Aashto Roadside Design Guide 2011:

Roadside Design Guide American Association of State Highway and Transportation Officials. Task Force for Roadside Safety, 2011 The Roadside Design Guide presents a synthesis of current information and operating practices related to roadside safety and is written in dual units metric and U S Customary This book is a guide It is not a standard nor is it a design policy It is intended to use as a resource document from which individual highway agencies can develop standards and policies Although much of the material in the guide can be considered universal in its application several recommendations are subjective in nature and may need modification to fit local conditions However it is important that significant deviations from the guide be based on operational experience and objective analysis The 2011 edition of the AASHTO Roadside Design Guide has been updated to include hardware that has met the evaluation criteria contained in the National Cooperative Highway Research Program NCHRP Report 350 Recommended Procedures for the Safety Performance Evaluation of Highway Features and begins to detail the most current evaluation criteria contained under the Manual for Assessing Safety Hardware 2009 MASH For the most part roadside hardware tested and accepted under older guidelines that are no longer applicable has not been excluded in this edition AASHTO website A Policy on Geometric Design of Highways and Streets, 2011 American Association of State Highway and Transportation Officials, 2011 Human Factors

Guidelines for Road Systems John L. Campbell, 2012 This report completes and updates the first edition of NCHRP Report 600 Human Factors Guidelines for Road Systems HFG which was published previously in three collections The HFG contains guidelines that provide human factors principles and findings for consideration by and is a resource document for highway designers traffic engineers and other safety practitioners Foreword Practical Highway Design Solutions Hugh W. Syngellakis, 2020-11-24 A continuous requirement for better urban transport systems and the need for a healthier environment has resulted in an increasing demand for new solutions Innovative systems new approaches and original ideas need to be thoroughly tested and critically evaluated before they can be implemented in practice Moreover there is a growing need for integration with telecommunications systems and IT applications in order to improve safety security and efficiency This volume also addresses the need to solve important pollution problems associated with urban transport in order to achieve a healthier environment The variety of topics covered by the included research works which were presented at the 26th International Conference on Urban Transport and the Environment reflect the complex interaction of urban transport systems with their environment and the need to establish integrated strategies The goal is to arrive at optimal socio economic solutions while reducing the negative environmental impacts of current transportation systems Development
