Lochnagar Neil L. Rose, 2007-06-01 Previous volumes in this Developments in Paleoenvironmental Research DPER series have focussed on providing in depth descriptions of palaeoenvironmental techniques or have described the applications of these approaches on various regional bases The former of these now provide an invaluable series of standard text books for scientists and students while the latter show how the application of palaeo techniques can be used across broad geographical scales In this current volume we have attempted something a little different Not only are a variety of palaeo techniques applied to a single small lake but we have tried to show how these methods and the data derived from them can be integrated synergistically with contemporary monitoring and predictive modelling The acidification and metals research provide two good examples of this Along with other upland lakes across the UK the early research work at Lochnagar was based on assessing the competing hypotheses for the causes of surface water acidification As a result palaeolimnological techniques were used to assess the timing and extent of pH changes over hundreds of years The subsequent establishment of the UK Acid Waters Monitoring Network UK AWMN then allowed a range of biological and chemical parameters to be assessed routinely in order to determine the rate at which the lakes and streams including Lochnagar were recovering following emissions reductions

Liquid Life Rachel Armstrong, 2019 If we lived in a liquid world the concept of a machine would make no sense Liquid life is metaphor and apparatus that discusses the consequences of thinking working and living through liquids It is an irreducible paradoxical parallel planetary scale material condition unevenly distributed spatially but temporally continuous It is what remains when logical explanations can no longer account for the experiences that we recognize as part of being alive Liquid life references a third millennial understanding of matter that seeks to restore the agency of the liquid soul for an ecological era which has been banished by reductionist brute materialist discourses and mechanical models of life Offering an alternative worldview of the living realm through a new materialist and liquid study of matter it conjures forth examples of creatures that do not obey mechanistic concepts like predictability efficiency and rationality With the advent of molecular science an increasingly persuasive ontology of liquid technologies can be identified Through the lens of lifelike dynamic droplets the agency for these systems exists at the interfaces between different fields of matter energy that respond to highly local effects with no need for a central organizing system Liquid Life seeks an alternative partnership between humanity and the natural world It provokes a re invention of the languages of the living realm to open up alternative spaces for exploration Rolf Hughes angelology of language explores the transformative invocations of prose poetry and Simone Ferracina s graphical notations help shape our concepts of metabolism upcycling and designing with fluids A conceptual and practical toolset for thinking and designing Liquid Life reunites us with the irreducible soul substance of living things which will neither be simply solved nor go away Rachel Armstrong is Professor of Experimental Architecture at Newcastle University UK and has also been a Rising Waters II Fellow for the Robert Rauschenberg Foundation April May 2016 TWOTY futurist in 2015 Fellow of the British Interplanetary Society and a Senior TED Fellow in 2010 She is also the coordinator of the Living Architecture project an EU funded project that establishes the principles for our buildings to share some of the properties of living things e g metabolism operating at the intersection of architecture building construction bio energy and synthetic biology She is also the author of Vibrant Architecture De Gruyter 2015 Star Ark A Living Self Sustaining Spaceship Springer 2017 and Soft Living Architecture An Alternative View of Bio informed Design Practice Bloomsbury 2018

The Weather Experiment

Peter Moore, 2015-06-02 A history of weather forecasting and an animated portrait of the nineteenth century pioneers who made it possible By the 1800s a century of feverish discovery had launched the major branches of science Physics chemistry biology geology and astronomy made the natural world explicable through experiment observation and categorization And yet one scientific field remained in its infancy Despite millennia of observation mankind still had no understanding of the forces behind the weather A century after the death of Newton the laws that governed the heavens were entirely unknown and weather forecasting was the stuff of folklore and superstition Peter Moore s The Weather Experiment is the account of a group of naturalists engineers and artists who conquered the elements It describes their travels and experiments their breakthroughs and bankruptcies with picaresque vigor It takes readers from Irish bogs to a thunderstorm in Guanabara Bay to the basket of a hydrogen balloon 8 500 feet over Paris And it captures the particular bent of mind combining the Romantic love of Nature and the Enlightenment love of Reason that allowed humanity to finally decipher the skies

Encyclopedia of Cryptozoology

Michael Newton, 2016-10-05 On every continent and in every nation animals unrecognized by modern science are reported on a daily basis People passionately pursue these creatures the name given to their field of study is cryptozoology Coined in the 1950s the term literally means the science of hidden animals When the International Society of Cryptozoology ISC was formed in 1982 the founders declared that the branch of science is also concerned with the possible existence of known animals in areas where they are not supposed to occur either now or in the past as well as the unknown persistence of presumed extinct animals to the present time or to the recent past what makes an animal of interest to cryptology is that it is unexpected This reference work presents a flesh and blood view of cryptozoology Here 2 744 entries are listed the majority of which each describe one specific creature or type of creature Other entries cover 742 places where unnamed cryptids are said to appear profiles of 77 groups and 112 individuals who have contributed to the field descriptions of objects and events important to the subject and essays on cryptotourism and hoaxes for example Appendices offer a timeline of zoological discoveries annotated lists of movies and television series with cryptozoological themes a list of crypto fiction titles and a list of Internet websites devoted to cryptozoology
