Historical Romance Fiction Lisa Fletcher, 2016-04-22 The first book length study of romance novels to focus on issues of sexuality rather than gender Historical Romance Fiction moves the ongoing debate about the value and appeal of heterosexual romance onto new ground testing the claims of cutting edge critical theorists on everything from popular classics by Georgette Heyer to recent bodice rippers to historical fiction by John Fowles and A S Byatt Beginning with her nomination of I love you as the romance novel s defining speech act Lisa Fletcher engages closely with speech act theory and recent studies of performativity The range of texts serves to illustrate Fletcher s definition of historical romance as a fictional mode dependent on the force and familiarity of the speech act I love you and permits Fletcher to provide a detailed account of the genre s history and development in both its popular and literary manifestations Written from a feminist and anti homophobic perspective Fletcher s subtle arguments about the romantic speech act serve to demonstrate the genre s dependence on repetition Romance can only quote and the shaky ground on which the romance s heterosexual premise rests Her exploration of the subgenre of cross dressing novels is especially revealing in this regard With its deft mix of theoretical arguments and suggestive close readings Fletcher s book will appeal to specialists in genre speech act and performativity theory and gender studies Beauvallet Georgette Heyer, 1968 Nick Beauvallet one of Elizabeth s most successful captains undertakes his most dangerous exploit when he captures a Spanish galleon bound for Spain with not only a valuable cargo but also the proud and beautiful Domenica on board Thought at first Domenica will have none of him Beauvallet vows to make an Englishwoman of her before the year is out How he brings her back to Spain manages to win her heart and then spirits her out of the country in spite of King Philip and all his soldiers is an enthralling story Dust jacket Travel and Colonialism in 21st Century Romantic Historical Fiction Paloma Fresno-Calleja, Hsu-Ming Teo, 2024-12-16 Romantic fiction has often involved stories of travel In narratives of the journey towards love romance often involves encounters with exotic places and peoples When history is invoked in such stories the past itself is exoticised and treated as other to the present to serve the purposes of romanticisation a narrative strategy by which all manner of things settings characters costumes customs consumables are made to perform a luxuriant otherness that amplifies the experience of love This volume questions the reparative function of Anglophone romantic historical fiction to ask can plots of travel and discourses of tourism empower women while narrating stories of healing for the wounds of the past This is the first volume to consider how romanticised and exoticised women s historical fiction not only serves the purposes of armchair travel but may also
