel, 2024-08-06 At the turn of the twenty first century manipulation of the democratic process coupled with preexisting political and economic grievances led to years long civil wars in Sierra Leone Liberia and Cote d'Ivoire During and after these conflicts international peacekeeping efforts and humanitarian intervention became the dominant paths for restoring stability by rebuilding the state Using these three countries as case studies this manuscript sheds light on internationally driven state building in war torn West African nations the problematic nature of the postcolonial state and the difficulties of securing its people's wellbeing Connecting peace and conflict democracy and international development studies Bah and Emmanuel argue that there is a clear nexus between the concepts and practices of peace building and statebuilding that peace building and statebuilding are not domestic matters alone but also matters of global intervention and that civil wars can be viewed as opportunities for state building through creative postwar partnerships and organization This study goes beyond the familiar concepts of failed states R2P peacekeeping and peace mediation and introduces and enhances the concepts of state decay new humanitarianism people centered liberalism and institutional design In doing so it provides critical lessons that local and international actors can draw on as they try to figure out practical solutions to the political economic and social problems that impede the development of peaceful and democratic multiethnic postcolonial states in Africa and beyond Applying comparative historical methods and theory to archival materials and expert interviews International Statebuilding in West Africa seeks to shift the discourse on civil wars from their causes and implications to the opportunities they provide to rework failed states and to shift the discourse on African states from their colonial and neocolonial legacies to their shared moral and security interests with the rest of the world

Out of Time Rahul Rao, 2020 Between 2009 and 2014 an anti homosexuality law circulating in the Ugandan parliament came to be the focus of a global conversation about queer rights The law attracted attention for the draconian nature of its provisions and for the involvement of US evangelical Christian activists who were said to have lobbied for its passage Focusing on the Ugandan case this book seeks to understand the encounters and entanglements across geopolitical divides that produce and contest contemporary queerphobias It investigates the impact and memory of the colonial encounter on the politics of sexuality the politics of religiosity of different Christian denominations and the political economy of contemporary homophobic moral panics In addition Out of Time places the Ugandan experience in conversation with contemporaneous developments in India and Britain three locations that are yoked together by the experience of British imperialism and its afterlives Intervening in a queer theoretical literature on temporality Rahul Rao argues that time and space matter differently in the queer politics of postcolonial countries By employing an intersectional analysis and drawing on a range of sources Rao offers an original interpretation of why queerness mutates to become a metonym for categories such as nationality religiosity race class and caste The book argues that these mutations reveal the deep grammars forged in the violence that founds and reproduces the social institutions in which queer difference struggles to make space for itself

Environment and Society and African Politics The Responsibility to Protect and the International Criminal Court

Serena Sharma,2015-12-22 This book provides an account of how the responsibility to protect R2P and the International Criminal Court ICC were applied in Kenya In the aftermath of the disputed presidential election on 27 December 2007 Kenya descended into its worst crisis since independence The 2007 08 post election crisis in Kenya was among the first situations in which there was an appeal to both the responsibility to protect and a responsibility to prosecute Despite efforts to ensure compatibility between R2P and the ICC the two were far from coherent in this case as the measures designed to protect the population in Kenya undermined the efforts to prosecute perpetrators This book will highlight how the African Union sponsored mediation process effectively brought an end to eight weeks of bloodshed while simultaneously entrenching those involved in orchestrating the violence Having secured positions of power politicians bearing responsibility for the violence set out to block prosecutions at both the domestic and international levels eventually leading the cases against them to unravel As this book will reveal by utilising the machinery of the state as a shield against prosecution the Government of Kenya reverted to an approach to sovereignty that both R2P and the ICC were specifically designed to counteract This book will be of interest to students of the Responsibility to Protect humanitarian intervention African politics war and conflict studies and IR Security Studies in general Africa's New Oil
