She was born into a large family living in poverty where her family's mode of transportation was a horse and buggy. This was required by the Amish religion her family belonged to. Early in her life her dad wanted a car. They left the Amish and joined the Mennonites. The deep dark secrets of her family's dysfunction she vowed never to expose to anyone. However that decision got her in difficult situations as an adult. Much of her under the surface unhappiness was due to the decision to never talk or tell of the abuse. When she decided to heal from the wounds she discovered this dilemma was a generational problem and much more prevalent than she imagined. It is her hope that through her journey to heal it will also give others the courage to heal. It is for those who may find themselves in this situation.

Grounding Social Sciences in Cognitive Sciences Ron Sun, 2012 Exploration of a new integrative intellectual enterprise the cognitive social sciences. Backcountry Crucibles Jean R. Soderlund, Catherine S. Parzynski, 2008 American historians have emphasized major cities as cultural and economic centers. This volume explores the vitality of cultural economic and political life beyond those cities. The Lehigh Valley is a place where integral events occurred but is also an example of regional growth outside large cities. Its unique location close enough to New York and Philadelphia to market grain iron coal and steel yet distant enough to develop its own cultural life offers a regional model persisting for more than two centuries heretofore unexplored in American historical scholarship. This persistence of cultural and economic patterns including the capacity to change makes Lehigh Valley history particularly intriguing. POLITICAL ECONOMY NARAYAN
