Hulgard,2019-07-10 Social Innovation is emerging as an alternate interdisciplinary development pathway of knowledge and practice that aims to understand and address contemporary complexities and multi dimensional social realities BEPA 2011 defines social innovation as innovations that are social in both their ends and means However though Social Innovation is a widely used term its conceptual understanding and the specific relation to social change remains under explored People Centered Social Innovation Global perspectives on an Emerging Paradigm attempts to revisit and extend the existing understanding of Social Innovation in practice by focusing upon the lived realities of marginalized groups and communities The emerging field of people centered development is placed in dialogue with theory and concepts from the more established field of social innovation to create a new approach one that adopts a global perspective engaging with very different experiences of marginality across the global north and south Theoretically People Centered Social Innovation Global Perspectives on an Emerging Paradigm draws upon northern understandings of change and improvement as well as southern theory concerns for epistemological diversity and meaning making The result is an experiment aimed at reimagining research and practice that seriously needs to center the actor in processes of social transformation Assembly of the

Photosystem II Membrane-Protein Complex of Oxygenic Photosynthesis Julian J. Eaton-Rye,Roman

Sobotka,2017-08-08 Photosystem II is a 700 kDa membrane protein super complex responsible for the light driven splitting of water in oxygenic photosynthesis The photosystem is comprised of two 350 kDa complexes each made of 20 different polypeptides and over 80 co factors While there have been major advances in understanding the mature structure of this photosystem many key protein factors involved in the assembly of the complex do not appear in the holoenzyme The mechanism for assembling this super complex is a very active area of research with newly discovered assembly factors and subcomplexes requiring characterization Additionally the ability to split water is inseparable from light induced photodamage that arises from radicals and reactive O₂ species generated by Photosystem II chemistry Consequently to sustain water splitting a self repair cycle has evolved whereby damaged protein is removed and replaced so as to extend the working life of the complex Understanding how the biogenesis and repair processes are coordinated is among several important questions that remain to be answered Other questions include how and when are the inorganic cofactors inserted during the assembly and repair processes and how are the subcomplexes protected from photodamage during assembly Evidence has also been obtained for Photosystem II biogenesis centers in cyanobacteria but do these also exist in plants Do the molecular mechanisms associated with Photosystem II assembly shed fresh light on the assembly of other major energy transducing complexes such as Photosystem I or the cytochrome b₆ f complex or indeed other respiratory complexes The contributions to this Frontiers in Plant Science Research Topic are likely to reveal new details applicable to the assembly of a range of membrane protein complexes including aspects of self assembly and solar energy conversion that may be applied to artificial photosynthetic systems In addition a deeper understanding of Photosystem II assembly particularly in response to changing environmental conditions will provide new knowledge underpinning photosynthetic yields which may contribute to improved food production and long term food security
