A ground breaking text that moves the field of virtue ethics beyond ancient moral theorists and examines the highly influential ethical work of Hume and Nietzsche from a virtue ethics perspective. Contributes both to virtue ethics and a refreshed understanding of Hume's and Nietzsche's ethics. Skilfully bridges the gap between continental and analytical philosophy. Lucidly written and clearly organized allowing students to focus on either Hume or Nietzsche. Written by one of the most important figures contributing to virtue ethics today. The Psychologist, 2005. A Country Called Childhood Jay Griffiths, 2015-11-10 While traveling the world in order to write her award winning book Wild Jay Griffiths became increasingly aware of the huge differences in how childhood is experienced in various cultures. One central riddle in particular captured her imagination: why are so many children in Euro American cultures unhappy and why is it that children in traditional cultures seem happier? In A Country Called Childhood Griffiths seeks to discover why we deny our children the freedoms of space, time and the natural world. Visiting communities as far apart as West Papua and the Arctic as well as the UK and delving into history, philosophy, language and literature she explores how children's affinity for nature is an essential and universal element of childhood. It is a journey deep into the heart of what it means to be a child and it is central to all our experiences young and old. Understanding Looked After Children Jeune Guishard-Pine, Suzanne McCall, Lloyd Hamilton, 2007 Understanding Looked After Children is an accessible guide to understanding the mental health needs of children in foster care and the role of foster carers and support networks in helping these children. The authors provide foster carers with an insight into the psychological issues experienced by children in the care system and the impact of these issues on the foster family. Chapters cover cultural, social and legal structures associated with foster care and both the relevant child psychology theory and examples drawn from real life situations. The authors give advice on how to address common psychological issues in collaboration with multi agency professionals as well as how to access statutory services. They also explain the possible impact of assessments on foster children and the causes and management of foster carers' own feelings of frustration, anger or disappointment with social and mental health services or the placement itself. Chapters are complemented by case studies and the book includes a helpful glossary to common terminology. Understanding Looked After Children is essential reading for registered foster carers and those considering fostering as well as adoptive parents and a useful reference for trainee and experienced practitioners in the care system including social workers, psychologists, counsellors, teachers and others looking after vulnerable children.
